Demos Lose Tax-Cut Battle

Wilson Believes Army And Not McCarthy

Defense Chief Denies Reds Are 'Coddled'

Complete Confidence In Stevens Declared By Cabinet Member

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson testified today he believes Army officials rather than Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) in the roaring controversy between them.

Wilson denied repeatedly and categorically that any of the armed services are "coddling Communists." And, going even farther than President Eisenhower did yesterday, he declared "absolute, complete confidence" in Secretary of the Army Stevens.

The white-haired cabinet member's appearance before the Senate Armed Services Committee turned into a partial, impromptu preview of next week's scheduled public hearings by another body—McCarthy's own investigating subcommittee—into the inter-Republican row.

Believes Army Report

Specifically, Wilson testified:

1. He "certainly would" regard as truthful an Army report put out by Stevens and Army general counsel John G. Adams—a report charging McCarthy and his own chief counsel, Roy Cohn, put on pressure to get special treatment for draftee G. David Schine. McCarthy and Cohn have denied this.

2. He believes McCarthy's counter-charge—that the Army tried to switch his investigation of Red-handling to the Air Force and Navy—"was never a proper one."

"I don't believe any such thing was done," Wilson said when asked if he thought Stevens had offered "to do something other than his duty, to avoid an investigation."

Draft Law Change Considered

The Stevens-McCarthy controversy came up during a hearing called in the first place to consider another, but related, matter—a Pentagon-backed change in the draft law which would let the Army decide whether inducted physicians and dentists get commissions.

A Virginia federal court has ruled the Army must either commission drafted medical men or discharge them. So the Army discharged Dr. Herbert L. Nelson of Marysville, Wash., the medic involved in the Virginia case, after refusing him a commission on the ground of "former affiliation" with the Communist party.

Wilson said today the armed forces won't put up with officers of questionable loyalty. And unless Congress gives the armed forces discretion in this matter, he declared:

"We'll discharge them before we'll commission them."

Crash Splits Big Truck, Kills Hitch-Hiker

A hitch-hiking sailor was killed instantly when a big tractor-trailer truck smashed into a bridge abutment at Union, Conn., yesterday. He was tentatively identified by police as Harry R. Cutter, 21, Manchester, N. H. The driver, Farris C. Crane, 23, Powell, Tenn., received head injuries, not believed serious. The truck cab, in foreground, was split in two and hundreds of cans of shrimp in the truck's cargo littered the highway.

House Group Begins Drive On Red Party

Hearings Launched On 11 Bills To Make Communism Crime

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—A House Judiciary subcommittee set out today to make communism a crime in the United States.

"We're determined to put an all-comprehensive bill through this session of Congress," Chairman Graham (R-Pa) announced as his group began hearings on 11 bills to outlaw the Communist party and punish those who belong to it.

Rep. Walter (D-Pa), sponsor of one of the bills, told the subcommittee that stern action was essential if the United States was to avoid becoming "ridiculous all over the world."

Would Amend Laws

His measure would amend the treason and sedition laws by making it a criminal offense for anyone to be a member of a party advocating the "establishment of totalitarian dictatorship in the United States." It does not mention the Communist party by name, and Walter argued:

"There is no use outlawing the Communist party by name because tomorrow it would be called something else."

Sponsor of another bill, Rep. Dies (D-Tex), testified he wants to take the Communist party completely off the ballot and deny it any legal rights or privileges.

"Until you destroy the legal apparatus of the party you can never deal with it," he said. "The death blow can be dealt this movement only when this nation declares it is a crime."

Wilson Author Of Bill

Dies added, however, that he would defend the right of anyone to preach communism "if he would pursue democratic processes."

Rep. Wilson (D-Tex), author of a third bill on the same subject, told the subcommittee the Communist party "is nothing but a revolutionary conspiracy."

Walter is the senior Democratic member of the House Un-American Activities Committee. Dies was the first chairman of the committee and one of the original spy hunters in Congress nearly 20 years ago.

Other sponsors of outlaw bills include Rep. Staggers (D-WVa).

House Defeats Proposed Hike In Exemptions

Eisenhower Victor By 6 Votes; Revision Bill Passed 339-80

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP) — The House beat down by a margin of only six votes today a White House-opposed Democratic drive to cut income taxes. Then it swiftly passed a huge tax revision bill cutting other taxes by about $1,397,000 this year.

The action was a major victory for President Eisenhower, who appealed on radio and television Monday night for adoption of the tax bill as it stood and denounced the Democrats' income tax cut plan as unsound election year politics.

By a 210 to 204 roll call vote, taken amid volleys of applause from packed galleries, the House rejected the Democratic move to raise the individual exemption for each taxpayer and dependent from $600 to $700 a year. This would have meant a tax cut of $2,400,000,000 this year.

Party Line Vote

This test vote was overwhelmingly along party lines. Supporting the income tax cut were 193 Democrats, 10 Republicans and 1 independent. Opposing it were 201 Republicans and 9 Democrats.

The revision bill, as passed, carries a variety of tax reductions in the form of many bigger deductions for individuals and business.

On final passage of the bill, the vote was 339 to 80. Voting for it were 208 Republicans and 131 Democrats. Against it were 5 Republicans, 74 Democrats and 1 independent.

Both sides worked strenuously to corral votes to the very last, and tension rose in the crowded chamber when the roll call on the income tax reduction at last got under way. Adding to the suspense over this hot election year issue, nine members reversed themselves after casting votes for or against the Democrats' proposal.

Demos To Try In Senate

Rep. Fulton (R-Pa) announced he was going to vote with the Democrats and started to explain why. Speaker Martin (R-Mass) told him sharply speech-making was out of order. Fulton shrugged and said in that case he'd vote with the Republicans.

Democrats weren't giving up. They planned to try again in the Senate, where Sen. George (D-Ga) is sponsoring a proposal to raise individual exemptions to $800 this year and $1,000 next year.

Hyde Voted Against Cut

WASHINGTON ,March 18 (AP) — The vote by which the House today defeated a Democratic-backed move to increase by $100 the personal exemption for income taxpayers and their dependents included:

For the amendment:

Friedel (D-Md), Garmatz (D-Md).

Devereux (R-Md), Hyde (R-Md), Miller (R-Md), Small (R-Md).

Lodge Serves Notice

U. S. To Use Veto If Necessary To Bar Red China From U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., March 18 (AP)—The United States served notice today it will use the veto if necessary to bar Red China from the United Nations.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. told a news conference he believes the United States would have the support of many countries against Red China if the issue comes to a vote. But the chief American delegate to the U. N. added that if necessary he would not shrink from use of the veto power given major powers in the Security Council.

Assembly Could Seat China

The veto applies only in the Security Council. The General Assembly and other organs of the U.N. presumably could seat Red China on a majority vote. The question at issue is which of two contesting governments should represent China, rather than the admission of a new member. Original admissions must have approval from both Security Council and General Assembly.

Lodge, in effect, took issue with the stand taken by the State Department during the Truman administration—that the veto would not apply on the question of changing Chinese representation from Formosa to Peiping. Lodge said he was confident it would apply.

Guard Assigned To Lodge

Lodge was asked what he would do if Red China offered at the Geneva conference April 26 to halt the war in Indochina in return for a seat in the U.N. He replied he had seen nothing official to indicate that an Asian settlement and the seat of the Chinese Communists were related.

Lodge came to the United Nations headquarters with a guard hurriedly assigned to him during the night after the State Department received threats that Lodge and other high Americans were marked for assassination by the Puerto Rican Nationalists.

Israel Plans U. N. Protest In Massacre

TEL AVIV, Israel, March 18 (AP)—Reports of Israeli and Arab troop movements and an announcement that Israel will demand United Nations action for the slaying of 11 Jews by marauders tightened the tension in the Middle East today.

An Israeli spokesman blamed neighboring Jordan for the killings by an armed band that boarded the Israeli bus in Scorpion Pass in the Negev Desert yesterday. Jordan "bears all responsibility" for the slaying, the spokesman declared.

Israeli sources said bloodhounds, put on the trail at the scene, tracked the marauders to the Jordan border, 12 miles away, and declared an Arab headgear of the type worn by Jordanians, was found in the blood-smeared bus.

But in Amman, a Jordan government representative denied his country was to blame, and declared Jordan was ready "politically and militarily to meet any developments that might arise."

The Israeli spokesman called the incident a "warlike act" and said "the evidence points to the fact the outrage was organized and committed by Jordanians from Jordan territory."

He added that the Israeli government intends to take the matter up with the United Nations probably in the form of a protest and a demand for action by the Security Council.

Navy Discharges 41 For Security Reasons

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—The Navy said today 41 of its officers and men have received discharges under "other than honorable conditions" for security reasons since 1949.

Its report said seven officers were allowed to resign, also "under other than honorable conditions," in the security program.

In all, the report said, those separations amounted to about .00036 per cent of the Navy's officer strength, and .00034 per cent of the enlisted strength—"infinitesimal fractions."

Probe Demanded Of H-Bomb Blast Safety Arrangements

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP) — Two congressmen called today for a full scale investigation of why 28 American technicians, 264 natives and 28 Japanese fishermen were allowed "so close" to the blast area when a hydrogen bomb was exploded in the Pacific March 1.

All 320 felt the effects of radiation, but only the Japanese, who experienced a shower of nuclear ashes, appeared to be seriously hurt.

Reps. Van Zandt (R-Pa) and Price (D-Ill), both members of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, said Congress should look into the safety and security arrangements made for the tremendous blast.

Price added the committee already has been told enough to indicate that an "inexcusable error" was made in drawing the hazard zone too small.

The Japanese were outside the zone, about 80 miles from the explosion, but Price said the fact they got so close indicated a Russian submarine could have slipped through the security net to a nearer observation point.

In the Senate today, Sen. Wiley, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said President Eisenhower should inform the American people "about the hydrogen bomb and its meaning."

He referred to reports of the unusual force of the explosion and the area affected.

Meanwhile two members of Congress, Sen. Pastore (D-RI) and Rep. Holifield (D-Calif), who saw the blast reported that the 28 American technicians and the natives who suffered unexpected radiation exposure are "normal, happy and in the best of spirits."

Housewife In New Hiccuping Siege

RIPLEY, Tenn., March 18 (AP)—A 39-year-old housewife who once drew wide attention by hiccuping for 59 straight days is back at it again.

The new attack, Mrs. B. F. Webb's first in six years, started Monday and has continued with little let-up.

The pretty brunette, then Miss Vera Stone, suffered her nearly two-month long siege in 1930. Scores of doctors were consulted.

Treatment ranging from electrical shock to the home remedy "boo" was tried, but to no avail. When she did stop hiccuping, even the doctors didn't know why.

Red Labor Camp Strike Reported

BERLIN, March 18 (AP)—A German doctor recently released by the Russians told today of a violent strike of 12,000 prisoners in Vorkuta labor camp in the Soviet Arctic.

Dr. Josef Scholmer, 41-year-old X-ray specialist, said Soviet troops killed 60 prisoners and wounded more than 200 in quelling disorder at one coal mine.

In an account in the American-sponsored German magazine, Der Monat, Scholmer said the "Vorkuta lasted two weeks before Red army troops could restore order.

"The Vorkuta slave labor camp is one vast underground movement," Scholmer wrote. It reputedly holds a quarter of a million political prisoners. Scholmer said he spent 3½ years at Vorkuta and was released early this year.

Scholmer said the strike was ignited by the resentment of several national groups, particularly from the Ukraine and the Baltic states. He said it halted all coal shipments to Leningrad, which is 2,000 miles to the southwest.

"We managed to win a number of astounding concessions from the Soviet authorities," Scholmer wrote.

Police Ordered To Crack Down On Dock Battles

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP) — Rival dockers warred anew today along the strikebound waterfront, and New York's big police force was ordered to close ranks against further skull cracking.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner pledged police protection beginning tomorrow to any longshoreman who wants to go to work through picket lines. If there aren't enough police, he said, he will ask state or federal reinforcements.

However, the mayor added:

"We expect to be able to do it ourselves."

One Seriously Injured

Striking members of the old International Longshoremen's Assn. (Ind) battled rival AFL dockers on the Brooklyn piers for the third day in a row. One man was seriously injured while pickets were trying to overturn a truck.

A policeman was injured slightly by a thrown stone. Another cop had his uniform coat torn and buttons ripped off.

In Newark, N. J., roving bands of ILA men waylaid and beat up three AFL longshoremen. Another AFL man was stoned.

Pickets Are Picketed

About 300 ILA men started the demonstration in protest against the newspaper's policy. The Mirror in an editorial this morning blamed the million-dollar-a-day wildcat dock strike on "a small group of men with vast power."

About 100 rival AFL men later arrived at the Mirror and began counter-picketing in an atmosphere charged with tenseness. Police blocked off 45th St. in front of the Mirror building to pedestrians.

However, after about two hours the men dispersed.

Italian Cabinet Will Get Tough With Communists

ROME, Italy, March 18 (AP)—The Cabinet announced today that it is going to get tough with the Italian Communist party.

Sources close to aggressive Premier Mario Scelba said his plan is to throttle Communist sources of financial support.

A communique was issued six hours after a long and secret Cabinet meeting. It said the Cabinet was in full agreement "on the necessity that in all sectors of the national life, within the limits of the law, there must be adopted measures to eliminate abuses on the part of organizations which operate against the democratic regime."

It said the Cabinet had approved a program to "defend democratic institutions against the action of totalitarian political forces proved to be under the control of foreign countries."

The communique did not give details on how the program is to be carried out.

Informants said the crackdown also will extend to Fascist movements and that the Premier wants the government to seize and convert to its own use all property of the old Fascist party or organizations linked to it.

The communique said government measures "are necessary in the fields of economics, finance, credit and entertainment, as well as within the constitutional precepts of loyalty to the democratic regime on the part of employes of the state."

Informants close to the Sicilian-born Premier said he means to hit at trade organizations which he considers are fronts for the Communist party.

College Religion Teacher Denies Charge He's Red

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—The Rev. John A. Hutchinson of Williams College denied today that he ever had been a member of the Communist party or expected to become a leader under Red rule of this country.

"That is fantastic, ridiculous and untrue," Hutchinson said of the latter suggestion. "I deny it."

The 42-year-old professor of religion at the Williamstown, Mass. college chided the House Un-American Activities Committee for not having "carried on a more thorough investigation to find out my record."

"Thorough" Investigation

"All relative facts have not been brought in," he said toward the close of a public committee hearing on his activities.

Rep. Jackson (R-Calif), acting chairman, commented that the committee investigation had been "more thorough than you think."

Jackson told the witness that his name had figured in secret testimony by other witnesses but said:

"There have been no implications, no allegations, that you have been a member of the Communist party."

Jackson added that some organizations with which Hutchinson allegedly was associated when he was a youthful pastor in Baltimore, from 1935-37, had been under study.

Statement "False"

Frank Tavenner Jr., committee counsel, told Hutchinson that a former Communist, Earl C. Reno, had testified at a secret session that when Hutchinson and another clergyman, Joseph S. Nowak, went to Baltimore they "reported to Communist party headquarters before going to their churches."

"That statement is false," Hutchinson said.

The tall, thin cleric, smoking cigarette after cigarette, added that the statement was "fantastic and ridiculous" and said that when he first heard it in a closed session last month he was "so surprised I fumbled the ball and answered that I had no recollection of it."

"I wish to say now that statement is false," he said.

Stevenson Hits Demo Talk Of Depression

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 18 (AP) — Adlai Stevenson said in an informal talk today that he couldn't see any satisfaction for Democrats in the threat of a recession.

"The Republicans accuse us of being the prophets of gloom and doom," the 1952 Democratic presidential candidate said. "I hope any Democrats who feel that way will keep it to themselves, because that's the road to disaster for all of us."

Stevenson was the guest of honor at a luncheon attended by about 150 Democrats headed by Gov. Dennis J. Roberts and the state's general officers.

Society directors, meeting here, voted $25,000 to Washington University of St. Louis for the studies.

Military Situation Discussed By President And MacArthur

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP) — President Eisenhower had a talk today with Gen. Douglas MacArthur about the world military situation, including the war in Indochina.

MacArthur, now chairman of the board of Remington Rand Inc., reported that the President wanted to get his point of view on the general strategic picture.

They discussed national and international matters with "great frankness," MacArthur told reporters, but he added "No greater significance should be attached to the meeting than that it was a general discussion between two old friends,"

MacArthur's last military post was that of supreme commander in the Far East.

When he was asked whether he and the President talked about Indochina, where French and loyal native forces are fighting a furious battle with Vietminh Red guerillas, MacArthur said at first that he "would not care to go into any greater detail."

He then added, however, that Indochina is an important part of the world situation, and that "in general we reviewed that situation." He declined to state his own views on Indochina, saying "I am no longer in a position of authority and I have always thought that responsibility should go with authority."

It was the first time the two old soldiers had met since last June 8, when MacArthur was a guest at a White House stag party. He had two sessions with the President today. In between he was guest of honor at a small presidential luncheon.

MacArthur, now 74, wore a gray, double-breasted business suit, and looked somewhat thinner than usual.

Nation Can Meet Any Threat, Twining Says

LOS ANGELES, March 18 (AP)—Gen. Nathan Twining declared tonight that the United States now has enough air and atomic power to deal with little wars and any big Russian threat simultaneously.

The Air Force chief said also that this nation's allies have been assured and her enemies warned that "In the future we may not limit the application of air power in response to aggression as in the past."

RKO Stockholders Accept Hughes' $23,389,478 Offer

DOVER, Del., March 18 (AP) — With only a comparative handful of dissents, stockholders of RKO Pictures Corp. voted today to accept Howard Hughes' offer to buy the firm for $23,489,478.

The decision on a potentially multi-million dollar transaction came at a meeting attended by a handful of persons in this old capital city of Delaware. Not a share of stock was voted personally by an attending stockholder; 3,358,116 shares were represented and voted by proxies.

The result was emphatically in Hughes' favor. Tellers reported that 2,022,769 shares other than those owned by Hughes were voted in favor of the transaction, and only 73,227 against it.

Adding in Hughes' personal holdings as the largest single RKO stockholder, the bulk was 3,284,889 for the proposal and 73,227 against.

Hughes' offer amounts to $6 a share for all outstanding common stock. A second resolution approved by the meeting, by a vote of 3,302,734 to 55,382, provided for the reduction of the capital stock to not less than 1,262,120 shares of common stock—exactly the number that Hughes now owns each at $1 par value.

Shares not now owned by Hughes will be bought at the rate of $6 each out of the $23,489,478 which he is paying for all assets.

RKO stock sold at between $2.87½ and $3.37½ a share in the first five weeks of this year. Hughes' offer for the company was made in a letter dated Feb. 7; the stock on Monday, Feb. 8 traded for as much as $5.37½ and closed today on the New York Stock Exchange at $5.87½.

But in Amman, a Jordan government representative denied his country was to blame, and declared Jordan was ready "politically and militarily to meet any developments that might arise."

The Israeli spokesman called the incident a "warlike act" and said "the evidence points to the fact the outrage was organized and committed by Jordanians from Jordan territory."

He added that the Israeli government intends to take the matter up with the United Nations probably in the form of a protest and a demand for action by the Security Council.

Navy Discharges 41 For Security Reasons

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—The Navy said today 41 of its officers and men have received discharges under "other than honorable conditions" for security reasons since 1949.

Its report said seven officers were allowed to resign, also "under other than honorable conditions," in the security program.

In all, the report said, those separations amounted to about .00036 per cent of the Navy's officer strength, and .00034 per cent of the enlisted strength—"infinitesimal fractions."

Probe DemandedOf H-Bomb Blast Safety Arrangements

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP) — Two congressmen called today for a full scale investigation of why 28 American technicians, 264 natives and 28 Japanese fishermen were allowed "so close" to the blast area when a hydrogen bomb was exploded in the Pacific March 1.

All 320 felt the effects of radiation, but only the Japanese, who experienced a shower of nuclear ashes, appeared to be seriously hurt.

Reps. Van Zandt (R-Pa) and Price (D-Ill), both members of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, said Congress should look into the safety and security arrangements made for the tremendous blast.

Price added the committee already has been told enough to indicate that an "inexcusable error" was made in drawing the hazard zone too small.

The Japanese were outside the zone, about 80 miles from the explosion, but Price said the fact they got so close indicated a Russian submarine could have slipped through the security net to a nearer observation point.

In the Senate today, Sen. Wiley, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said President Eisenhower should inform the American people "about the hydrogen bomb and its meaning."

He referred to reports of the unusual force of the explosion and the area affected.

Meanwhile two members of Congress, Sen. Pastore (D-RI) and Rep. Holifield (D-Calif), who saw the blast reported that the 28 American technicians and the natives who suffered unexpected radiation exposure are "normal, happy and in the best of spirits."

Stevenson Hits Demo Talk Of Depression

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 18 (AP) — Adlai Stevenson said in an informal talk today that he couldn't see any satisfaction for Democrats in the threat of a recession.

"The Republicans accuse us of being the prophets of gloom and doom," the 1952 Democratic presidential candidate said. "I hope any Democrats who feel that way will keep it to themselves, because that's the road to disaster for all of us."

Stevenson was the guest of honor at a luncheon attended by about 150 Democrats headed by Gov. Dennis J. Roberts and the state's general officers.

Tobacco-Cancer Probe

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18 (AP)—A scientific investigation of the relationship between tobacco smoke and cancer was ordered today by the American Cancer Society.

Society directors, meeting here, voted $25,000 to Washington University of St. Louis for the studies.

Housewife In New Hiccuping Siege

RIPLEY, Tenn., March 18 (AP)—A 39-year-old housewife who once drew wide attention by hiccuping for 59 straight days is back at it again.

The new attack, Mrs. B. F. Webb's first in six years, started Monday and has continued with little let-up.

The pretty brunette, then Miss Vera Stone, suffered her nearly two-month long siege in 1930. Scores of doctors were consulted.

Treatment ranging from electrical shock to the home remedy "boo" was tried, but to no avail. When she did stop hiccuping, even the doctors didn't know why.

Red Labor Camp Strike Reported

BERLIN, March 18 (AP)—A German doctor recently released by the Russians told today of a violent strike of 12,000 prisoners in Vorkuta labor camp in the Soviet Arctic.

Dr. Josef Scholmer, 41-year-old X-ray specialist, said Soviet troops killed 60 prisoners and wounded more than 200 in quelling disorder at one coal mine.

In an account in the American-sponsored German magazine, Der Monat, Scholmer said the "Vorkuta lasted two weeks before Red army troops could restore order.

"The Vorkuta slave labor camp is one vast underground movement," Scholmer wrote. It reputedly holds a quarter of a million political prisoners. Scholmer said he spent 3½ years at Vorkuta and was released early this year.

Scholmer said the strike was ignited by the resentment of several national groups, particularly from the Ukraine and the Baltic states. He said it halted all coal shipments to Leningrad, which is 2,000 miles to the southwest.

"We managed to win a number of astounding concessions from the Soviet authorities," Scholmer wrote.

Police Ordered To Crack Down On Dock Battles

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP) — Rival dockers warred anew today along the strikebound waterfront, and New York's big police force was ordered to close ranks against further skull cracking.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner pledged police protection beginning tomorrow to any longshoreman who wants to go to work through picket lines. If there aren't enough police, he said, he will ask state or federal reinforcements.

However, the mayor added:

One Seriously Injured

Striking members of the old International Longshoremen's Assn. (Ind) battled rival AFL dockers on the Brooklyn piers for the third day in a row. One man was seriously injured while pickets were trying to overturn a truck.

A policeman was injured slightly by a thrown stone. Another cop had his uniform coat torn and buttons ripped off.

In Newark, N. J., roving bands of ILA men waylaid and beat up three AFL longshoremen. Another AFL man was stoned.

Pickets Are Picketed

About 300 ILA men started the demonstration in protest against the newspaper's policy. The Mirror in an editorial this morning blamed the million-dollar-a-day wildcat dock strike on "a small group of men with vast power."

About 100 rival AFL men later arrived at the Mirror and began counter-picketing in an atmosphere charged with tenseness. Police blocked off 45th St. in front of the Mirror building to pedestrians.

However, after about two hours the men dispersed.

Military Situation Discussed By President And MacArthur

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP) — President Eisenhower had a talk today with Gen. Douglas MacArthur about the world military situation, including the war in Indochina.

MacArthur, now chairman of the board of Remington Rand Inc., reported that the President wanted to get his point of view on the general strategic picture.

They discussed national and international matters with "great frankness," MacArthur told reporters, but he added "No greater significance should be attached to the meeting than that it was a general discussion between two old friends."

MacArthur's last military post was that of supreme commander in the Far East.

When he was asked whether he and the President talked about Indochina, where French and loyal native forces are fighting a furious battle with Vietminh Red guerillas, MacArthur said at first that he "would not care to go into any greater detail."

He then added, however, that Indochina is an important part of the world situation, and that "in general we reviewed that situation." He declined to state his own views on Indochina, saying "I am no longer in a position of authority and I have always thought that responsibility should go with authority."

It was the first time the two old soldiers had met since last June 8, when MacArthur was a guest at a White House stag party. He had two sessions with the President today. In between he was guest of honor at a small presidential luncheon.

MacArthur, now 74, wore a gray, double-breasted business suit, and looked somewhat thinner than usual.

Italian Cabinet Will Get Tough With Communists

ROME, Italy, March 18 (AP)—The Cabinet announced today that it is going to get tough with the Italian Communist party.

Sources close to aggressive Premier Mario Scelba said his plan is to throttle Communist sources of financial support.

A communique was issued six hours after a long and secret Cabinet meeting. It said the Cabinet was in full agreement "on the necessity that in all sectors of the national life, within the limits of the law, there must be adopted measures to eliminate abuses on the part of organizations which operate against the democratic regime."

It said the Cabinet had approved a program to "defend democratic institutions against the action of totalitarian political forces proved to be under the control of foreign countries."

The communique did not give details on how the program is to be carried out.

Informants said the crackdown also will extend to Fascist movements and that the Premier wants the government to seize and convert to its own use all property of the old Fascist party or organizations linked to it.

The communique said government measures "are necessary in the fields of economics, finance, credit and entertainment, as well as within the constitutional precepts of loyalty to the democratic regime on the part of employes of the state."

Informants close to the Sicilian-born Premier said he means to hit at trade organizations which he considers are fronts for the Communist party.

"Miss Mary" Honored

BALTIMORE, March 18 (AP) — Maryland Democrats turned out by the hundreds today to honor Mrs. Mary H. Duvall, vice chairman of the party's State Central Committee, on her 80th birthday.

College Religion Teacher Denies Charge He's Red

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—The Rev. John A. Hutchinson of Williams College denied today that he ever had been a member of the Communist party or expected to become a leader under Red rule of this country.

"That is fantastic, ridiculous and untrue," Hutchinson said of the latter suggestion. "I deny it."

"Thorough" Investigation

"All relative facts have not been brought in," he said toward the close of a public committee hearing on his activities.

Rep. Jackson (R-Calif), acting chairman, commented that the committee investigation had been "more thorough than you think."

Jackson told the witness that his name had figured in secret testimony by other witnesses but said:

"There have been no implications, no allegations, that you have been a member of the Communist party."

Jackson added that some organizations with which Hutchinson allegedly was associated when he was a youthful pastor in Baltimore, from 1935-37, had been under study.

Statement "False"

Frank Tavenner Jr., committee counsel, told Hutchinson that a former Communist, Earl C. Reno, had testified at a secret session that when Hutchinson and another clergyman, Joseph S. Nowak, went to Baltimore they "reported to Communist party headquarters before going to their churches."

"That statement is false," Hutchinson said.

The tall, thin cleric, smoking cigarette after cigarette, added that the statement was "fantastic and ridiculous" and said that when he first heard it in a closed session last month he was "so surprised I fumbled the ball and answered that I had no recollection of it."

"I wish to say now that statement is false," he said.

Nation Can Meet Any Threat, Twining Says

LOS ANGELES, March 18 (AP)—Gen. Nathan Twining declared tonight that the United States now has enough air and atomic power to deal with little wars and any big Russian threat simultaneously.

The Air Force chief said also that this nation's allies have been assured and her enemies warned that "In the future we may not limit the application of air power in response to aggression as in the past."

RKO Stockholders Accept Hughes' $23,389,478 Offer

DOVER, Del., March 18 (AP) — With only a comparative handful of dissents, stockholders of RKO Pictures Corp. voted today to accept Howard Hughes' offer to buy the firm for $23,489,478.

The decision on a potentially multi-million dollar transaction came at a meeting attended by a handful of persons in this old capital city of Delaware. Not a share of stock was voted personally by an attending stockholder; 3,358,116 shares were represented and voted by proxies.

The result was emphatically in Hughes' favor. Tellers reported that 2,022,769 shares other than those owned by Hughes were voted in favor of the transaction, and only 73,227 against it.

Adding in Hughes' personal holdings as the largest single RKO stockholder, the bulk was 3,284,889 for the proposal and 73,227 against.

Hughes' offer amounts to $6 a share for all outstanding common stock. A second resolution approved by the meeting, by a vote of 3,302,734 to 55,382, provided for the reduction of the capital stock to not less than 1,262,120 shares of common stock—exactly the number that Hughes now owns each at $1 par value.

Shares not now owned by Hughes will be bought at the rate of $6 each out of the $23,489,478 which he is paying for all assets.

RKO stock sold at between $2.87½ and $3.37½ a share in the first five weeks of this year. Hughes' offer for the company was made in a letter dated Feb. 7; the stock on Monday, Feb. 8 traded for as much as $5.37½ and closed today on the New York Stock Exchange at $5.87½.

Sen. McCarthy Urges Voters Act To Cut Off "Blood Trade"

CHICAGO, March 18 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) called on the voters today to demand that this year's congressional candidates pledge to do their utmost to cut off what he called "blood trade" with Red China.

He also urged voters to write to any member of the Senate Investigations subcommittee who proposes a rule change to eliminate one-man hearings. Tell him all he needs to do is attend hearings himself, MCCarthy said.

On China trade, the United States bars all American shipments to the Reds, but the Eisenhower administration takes the position that it won't try to prevent its allies from trading in nonstrategic goods where it is deemed that this will bring a net advantage to the free world.

In appealing directly to the voters, McCarthy said, "this nation will not have long to live" if the day ever comes when senators and House members take the position they should be "rubber stamps" for the President.

McCarthy said that, despite his controversies with top leaders of his own party, "I like our President." He added he thought that Eisenhower, over-all, is "doing a good job."

He also said that in renewing his appeal to cut off foreign aid funds for allies trading with Red China he knew he would read in the newspapers that "McCarthy is starting a fight with Ike."

Then he remarked he didn't know why "left wingers" think that senators should be rubber stamps for a president.

McCarthy, making his second speech in Chicago before leaving for Milwaukee, addressed some 450 automobile dealers and businessmen at a luncheon sponsored by a South Side newspaper publisher, William McDonnell, in connection with the Chicago auto show.

Two-Headed Baby Back In Hospital

INDIANAPOLIS, March 18 (AP)—The two-headed baby born last Dec. 12 to Mrs. Cecil Hartley of Petersburg, Ind., was brought back to the Riley Hospital here today.

Dr. Joseph W. Elbert, Petersburg physician, arranged for the malformed child to be brought to the hospital to be treated for a circulatory defect.

During the 125-mile ambulance trip from the Hartley home to this city oxygen was administered to the left head, in which the defect has been centered.

Jebb Says U. N. Council Useless

LONDON, March 18 (AP) — Sir Gladwyn Jebb declared tonight the U. N. Security Council "is useless as an instrument of dealing with any serious aggression."

Jebb was Britain's chief U. N. delegate for the past four years and now is ambassador to Paris. He said he believed the Council capable of dealing only with minor disputes "in which the interests of the great powers are not engaged."

Jebb addressed the annual dinner of the Pilgrims, a society for promoting British-American understanding.

He said "It is quite clear that for so long as the cold war continues, they (the big powers) are quite unlikely to be unanimous."

"Until we arrive at what in effect will be a world state, and that will be a long time yet, we have to realize that the Security Council . . . is useless as an instrument of dealing with any serious aggression."

70 Below Reading Sets Cold Record

HELENA, Mont., March 18 (AP)—A new national cold record of 70 below zero on Jan. 20 at Rogers Pass was announced today by the weather bureau.

The 70 below reading was taken about a mile west of a summit of the continental divide at 5,470 feet, about 40 air miles north of Helena.

FIRST B52 OFF "LINE" — Aircraft workers gathered in force yesterday to watch the first "production line" B52 Stratojet bomber roll from the Boeing plant at Seattle. It is the first of the huge inter-continental bombers since two original test versions took to the air nearly two years ago. The plane is powered by eight turbo-jet engines.

Eight More Japanese Boats Found Slightly Radioactive

TOKYO, Friday, March 19 (AP)—Eight more Japanese fishing boats which skirted the area of the big Bikini hydrogen blast have docked in slightly radioactive condition, reports said today.

The Maritime Safety Board at once ordered special precautions.

It announced all fishing ships from the South Pacific must dock at five specified ports to be examined for radioactivity. First checks of the ships showed the radioactivity was not dangerous.

U. S. and Japanese authorities launched an investigation into the case of the "Lucky Dragon," a fishing craft which was showered by ashes from the mighty hydrogen explosion of March 1 in the Marshalls.

Three U. S. and three Japanese doctors from the atom bomb casualty commission at A-bombed Hiroshima arrived in Tokyo to help treat the 23 burned crewmen of the "Lucky Dragon."

Japanese doctors said two of the 23 were in serious condition but all were expected to recover.

The Health Minister announced it now is safe to eat tuna again. Tuna had dropped to nearly half price after some of the fish from the "Lucky Dragon" was found to be radioactive.

French Artillery Pounds Vietminh

HANOI, Indochina, March 18 (AP)—French Union forces pounded the Vietminh besiegers of Dien Bien Phu today with U.S.-supplied artillery and airpower.

It was the sixth day of savage struggle for the French fortress in northwest Indochina and the heavily hammered Communist-led rebels now appeared to be shunning costly direct attacks by masses of infantry.

Their new tactic might herald a rebel withdrawal, but deep in their bunkers behind the barbed wire the confident French forces braced for any new charge.

The French say that six days of furious battle have cost the Vietminh the equivalent of at least one of their four divisions here in killed and wounded. The French said their own casualties were a fraction of that figure but were climbing.

The French have substantially cut down the odds against them not only by making the attackers pay heavily but also by steadily reinforcing their fortress with paratroopers rushed from Hanoi.

Dallas, Tex., was named for George Dallas, vice president in the administration of President James K. Polk.

French Unveil Their Newest Atomic Plant

LE CHRIST DU SACLAY, France, March 18 (AP)—The French showed off their newest atomic plant today but said it was aimed at scientific and industrial uses—not bombs.

The plant is small by comparison either with British or American projects. There is an atomic pile with a core of uranium weighing three tons. That is about equal to a fifth of a cubic yard, one of the experts explained. Uranium is heavy.

Also there is an atom-smashing cyclotron, a small one about two yards in diameter compared with the 135-foot job recently installed at the University of California.

GOP Marks Centennial

Republican Party Born 100 Years Ago In Ripon, Wis.

RIPON, Wis., March 18—(INS)—One hundred years ago this Saturday in Ripon 53 men "went into a meeting held in a schoolhouse as Whigs, Free Soilers and Democrats and came out Republicans."

"And," wrote the man who organized that meeting, "we were the first Republicans in the union."

Thus was born the present Republican Party—out of the disaffected remnants of three other parties.

This Saturday, Leonard Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, will head a delegation of GOP officials which will help Ripon mark the centennial. The ceremony will be held on the steps of the white frame schoolhouse on an elm-lined side street.

The observation will be sponsored by the Republican Centennial Committee, whose honorary co-chairmen are President Eisenhower and former President Hoover.

The committee will not overlook the prime mover of the 1854 meeting—Alvin E. Bovay, a prominent Whig in Ripon, who also is credited with suggesting the designation "Republican" for the party which was formed to represent the various anti-slavery forces.

The appearance of Hall and his delegation is expected to insure Ripon's claim as the "birth place" over rival Jackson, Mich.

Michigan adherents hold July 6, 1854, to have been the party's birthday — and Jackson the place because that's where the first convention was held.

But historians seem agreed that the honor of being "first" is Ripon's.

What forces brought those 53 men together in Ripon's white schoolhouse 100 years ago?

The answer to that question provides a history of American political parties since the administration of George Washington and an understanding of the causes of the Civil War.

The immediate reason for calling the Ripon meeting, as stated in an advertisement in the Ripon Herald, was to assemble and "remonstrate against the Kansas-Nebraska swindle."

This was a reference to the act by which Congress created the States of Kansas and Nebraska. The act also threw over the restrictions placed on the extension of slavery into new territories embodied in the famous Missouri Compromise of 1820.

In the opinion of most historians, the passage of the act broke up one of the two then existing parties—the Whigs—and split it into a northern and a southern wing.

It also caused a split in the Democratic Party, with the "Free Soil" or anti-slavery Northern Democrats turning away from the dominant southern wing of the party.

This amalgamation occurred at different times, at different places in the middle 1850s through the northern half of the nation—but it happened first and foremost in Ripon.

The Kansas-Nebraska Act was before Congress when Bovay called his initial meeting March 1 to "remonstrate against the swindle."

No action came out of this first meeting, but a strong resolution was adopted.

It read:

"Resolved that the passage of this bill, if pass it should, will be the call to arms of a great northern party, such a one as this country has not hitherto seen, composed of Whigs, Democrats and Free Soilers."

Two days later, on March 3, the Kansas-Nebraska bill passed the Senate. Bovay placed another notice in the Ripon Herald—a Democratic paper—calling for an "action" meeting March 20.

Here is Bovay's own account of that meeting:

"I went from house to house and from shop to shop and halted men on the street to get their names for that meeting.

"At that time there were no more than 100 voters in Ripon, but by a vast deal of earnest talking, I obtained 53 of them.

"My chief helper was Jehdeiah Bowen (a Democrat).

"The 53 came to our meeting and were respectfully heard but the large majority had made up their minds.

"The hour was late, the candles burned low. It was a cold windy night at the vernal equinox. In the end all but two or three gave in and we formed an organization.

"The election of that first Republican committee—A. E. Bovay, Jehdeiah Bowen, Amos Loper, Jacob Woodruff and Abram Thomas, three Whigs, one Democrat and one Free Soiler—was a solemn act.

"It was not a fragmentary movement. It contemplated the consolidation of all shades of anti-slavery opinion under the name Republican."

Three months later a state convention was held in Jackson, and attended by hundreds of anti-slavery leaders from the Democratic and Whig parties. Elsewhere, meetings in Washington, D. C., Vermont, Maine, New York and Massachusetts followed the Michigan lead.

Within a year from the date of Bovay's schoolhouse meeting in Ripon, 11 "Republican" senators were sent to Washington and there were enough "anti-Nebraska act" representatives in the House to elect Nathaniel Prentiss Banks, a "Republican" from Massachusetts, speaker of the House.

Cave-In At New Pyramid Stirs Talk Of "Curse"

CAIRO, Egypt, March 18 (AP)—The vault of the corridor leading to the funerary chamber of the newly discovered pyramid at Sakkara caved in today, burying several workers. One was killed and two were injured, Sakkara police reported.

The accident immediately stirred up talk about the superstitution—dating back to the discovery of Tut-ankh-amen's tomb at Luxor in 1922—that a "pharaohs' curse" threatens the lives of whoever violates their burial place. Scientists and archaeologists scoff at this superstitution.

The entrance leading inside the new pyramid—believed to be the grave of Pharaoh Sankhet of the Third Dynasty, which reigned over Egypt around 2700 B.C.—was formally opened on March 9.

But archaeologists found the corridor leading to the funerary chambers blocked by rocks at the halfway point. Workers were busy removing rocks when they were buried today.

There are five major pyramids in Egypt, three at Giza, one at Dahchur, one at Sakara.

BABS BACK HOME—Barbara Hutton Rubirosa appears almost tearful as she talks to newsmen in New York after her arrival from Palm Beach, Fla., her ten-week marriage to Dominican playboy Porfirio Rubirosa at an end. The heiress asked the reporters not to call her "Mrs. Rubirosa." Then she added "I do not expect to see him again."

Miss Universe, Merchant Bridegroom Split Up

HOLLYWOOD, March 18 (AP)—Miss Universe and her merchant bridegroom have split up after a marriage of two months, the beauty's studio announced today.

Christiane Martel, 17-year-old French winner of a worldwide beauty contest in Long Beach last July, was reported to be in seclusion here at the home of her sister, Georgette Minelli.

Miss Martel was married last Jan. 10 to Ronnie Marengo, 21, son of a Stockton department store owner. The marriage took place in Stockton, and was attended by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Georges Magnani of Paris.

Miss Universe was under contract for a time at Universal-International after winning her beauty crown. She made two pictures, and the studio said today she will soon make a third there.

Baltimore's Shipping Boom Continues On 24-Hour Basis

BALTIMORE, March 18 (AP) — A shipping boom based on New York's waterfront labor troubles continued on a 24-hour basis today in the port of Baltimore.

Cargoes originally intended for New York poured over Baltimore piers in mounting volume.

Baltimore longshoremen continued to work cargoes diverted here because of the New York strike. They voted last Tuesday to work diverted ships and stuck to that decision despite pleas from fellow members of the Independent ILA in New York that they reject such jobs.

These developments were noted as the volume of diverted New York cargo handled here passed an estimated 75,000 tons.

August C. Idzik, top ILA official here, and other leading officials of the Independent Longshoremen's Union were reported to be in Washington for a conference with George Meany, president of the American Federation of Labor.

A representative from the Port of Baltimore was en route to New York to confer with officials of two steamship lines who have expressed an interest in moving their headquarters here.

Rumors persisted that New York was sending carloads of strikers here to set up picket lines on piers where diverted cargoes were being unloaded, and that state and city police have been alerted to see that order is maintained.

Idzik's office here would say only that he was in Washington today, but other reports told of a meeting there with Meany. It was the AFL's action in ousting the ILA and setting up a new longshore organization that led to New York's waterfront troubles. Meany today denied he was meeting with the ILA group.

Race Track Officials Face Liquor Charge

ANNAPOLIS, March 18 (AP)—Officials of Laurel race course have been summoned to appear before the Anne Arundel County Board of License Commissioners tomorrow to face a complaint of serving liquor to minors at the last race meet.

George W. Blois, board clerk, said that Sheriff Joseph W. Alton Jr. will appear at the hearing to present "evidence and witnesses."

He said officials of the track have been asked to appear.

The track is scheduled to open Saturday for its spring meet and seeks renewal of beer, wine and liquor sale permits.

Defiant Oldster Applies Brakes To Slum Project

BALTIMORE, March 18 (AP)—An 89-year-old man today gave the city of Baltimore its come uppance and applied the brakes to a multi-million dollar slum clearance project.

Forty two other buildings surrounding the home of Henry Herzinger have been pulled down, but the defiant old man's house remained standing today despite the expiration of a city deadline ultimatum.

His house is the only structure standing amidst the rubble of the redevelopment area southeast of the Baltimore business district.

"This is where I live, eat and sleep and this is where I'm going to stay," Herzinger snapped today.

He lost a fight in the Court of Appeals to keep his house in its present location but was given a series of postponements. Today was the deadline for the last one.

The city first told Herzinger two years ago it needed his property and he has been offered $13,000 for it.

A slightly rotund gentleman with glasses that perch halfway down his nose capping a nondescript mustache, Herzinger says, "This is my home" and he plans to "stay here forever."

Homeless cats drop in now and then for a saucer of milk. There is a garden on the property. But overshadowing all is the ever haunting fact that the old gentleman must some day leave.

Herzinger acknowledges he has "a place in the country." But he doesn't want to live there.

Today, the Redevelopment Commission wasn't sure what its next step would be.

Richard L. Steiner, who is resigning from the commission, was in the office, but he said two others who are handling the Herzinger problem were out of town.

"I don't know what they plan to do," Steiner said.

AFTER LUNCH, A CIGAR AND HANDSHAKE—Cigar in hand, Gen. Douglas MacArthur shakes hands with President Eisenhower as they pose outside the White House after lunch yesterday. Among the other guests were (left to right) Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass); Sen. William Knowland (R-Calif); Gen. Matthew Ridgway, Army chief of staff, partially hidden, and Rep. Dewey Short (R-Mo).

Prohibition lasted 13 years, 10 months and 19 days in the United States.

School "Terrorism" Reports Discounted

BALTIMORE, March 18 (AP)—Police today were continuing an investigation at a school where one boy was charged with beating and robbing a classmate. But Dr. John H. Fischer, superintendent of public instruction, said reports of "terrorism" in the city's schools were "exaggerations."

He said the case of beating and robbing was the only case "where school authorities have felt it necessary to take court action."

Earlier police reports had indicated trouble spots at several schools.

Police Capt. William L. Hartung, said only one case of alleged gang operation at a school had been brought to his attention. As a result he said a 16-year-old boy has been charged with assaulting and robbing a classmate of 40 cents.

Government Witnesses Say Spies 'Put Finger' On Knight

BALTIMORE, March 18 (AP)—The government closed its case against Henry Lloyd Knight today with testimony foreign spies supplied information he was shipping airplane parts through the Iron Curtain to Poland.

Knight, a 48-year-old Washington attorney and dealer in aircraft supplies, is on trial on charges of conspiring to violate the U.S. Neutrality law by shipping spare parts to Poland in the latter half of 1949.

His firm, Air Union Inc., of Bethesda, Md., is a co-defendant.

Final arguments in the case are scheduled for Monday morning, with the jury beginning its deliberations later in the day.

One of the final witnesses was William Edward Percival, former aviation correspondent for English publications and now an aircraft dealer in Switzerland. He was arrested by the Germans in Berlin as an espionage agent at the start of World War II and was in German prison camps for six years.

Percival had testified earlier Knight came to see him in Geneva in October of 1949 and proposed they work together on deals for shipping airplane parts through the Iron Curtain.

When he was recalled to the witness stand today, Percival said after talking to Knight he immediately filed a report on Air Union's activities with the British air attache at Bern, Switzerland.

Arroy Taft, who lives near Frederick, Md., and is an intelligence examiner for the U.S. State Department, took the stand next.

He said the State Department first learned Knight's activities might be illegal in a report it received from an American embassy abroad in December of 1949.

The population of Sweden is about seven million.

Pair, Firm Guilty In Garage Case

BALTIMORE, March 18 (AP)—Albert Haar, Samuel Winik and their parking garage firm were found guilty of conspiracy to defraud the city of $42,996 today after a trial centering about their activities in the development of a garage partly financed by city funds.

Judges Emory H. Niles and John T. Tucker announced the verdict after deliberating for 55 minutes.

A total of nine individuals and six corporations were indicted on criminal charges in connection with this city's off street parking program.

Haar and Winik and their firm, Baltimore Garages Inc., were the first to go on trial.

Judge Niles said in his opinion that the defendants had made "false representations to the city . . . to the effect that Baltimore Garages had a contract to have the garage built for $197,636 when actually it was a cost-plus arrangement."

He cited testimony that Dominic Piracci, contractor, was advancing a 15 per cent cash payment while city officials were under the impression the payment was being made by Baltimore Garages.

Sentencing was deferred. Jury selections for the trial of Piracci are scheduled to begin in the morning.

Hearing Set On Move To Trim Bus Service

BALTIMORE, March 18 (AP)—The Maryland Public Service Commission has set April 2 for a hearing on a request by Capitol Transit Co. to discontinue service on two suburban lines.

It also wants to drop street car loop at Glen Echo Park on the No. 20 Cabin Johns street car line.

Accused Safe Cracker Tries To Escape Jail

CAMBRIDGE, Md., March 18 (AP) — State's Attorney Calvin Brinsfield today said he has sworn out a warrant charging attempted jail breaking against 19-year-old Norman Hastings Jr., accused of the $400 safe cracking at East New Market High School.

Sheriff Waldo Robinson of Dorchester County said the youth struck jailer Charles McWilliams on the hand with a piece of hose yesterday and knocked his keys to the floor.

Robinson said the attack occurred when McWilliams was letting a trustee out of the cell block to help with breakfast. He said Hastings overpowered McWilliams, locked him up and was leaving the building when apprehended by Robinson.

Australians Are Afraid Queen May Catch Polio

SYDNEY, Australia, March 18 (AP)—Hundreds of West Australian parents are writing to Queen Elizabeth in this vein: Please don't come to see us—we're afraid you may catch polio.

It was the eve of the Queen's visit to their state and state officials scheduled a meeting with royal household officials to decide whether the royal tour will continue here as planned or be cut down.

They are afraid large gatherings of children to greet the Queen—who has been inocuated with gamma globulin—might spread polio.

The Queen and her husband the Duke of Edinburgh have already cut out visits to some parts of Australia because of the polio epidemic.

NEW YORK (INS) — Myles J. Lane, the former U. S. attorney who did much to convict the Rosenbergs and the American Communist Party's hierarchy, believes that the chief fault of a fellow Communist-hunter, Sen. McCarthy, is that McCarthy mistakes the function of his Senate subcommittee.

"It is the function of the FBI, not Congress, to dig up the Communist menace," Lane, now in private practice, told us. "The function of congressional committees is to elicit facts and suggest remedial action." He feels there has been a general failure to explain to the American people the full nature of the Communist conspiracy, how it works here and abroad, how to recognize it, how to combat it properly without becoming, in turn, a police state.

"We set up foundations to combat cancer, heart disease, infantile paralysis and other disorders," Lane said. "I'd like to see one established that would devote itself to a conscientious study, and clear explanation, of this great evil that has divided the world in half."

I asked Lane how he would define communism in a single sentence.

"It can't be done, really," the former All American athlete dissented. "But I'll try: Communism is the complete enslavement of the mind, soul and body to the state, the end result of which is intellectual cancer."

If a Communist-education foundation is ever set up, Lane feels that its ideal head would be J. Edgar Hoover. He rates Hoover as miles ahead of anyone else, including McCarthy and other congressional Red-hunters, in the understanding of the task at hand. The FBI, he suggested, is far ahead of Congress in Commy round-ups. Lane's suggested name for his foundation: "The National Foundation to Preserve Democracy by Teaching People the Truth About All Ism's Pledged to Overthrow the Government by Force."

It would sponsor "chairs of communism" in universities, provide courses and lectures in public and private schools from the earliest grades on, and operate in clubs, fraternities, farm groups, etc. etc. Religion, education, labor and industry should endorse and encourage such a foundation, for communism ceaselessly seeks to destroy these firm pillars on which the U. S. had grown great, Lane feels.

"One of Senator McCarthy's mistakes, I think, is that he permitted his Communist investigations to become a political football," Lane told me. "By doing so he accidentally did our enemies a tremendous service. They naturally want to divide the people of the United States, set one class on another.

"Communism hasn't anything to do with politics. If it comes to this country it will destroy Republican, Democrat and Socialist alike. It's a problem for the United States, and every person in it, not a political issue. It's a problem that an appallingly small number of Americans understand. Loud congressional investigations never educate the people. The menace is so much more complicated.

"For example, when I was United States attorney six assistants and I read, studied and digested more than 400 books on the subject of communism. The Reds have never been reluctant to put down in print their plans for the future of the world. They have outlined their conspiracy as clearly as Hitler did in Mein Kampf.

"The job is to condense this material and get it to the American people. Calvin Coolidge was 'against sin.' Everybody's against communism without knowing exactly what they're against. The American Bar Association has pointedly warned its members that their knowledge of communism consists almost entirely of what they read in the newspapers.

"What has Senator McCarthy's subcommittee taught us about 'dialectical materialism' and 'provisionism' and 'opportunism' and 'democratic centralism?' Nothing. I say lets approach this problem as we have approached every other disease that beset us: Calmly, confident in the eventual outcome, and by mass education and cooperation. And, to repeat, let's put J. Edgar Hoover at the head of such a crusade."

Threats Against Queen To Bring Security Steps

LONDON, March 18 (AP)—Death threats spurred the British today to order fullest security precautions against attempts on the life of Queen Elizabeth II during her visit to Gibraltar in May.

Concern was apparently heightened by the fact that Prince Charles and Princess Anne will be with the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh for the visit on May 10 and 11.

Letters signed "Falange Espanol" and threatening death for the 25-year-old monarch if she sets foot on Gibraltar soil have been received by British political leaders and newspapers.

Special agents of Scotland Yard and M15—this nation's FBI—have hurried by air to the rock to check up on an estimated 8,000 Spaniards who cross the frontier daily from Spain to work on British installations.

The British security men have orders to investigate employes to insure that neither demonstrations nor terror attacks mar the royal visit.

Eden Cautions West

LONDON, March 18 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden called on the western nations today to guard their unity as never before against the "ceaseless endeavor" of Communists to wreck NATO.

Approximately two-thirds of the rubber that was used in the United States in 1953 was synthetic.

Mrs. Roosevelt Had Some Misgivings About Ickes

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said today she "never disliked" the late Harold Ickes but had some misgivings about the way he ran the Department of Interior.

As for charges that she "meddled" in government affairs, the late President's widow said the charges "shocked and grieved" her.

She made the statements in her McCall's magazine column, "If You Ask Me," in which she replies to questions sent in by readers.

One reader asked:

"When your husband was president, did you take the side of Harry Hopkins against Secretary Ickes, as he claims in his book? Ickes claims you were not friendly to him and the President knew this."

"There were certain things," Mrs. Roosevelt replied, "which at one time I remember thinking not very wise in the administration of the Department of the Interior as Mr. Ickes ran it in the early days."

She said she thought one of Ickes' subordinates had too much power, and another conducted investigations which "seemed unusual, though today they would not be surprising."

"I do not remember taking any steps against any members of the official family," she said, "or having any feelings of unfriendliness toward anybody. I saw more of Mr. Hopkins in the later years because after his second wife died he was ill and lived for a time in the White House, but he was never a close friend of mine, and I never disliked Mr. Ickes."

A Good Drug Store

"Filling a prescription" may appear, to the uninitiated, to be a rather simple matter. And quite often it is. But there are many times, in the course of a pharmacist's day, when he is called upon to fill prescriptions that demand a high degree of skill and precision.

Your next prescription may require this extra measure of expertness. And since the competence of our pharmacists does not increase the cost of medication, why not bring your prescription here?

Our large prescription volume permits us to carry scores of items not commonly stocked. Rapid turnover assures you quality drugs and fair prices. You will find, too, that we are as courteous as we are competent. And your patronage here is sincerely appreciated.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Soup-Sandwich Meals Set Spring Mood

As the first balmy days breeze into town, set your table in a spring mood with fresh soup and sandwich meals.

Delicate flavored soups put out a lure for appetites, whether skies turn sunny or stormy. Always complimentary to the soups are sturdy sandwiches — with fillings of your family's choice.

Take note also that a goodly number of the condensed soups are meatless. These offer a double advantage for Lenten menus—being both convenient and meatless. Included among these are the following:

Meatless Soups

Tomato. Cream of Celery. Cream of Asparagus. Green Pea. Clam Chowder. Vegetarian Vegetable.

When you're planning soup meals for Lent, include a combination soup now and then. Several of the meatless soups can be mixed in twosomes that give savory results. Garnish with toppings of grated cheese or sieved egg yolk for added richness.

Soup Combinations

Tomato-Clam Chowder

1 can (1¼ cups) condensed tomato soup; 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed clam chowder; 2 cans water.

Mix soups. Add water. Simmer about 5 minutes. Serve into 4 bowls.

Celery Vegetable Soup

1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of celery soup; 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed vegetarian vegetable soup; 1 can water.

Gradually combine soups; stir in water. Heat well. Makes 4 servings.

Another happy feature of soup meals is that they can be low calorie. Most condensed soups, while giving good nourishment, average about 200 to 300 calories per can. You can see that they fit right into menus if you want to lose weight. Dine often on soup and nourishing (but low-calorie) salad like cottage cheese or sliced egg salad. Such menus can help the overweight get in line for the Easter parade.

SOUP and sandwich lunches are fine these early Lenten days. Such menus can be slimming too. Help you to be ready to step out in the Easter Parade. Try tomato soup with a cheese sandwich, clam chowder with egg salad sandwich, and celery soup with a tuna sandwich.

Creamed Onions

4 tablespoons butter; 4 tablespoons flour; 2 cups milk; ½ teaspoon salt; dash pepper; 1½ cups small onions, cooked.

Melt butter, blend in flour. Add milk and stir constantly until mixture boils and thickens. Add salt and pepper. Serve over boiled onions; sprinkle with paprika, makes 2 cups sauce.

Celery Souffle

2 tablespoons butter; 3 tablespoons flour; 1 cup milk; 1 cup finely diced celery; ¼ cup dry breadcrumbs; 1 teaspoon salt; dash of pepper; 3 eggs, separated.

Melt butter, blend in flour, add milk and celery, and cook until sauce thickens, stirring constantly. Add breadcrumbs, salt and pepper, and gradually stir hot mixture into beaten egg yolks. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold in the hot mixture lightly but thoroughly. Pour into a buttered 6-cup casserole and set in a shallow pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven, 350°F., for 1 hour, or until a clean knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Serves 6.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

T O O S T J O G D Y O A E L Z—O Z I E Y Z T.

Soup-Sandwich Meals Set Spring Mood

As the first balmy days breeze into town, set your table in a spring mood with fresh soup and sandwich meals.

Delicate flavored soups put out a lure for appetites, whether skies turn sunny or stormy. Always complimentary to the soups are sturdy sandwiches — with fillings of your family's choice.

Take note also that a goodly number of the condensed soups are meatless. These offer a double advantage for Lenten menus—being both convenient and meatless. Included among these are the following:

Meatless Soups

Tomato. Cream of Celery. Cream of Asparagus. Green Pea. Clam Chowder. Vegetarian Vegetable.

When you're planning soup meals for Lent, include a combination soup now and then. Several of the meatless soups can be mixed in twosomes that give savory results. Garnish with toppings of grated cheese or sieved egg yolk for added richness.

Soup Combinations

Tomato-Clam Chowder

1 can (1¼ cups) condensed tomato soup; 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed clam chowder; 2 cans water.

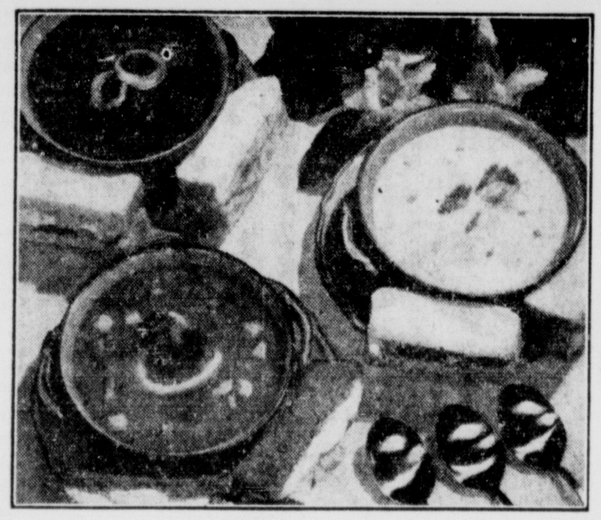
Mix soups. Add water. Simmer about 5 minutes. Serve into 4 bowls.

Celery Vegetable Soup

1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of celery soup; 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed vegetarian vegetable soup; 1 can water.

Gradually combine soups; stir in water. Heat well. Makes 4 servings.

Another happy feature of soup meals is that they can be low calorie. Most condensed soups, while giving good nourishment, average about 200 to 300 calories per can. You can see that they fit right into menus if you want to lose weight. Dine often on soup and nourishing (but low-calorie) salad like cottage cheese or sliced egg salad. Such menus can help the overweight get in line for the Easter parade.



SOUP and sandwich lunches are fine these early Lenten days. Such menus can be slimming too. Help you to be ready to step out in the Easter Parade. Try tomato soup with a cheese sandwich, clam chowder with egg salad sandwich, and celery soup with a tuna sandwich.

Creamed Onions

4 tablespoons butter; 4 tablespoons flour; 2 cups milk; ½ teaspoon salt; dash pepper; 1½ cups small onions, cooked.

Melt butter, blend in flour. Add milk and stir constantly until mixture boils and thickens. Add salt and pepper. Serve over boiled onions; sprinkle with paprika, makes 2 cups sauce.

Celery Souffle

2 tablespoons butter; 3 tablespoons flour; 1 cup milk; 1 cup finely diced celery; ¼ cup dry breadcrumbs; 1 teaspoon salt; dash of pepper; 3 eggs, separated.

Melt butter, blend in flour, add milk and celery, and cook until sauce thickens, stirring constantly. Add breadcrumbs, salt and pepper, and gradually stir hot mixture into beaten egg yolks. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold in the hot mixture lightly but thoroughly. Pour into a buttered 6-cup casserole and set in a shallow pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven, 350°F., for 1 hour, or until a clean knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Serves 6.

Salmon Casserole Uses Canned Foods

Since the main ingredients of Salmon Macaroni Medley are precooked canned foods, the entree can be prepared from start to finish in less than an hour. And using either pink or red salmon will produce the same tangy fresh-from-the-sea flavor. This dish is perfect to try during Lent . . . and you'll probably go on serving it all year long.

Salmon Macaroni Medley looks and tastes like an elegant concoction. It's smart enough to keep company with the newest styles in coffee makers and china when served in a chafing dish or a handsome casserole. Here is a recipe to serve eight; it can be halved if you wish.

Salmon Macaroni Medley

8 ounces elbow macaroni
2 cans condensed cream of celery soup
1½ cups evaporated milk
2 1-pound cans salmon, drained and broken into pieces
¼ cup finely cut pimiento
1 cup grated American cheese

Cook macaroni according to package directions. Drain, but do not rinse; reserve. Combine celery soup and evaporated milk. Stir in macaroni, salmon, pimiento and cheese. Heat to serving temperature. If desired, garnish with ripe olive slices. Yield: 8 servings.

WHEN it comes to quick and easy entertaining within a moderate food budget, many an enterprising hostess turns to a handsome chafing dish combination like Salmon Macaroni Medley. The recipe will be found elsewhere on this page.

Use Plentiful Grapefruit

While grapefruit is on the plentiful good list, tap the generous supply often to capitalize on its refreshing flavor, healthful qualities, and its economy on the budget.

Nutritionist Janet Coblentz, University of Maryland Extension Service, says you'll find good quality to be firm, but springy to the touch — not soft, wilted or flabby. Look for well-shaped fruit that is heavy for its size. Thin-skinned grapefruit contain more juice than coarse, thick-skinned fruit.

In most instances, defects found on grapefruit are only skin deep. They affect appearance only and not eating quality. Fruit that is somewhat pointed at the stem end is likely to be thick-skinned, especially if the skin is rough, ridged or wrinkled.

Miss Coblentz points out that grapefruit is an excellent source of Vitamin C so essential for good health, and it furnishes a fair amount of vitamin A and B complex.

While grapefruit is usually thought of as a breakfast fruit, Miss Coblentz says it's so versatile that it can be used at any of the three daily meals. She gives these suggestions:

Broil your favorite fish as usual. During the last five minutes of broiling, place two or three grapefruit sections on top of each fillet. Brush with melted fat, dust with paprika, and finish broiling.

For a fancy seafood dish, mix grapefruit sections with cooked shrimp, lobster or crabmeat. Moisten with french dressing, garnish with greens, and serve in the grapefruit shells as a salad.

Combine one part grapefruit sections with two parts shredded cabbage and one part slivered raw carrots; mix with french dressing. Or combine grapefruit with colorful fresh fruits — bananas, pears, apples, grapes — in a jellied salad.

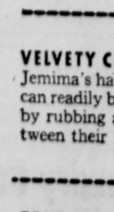
AUNT JEMIMA CAKE MIXES
. . . made to meet the experts' standards

HOW EXPERTS JUDGE A CAKE



MRS. MADELINE MEHLIG, nationally known Chicago Home Economics Consultant, has judged thousands of cakes in contests and cooking schools. Here are some of the tests that Mrs. Mehlig and other experts use.

FEATHERINESS Experts look for a tender delicacy they call "featheriness". Light and fluffy, the cake springs back when pressed gently with the finger. You'll see—and enjoy—that delicacy in every one of your Aunt Jemima cakes!

AROMA If a cake is made with the very best ingredients such as Aunt Jemima uses, it will have a fresh, delicate aroma. Experts judge by fragrance as well as by taste.

EVEN GRAIN In considering texture, expert judges look for an even distribution of fairly small holes, no big gaping ones. They examine the cut surface, then break a slice in two to look at the grain.

VELVETY CRUMB Fine cakes like Aunt Jemima's have a soft, velvety quality that can readily be felt. Experts test velvetiness by rubbing a few crumbs of the cake between their fingers.

TRUE FLAVOR Delicate true flavor, not drowned by oversweetness, is what the experts taste for—and what you get in Aunt Jemima cakes. And that velvety quality should be felt when tasting, too.

Salmon Casserole Uses Canned Foods

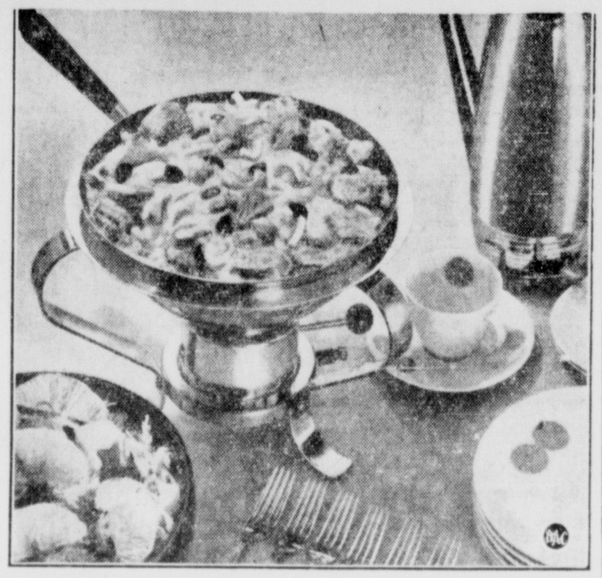
Since the main ingredients of Salmon Macaroni Medley are precooked canned foods, the entree can be prepared from start to finish in less than an hour. And using either pink or red salmon will produce the same tangy fresh-from-the-sea flavor. This dish is perfect to try during Lent . . . and you'll probably go on serving it all year long.

Salmon Macaroni Medley looks and tastes like an elegant concoction. It's smart enough to keep company with the newest styles in coffee makers and china when served in a chafing dish or a handsome casserole. Here is a recipe to serve eight; it can be halved if you wish.

Salmon Macaroni Medley

8 ounces elbow macaroni
2 cans condensed cream of celery soup
1½ cups evaporated milk
2 1-pound cans salmon, drained and broken into pieces
¼ cup finely cut pimiento
1 cup grated American cheese

Cook macaroni according to package directions. Drain, but do not rinse; reserve. Combine celery soup and evaporated milk. Stir in macaroni, salmon, pimiento and cheese. Heat to serving temperature. If desired, garnish with ripe olive slices. Yield: 8 servings.



WHEN it comes to quick and easy entertaining within a moderate food budget, many an enterprising hostess turns to a handsome chafing dish combination like Salmon Macaroni Medley. The recipe will be found elsewhere on this page.

Use Plentiful Grapefruit

While grapefruit is on the plentiful good list, tap the generous supply often to capitalize on its refreshing flavor, healthful qualities, and its economy on the budget.

Nutritionist Janet Coblentz, University of Maryland Extension Service, says you'll find good quality to be firm, but springy to the touch — not soft, wilted or flabby. Look for well-shaped fruit that is heavy for its size. Thin-skinned grapefruit contain more juice than coarse, thick-skinned fruit.

In most instances, defects found on grapefruit are only skin deep. They affect appearance only and not eating quality. Fruit that is somewhat pointed at the stem end is likely to be thick-skinned, especially if the skin is rough, ridged or wrinkled.

Miss Coblentz points out that grapefruit is an excellent source of Vitamin C so essential for good health, and it furnishes a fair amount of vitamin A and B complex.

While grapefruit is usually thought of as a breakfast fruit, Miss Coblentz says it's so versatile that it can be used at any of the three daily meals. She gives these suggestions:

Broil your favorite fish as usual. During the last five minutes of broiling, place two or three grapefruit sections on top of each fillet. Brush with melted fat, dust with paprika, and finish broiling.

For a fancy seafood dish, mix grapefruit sections with cooked shrimp, lobster or crabmeat. Moisten with french dressing, garnish with greens, and serve in the grapefruit shells as a salad.

Combine one part grapefruit sections with two parts shredded cabbage and one part slivered raw carrots; mix with french dressing. Or combine grapefruit with colorful fresh fruits — bananas, pears, apples, grapes — in a jellied salad.

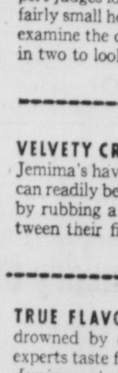
AUNT JEMIMA CAKE MIXES
. . . made to meet the experts' standards

HOW EXPERTS JUDGE A CAKE



MRS. MADELINE MEHLIG, nationally known Chicago Home Economics Consultant, has judged thousands of cakes in contests and cooking schools. Here are some of the tests that Mrs. Mehlig and other experts use.

FEATHERINESS Experts look for a tender delicacy they call "featheriness". Light and fluffy, the cake springs back when pressed gently with the finger. You'll see—and enjoy—that delicacy in every one of your Aunt Jemima cakes!

AROMA If a cake is made with the very best ingredients such as Aunt Jemima uses, it will have a fresh, delicate aroma. Experts judge by fragrance as well as by taste.

EVEN GRAIN In considering texture, expert judges look for an even distribution of fairly small holes, no big gaping ones. They examine the cut surface, then break a slice in two to look at the grain.

VELVETY CRUMB Fine cakes like Aunt Jemima's have a soft, velvety quality that can readily be felt. Experts test velvetiness by rubbing a few crumbs of the cake between their fingers.

TRUE FLAVOR Delicate true flavor, not drowned by oversweetness, is what the experts taste for—and what you get in Aunt Jemima cakes. And that velvety quality should be felt when tasting, too.

One-Dish Main Course Apple Kraut Special

Serve this new variation sauerkraut and frankfurters and see the members of the family beam as they savor its zesty succulence, taste its rich, mingled flavors.

From your standpoint, there's a big minute-clipping advantage to Apple Kraut Special, too. It's a whole course-in-one . . . meat, vegetables and even hot, herb biscuits, in relishing combination, in a single dish.

Canned apple sauce is the "something new" that makes the dish special. The apple sauce mellows the sharpness of the kraut, adds its own true apple deliciousness. Ready-to-use apple sauce that comes in cans or jars also has a rich consistency that not only steps up the taste but adds to the texture of the dish.

Any day is a good day to serve Apple Kraut Special but on a cold, hungry sort of day it seems to hit the spot. Notice how simple the dish is to mix and get ready. Then slide it into the oven . . . and dinner's off your mind and well on its way to the table.

Apple Kraut Special

1 No. 2 can sauerkraut
1 12-oz. can frankfurters
2 cups canned apple sauce
1 cup sour cream
½ cup finely chopped onions
1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons caraway seeds
6 tablespoons shortening
½ cup milk

Combine sauerkraut, frankfurters cut in 1" pieces, apple sauce, sour cream and onions. Mix well. Put into shallow baking dish, 9"x9"x2". Sift together flour, baking powder and salt; add caraway seeds. Cut in shortening with two knives or pastry blender. Add enough milk to hold ingredients together. Pat out dough on floured board to 1" thickness. Cut with round cutter. Place biscuits on sauerkraut mixture. Bake in hot oven, 400°F. 45 minutes. Yields 4-6 servings.

You And Eggs

Eggs make a good substantial meal at this season of the year when they are plentiful and cheap. Hard cooked eggs may be cut in half and served in white sauce, cheese sauce, tomato sauce or a Spanish sauce. You can curry them for a delightful taste treat. Or they may be used in salad or served stuffed.

The dark ring that sometimes appears between yolk and white of a hard-cooked egg is nothing to get alarmed about. The Department of Agriculture advises that if eggs are cooked at too high a temperature or too long, the iron in the yolk combines with the sulphur in the white to form ferrous sulphide which shows up as a dark layer when white and yolk contact. It does not affect food value or flavor.

Cookery specialists advise cooking eggs at simmering temperature, never boiling, and not too long. Cover eggs completely with cold water in a pan. Bring water to simmering temperature and simmer 25 to 30 minutes. If eggs are to be served cold, lift them out of the hot water into cold water and chill them promptly.

Butter Sauce For Fish

Butter sauces gives a superior flavor to baked, boiled, or broiled fish. For lemon butter sauce, cream ½ cup butter, blend in 1 tablespoooon lemon juice and ¼ teaspoon salt. Heat. Add chopped parsley if desired.

Chuck, A Handy Meat Around The Kitchen

Some foods fit into the all-around can call on chucketaointaoinhrd category, and in the meat line, you can call on chuck to fill the versatility bill.

Because there are so many things you can do with chuck roast, you might call it the "handy meat around the kitchen." Nutritionist Janet Coblentz, University of Maryland Extension Service, says you can count on chuck for roasting, for stew meat, for Swiss steak cuts, for ground meat, and for steaks.

Chuck, which makes up almost a quarter of the weight of a beef carcass, is the forequarter of beef. Some of the cuts from this section are the arm and blade pot roasts, arm and blade steaks, English cut roast, and boneless chuck, plus ground meat for use in meat patties and loaves.

There you have your versatility --from roasts to steaks to hamburger. What makes this cut so intriguing is that you can buy a chuck and then have the butcher divide it into the sections you want.

For instance, you can divide and have one section cut up for stew. Another part you can have ground. Still another part you cut crosswise for use as Swiss steak. And the rest of the piece you can use for pot roast. Or if the chuck is of top grade, you can oven roast it. You could also use part of it for steaks if a top grade chuck is used.

Let's take a typical chuck roast and see what you can serve from it. On Sunday you might have the roast either potted or oven roasted, depending on the grade. Monday, you could serve stew and make it a little different. Use onions, mushrooms, tomato juice and sour cream for Beef Stroganoff—or peas and corn for Brunswick stew. Or you could use your stew beef for chop suey.

Ground meat could turn up in a meat loaf or meat balls. Or you could make chili or spaghetti sauce with it. Then for a treat, you could serve the steak that you had cut off with mushrooms or braised onions.

Church Council Hits Tendency To Leave Government Determine What's American

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP)—The National Council of Churches yesterday condemned what it called a growing tendency to leave to the government to "determine what is and what is not American."

This is a "basic threat" to historic freedoms, the council said.

The huge church organization also called for a merger of present congressional efforts in the investigation of subversive activities. It said there is wastage of effort and undue rivalry between various groups doing the same job.

The council represents 30 denominations, including the bulk of the nation's Protestant and orthodox church members.

Its views on congressional and government activities were contained in a statement adopted by the council's 125-member General Board in a meeting here. There were only two dissenting votes.

The statement called for an eight-point reform in rules of congressional committees to prevent "procedural abuses," and urged formation of a single joint committee to probe subversive activities.

This, the statement said, would stop the present "wastage and duplication of effort."

Furthermore, it added, present competition among rival committees creates the "impression that they seek publicity, personal aggrandizement and political advantage rather than basic facts."

However, the statement said that "the more basic threat" to freedom has been:

"A growing tendency on the part of our people and their representatives in government to suppose that it is within the competence of the state to determine what is and what is not American."

The statement added:

"The American way is to preserve freedom by encouraging diversity within the unity of the nation and by trusting truth to prevail over error in open discussion."

As for congressional investigative activities, the council urged rules changes to "provide protection" against such things as:

"The stigmatizing of individuals and organizations on the basis of unsupported accusations and casual associations.

Church Council Hits Tendency To Leave Government Determine What's American

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP)—The National Council of Churches yesterday condemned what it called a growing tendency to leave to the government to "determine what is and what is not American."

This is a "basic threat" to historic freedoms, the council said.

The huge church organization also called for a merger of present congressional efforts in the investigation of subversive activities. It said there is wastage of effort and undue rivalry between various groups doing the same job.

The Parkway Hike And Justice Douglas

Justice William O. Douglas of the Supreme Court of the United States and some 25 to 30 stalwart companions arrive here today with the aim in mind of walking the 180-odd miles from Cumberland to Washington along the route of the old C&O Canal.

In the group of individuals, who must be a hardy lot or at least have aspirations in that direction, will be both opponents and proponents of the development of a vehicular parkway following the scenic canal route.

The hike, which starts tomorrow, was proposed as a challenge by Justice Douglas. He figuratively threw down the gauntlet to two editorial writers of The Washington Post who wrote favorably of the parkway's development.

Justice Douglas, a friendly adversary, wants the canal to remain as a haven at the Capital's back door for nature lovers. He invited the Post's editorial writers to walk the length of the canal with him so they could have a firsthand look at nature's works and also perhaps change their minds. The newsmen no doubt have in mind that they will change Justice Douglas' mind.

We are inclined to agree that by the time the party reaches Hancock they will have observed that ample wilderness will remain after construction of the parkway in Western Maryland.

Overlooked somewhat in all the discussion about the parkway is the intention to build along its course numerous recreation areas, easily accessible by automobile. Without the parkway the scenic beauties of the canal and Potomac River areas would be available to a limited few. With the parkway they would be available to many.

Still another important factor is the effect the parkway would have on the economy of Western Maryland. It would bring tourist dollars to this area and also would provide a water level highway for motorists who fear to travel over mountainous Route 40 in winter months.

The aim now is to build the parkway between Cumberland and Hancock and we hope that Justice Douglas will see and learn enough during the hike to change his mind and withdraw his opposition to the project.

We have this encouraging fact: As one of the distinguished members of the highest court in the land, Justice Douglas unquestionably will not have a closed mind on the subject. He will weigh the facts on both sides before he finally reaches a decision.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

On Academic Freedom

The essential difference between the United States and some other countries is not that Americans have a higher standard of living but that they have been graced with a larger budget of individual liberties in which they are protected by a written Constitution. Among those freedoms is the right to speak and write according to one's own conscience and, by inference, to read and think in freedom. This is the essence of academic freedom, which means the right of a teacher to teach according to his conscience.

But it has been held by our courts that no right is absolute. For instance, an unfortunate professor may prefer vulgar four-letter words, but should he employ such obscenities in a class of boys and girls, he could be fired for misconduct just as a writer, while exercising his freedom, commits a libel at his peril or may be arrested for issuing salacious literature.

Dr. Albert Einstein, in a reply to five questions on civil liberties and academic freedom, said of this:

"The threat to academic freedom in our time must be seen in the fact that, because of the alleged external danger to our country, freedom of teaching, mutual exchange of opinions, and freedom of press and other media of communication are encroached upon or obstructed. This is done by creating a situation in which people feel their economic positions endangered. Consequently, more and more people avoid expressing their opinion freely, even in their private social life. This is a state of affairs which a democratic government cannot survive in the long run."

This is not correct. During the past fortnight this country has suffered a visitation of furious freedom of expression of opinions on all sides, pro, con and indifferent, wise and stupid, true and false, on the issues arising over Senator McCarthy. No person, no newspaper, no radio commentator was afraid to speak his mind.

Why should the professors be afraid? Of course, if a professor wishes to be an advocate instead of an objective scholar, he has to take the consequences of his choice. If a professor advocates murder, rape, arson or treason, he has just cause to fear for his "economic position." But if a professor teaches his pupils the table of valences or the development of sociology, no one will interfere with him and no one has.

Dr. Einstein says, for instance, that freedom of the press has been encroached upon. When? Where? What are his examples? The "Daily Worker" is still being published in freedom. There is no censorship.

Let me quote a sentence as an example of blatant irresponsibility:

". . . Now, when I find my work honored in your country, but dishonored by the Fascists of America, I can know that I am fit company for decent men."

This, written by Albert Maltz for the "Tagliche Rundschau," a Communist newspaper in East Berlin, appeared in "The Worker" for Sunday, March 14. Maltz calls us Fascists but finds himself in fit company in East Germany. Maltz says in this article:

". . . Now thieving, demagogic politicians like the intellectual cretin, Senator McCarthy, are deciding more and more what books Americans may read, what films they may see, what radio and television programs may entertain (i.e. corrupt) their leisure hours . . ."

Maltz, of course, lies, for neither McCarthy nor any other senator can tell us what to read. Not even the President can tell us what to listen to on the radio or television.

Einstein and Maltz are describing conditions which do not exist in the United States, controls over us that have not been established, fears that no one has except those who are guilty of something, or who are pathologically anxious. Professor Einstein ought to read the numerous press of New York, printed in scores of languages and representing all the diversities of human opinion.

Einstein says:

"It is important for the defense of civil rights that assistance be given to the victims of this defense who in the above-mentioned inquisitions have refused to testify, and beyond that to all those who through these inquisitions have suffered material loss in any way . . ."

He ends by making an appeal for funds for those who refuse to answer. In a word, he is advising his followers to risk contempt rather than to tell the truth as they know it.

The Convalescents Come Out Of The Hospital

Russia Holds Strong Position In Fighting "Cold War"

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — What is Russia's game? What are her plans and intentions?

All speeches coming out of the Communist ranks, including addresses by both Malenkov and Molotov in the last few days, indicate a desire to avoid a hot war and even to put an end to the "cold war."

Why should Malenkov emphasize that, "with the existence of modern means of destruction, a third world war would mean destruction of civilization"? The answer is that he wishes his own people not to believe the cries from the free world that Soviet Russia has aggressive intentions. Also he is impressed with America's growing armament program. He doesn't want the big atomic war.

More Infiltration Opportunities

Is Russia, therefore, interested primarily in the pursuit of the "cold war," which thus far has added nearly 600,000,000 persons to the side of the Communists in Europe and Asia without involving a single regiment of Soviet troops? The answer is that the "cold war" offers further opportunities for infiltration of free countries and also for the acquisition of important raw materials needed in the next five years for the Soviet armament program.

Does Russia concede that it wants to pursue the "cold war"? Of course not. Reiterating that its intentions are peaceful at all times, the spokesman for Soviet Russia who succeeded Stalin — Premier Malenkov — now says that Soviet Russia "takes a strong stand against the policy of a cold war."

Where is the "cold war" being fought today? In Italy, in France and in Great Britain, in India and in the Near East, and also in Africa and Latin America as well as within the United States.

Just what is the "cold war"? It is a method of warfare inside free countries which seeks, through Communist-front organizations and through political influence, to gain control of governments or at least to influence the trend of its policies.

How is such infiltration accomplished? In some countries, like France and Italy, where the Communist party is not regarded as a conspiracy, direct access is gained to cabinets and government departments where important information is acquired daily as to the trend of policies while they are being shaped. This permits Moscow to move on the diplomatic scene in ways that cause international friction and weaken the solidarity of the free world. Mssrs. MacLean and Burgess, formerly of the British Foreign Office, sit behind the iron curtain advising the Russians. But the British keep on pooh-poohing the Communist menace and crying out against "McCarthyism."

U. S. Efforts Weakened

Is there other proof of infiltration? Recently the British government discovered a Communist plot to take over the colonial government in British Guiana on the North Coast of South America. The United States Government has discovered the same state of affairs in Guatemala. There are Communist activities in other Latin American countries. It is obviously Soviet strategy to make as much trouble as possible for what is sometimes referred to as our "backyard," because of Washington's need for Latin American votes in the United Nations Assembly.

What is the present objective of the Soviets in the "cold war"? It is to drive a wedge between Great Britain and France, on the one hand, and the United States on the other. It is aimed at producing dissension by a campaign inside free countries to resume trade between Europe and the iron curtain countries. The door is being opened to such trade. The United States Government is wobbling on the issue. The Soviets see a chance of getting Britain and other countries so entangled in trade that Russia will acquire in the next few years strategic materials and machinery acutely needed for armament and also for improvement of the Moscow government's internal position through the production of more consumer goods.

What is the American government is going in the "cold war"? Mostly it is carrying on a propaganda through radio and public statements by government officials here, but it is weakened by "left wing" pressure inside the United States to bring about the recognition of the government of Red China, even though it has been declared an aggressor by the United Nations. Once Red China is admitted to the United Nations, the prestige of the United States all over the world will be gravely damaged in the "cold war."

Soviet Trump Card

What about the hot spot in the "cold war"—Indochina? This is the trump card of the Soviets. They see the French anxious to pull out and they see the parliament in Paris divided through Communist influence and they see all of Southeast Asia soon falling into the hands of the Soviets once Indochina is surrendered by a phony armistice set-up like Korea.

What about Korea? The Soviets has no intention of agreeing to the settlement of the Korean issues because, by an indefinite postponement, they can keep bogged down in the Far East American military forces which might be needed in Europe in a sudden emergency.

On balance, the Soviets hold a strong position in the "cold war," and they are receiving at the moment their greatest stimulus from the operations of the American "left wing" and its auxiliaries here and abroad who are pooh-poohing the Communist menace of infiltration inside the United States and who regularly denounce penetrating investigations hitherto conducted by congressional committees.

"The cold war," on the whole, goes well for Soviet Russia, and that's the war Moscow is most eager to win because it is less expensive in men and money than a third world war of the atomic variety.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

What Geneva will seek to perpetuate in April is armistice through exhaustion and peace by attrition.

So far the nations have tried every method of agreement except by nodding.

There is no lack of ammunition in any form of world contact except in languages and understanding.

But there is an end to everything except the shape of crullers.

Even the Kilkenny felines finally reached a scarcity of cats.

The accusation this writer is a trouble spoiler is as correct as white collar and tie. There are some troubles that should be spoiled.

We look forward to Geneva through the same rear view mirror used by Patrick Henry. He weighed the future with his thumb on the past.

When everything has been said and done too much has been mouthed. And nothing done.

We repeat General Kinkaid's crack that international conferences are Swiss hotel keepers' holidays. Kinkaid himself was a maitre d' joint.

Complete Relaxation Needed To Get Child To Sleep

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Are you having trouble getting Junior to sleep? If so, try to find and eliminate the cause, because children cannot be stampeded into sleep. Complete relaxation is necessary, but many extraneous factors make this difficult.

Bedclothing must be adequate to avoid chilling, and measures should be taken to keep the tot covered during the night. Flannel pajamas are preferred and underclothing ought to be loose fitting. A hard, smooth mattress will not interfere with breathing nor with free motion of the head. It also is important to check the basic equipment such as the rubber pants and wet or soiled diapers. When sleeplessness is associated with crying or fretfulness, and the child pulls up the knees to ease pain, colic is a good possibility. Such antics mean that a change in diet is in order.

Meanwhile, determine if there is too much noise or light in the bedroom. Pre-schoolers vary along this line in that some prefer darkness whereas others are afraid and want the light on or the door open. Too much excitement prior to going to bed also interferes with sleep. Now and then the problem is solved by prohibiting roughhousing or watching an exciting movie on television. Visitors also enter the picture, especially when the tyke is put in the limelight.

Sleeplessness may be particularly bothersome during the negativistic period of development. At this time, the son of the household is likely to be an imp and will rebel at almost every order or direction. This is the time to be firm. During these periods of rebellion, mother must look her offspring straight in the eye and tell him in no uncertain terms to go to bed, be quiet, and sleep. Future monkeyshines are followed with the usual disciplinary measures.

If a pre-schooler hesitates or stalls routinely when his 8 o'clock bedtime rolls around, parents may consider changing the hour to 9 p. m. After all, there is no reason why boys and girls of this age must be on the rigid schedule of younger children, and the problem may be solved by giving them another hour of grace. Sometimes the high-strung child can be hypnotized or lulled to sleep by speaking quietly and telling him how sleepy he looks or how tired he must be. Some children, like some adults, are poor sleepers and are likely to be awakened by every squeaky door, passing truck, or howling cat.

HAVE FUN

E. V. writes: Can an elderly woman smoke one cigaret a day without harm?

REPLY

One daily cigaret is moderation in any age group. If you enjoy it, why not continue?

PHOBIA

E. R. writes: For 25 years I always noticed the "I's" and "and's" in people's conversation. This habit dropped out of the picture suddenly and now I notice the movements of people's arms and hands. I had a nervous breakdown 25 years ago. Can you explain my habit?

REPLY

Others count telegraph poles or do arithmetic with car numbers. This is a nervous phenomenon and demonstrates again what strange tricks the mind plays on us.

WART CURES

D. B. writes: I had 35 warts on one hand and used household ammonia. They are now all gone.

REPLY

You are lucky because this remedy is not always successful.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

One of the interesting phenomena of life in midtown Manhattan is the vacationing movie queens who come for a vacation, vowing that they want no publicity whatever—just "would like to be ordinary human beings like everybody else for a few days." The procedure they adopt to achieve this praiseworthy end is worth a moment's study. One modest violet draped herself in a full-length sport coat, belted loosely in the middle, that was made (so help me!) of genuine ermine. "Why does everybody stare at me so?" she cooed wonderingly . . . Another ever horseback riding in Central Park, and just opposite the Bir House in the zoo proceeded to do a head stand —on the saddle. (She wasn't wearing too much underneath, either.) She professed outrage when a cop ran her in, presumably for disturbing the geese . . . Another self-effacing star made such a point about wanting absolute privacy, that reporters and press photographers took her at her word. She went back to Hollywood in a huff three days later.

McCarthy Expert Has Family Troubles Over Senator; Taxes Upset Democrats

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The man upon whom the White House is relying for advice on the prickly, unpredictable senator from Wisconsin is a handsome, mild-mannered young legal disciple of Governor Dewey—William P. Rogers, deputy attorney general.

Rogers first got to know McCarthy when Joe was a very junior member of the Senate Investigations Committee back in 1949 and when Rogers was counsel for that committee. The Democrats were in command then, but they retained the able Mr. Rogers even though he was a Dewey Republican, and even though Truman had just defeated Dewey.

During the 1952 campaign Rogers became a close friend of Senator Nixon, traveled with him, and gradually became Eisenhower's No. 1 executive in charge of Joe McCarthy problems. To that end it was Rogers who went to Miami with Nixon last Christmas to persuade Joe to lay off the Eisenhower administration and attack only hangover Truman scandals. The agreement was honored for only a few weeks.

Meanwhile, Joe McCarthy is not merely causing Ike trouble, he is causing trouble for Mr. Rogers right in his own home.

The Rogers children, of whom he can justly be proud, attend the Friends School, as do also the Brownell children. And after Attorney General Brownell castigated Truman re Harry Detxer White in a political speech at the school, the student body demanded that they hear the other side.

Among those who wanted to hear both sides was alert lovely Mary Rogers, president of Current Events, whose father is the No. 1 deputy to Attorney General Brownell.

The man picked to answer Brownell was none other than Michael Straight, editor and publisher of the anti-McCarthy liberal New Republic.

After Straight spoke, several students congratulated him, among them Mary Rogers. She explained that she was a Republican and loyal to her father, but she was troubled by the issue of McCarthyism. It was almost disrupting the Rogers' home.

"That man," she said, referring to the senator from Wisconsin, "comes to our house and spends hours with daddy."

Big Tax Advisers

One amazing thing about the current 875-page proposed new tax bill is that Ways and Means committeemen — outside Chairman Dan Reed — have not known who the big business experts were who worked on it. It has not been unusual to have big business experts work on tax bills in the past. Their advice, as well as that of labor and consumer groups, was always welcomed. But the advice was always given in public sessions so that everyone knew about it.

This time it was given secretly, and Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee hitherto have not been able to ascertain who they were.

However they have just now discovered that the Jones-Laughlin Steel Company and Westinghouse were on the committee which wrote the corporate reorganization sections of the tax bill. They have also ascertained that Bethlehem Steel and General Foods helped write the pensions section which reinstate the provisions of 12 years ago whereby only top executives of a corporation can have tax-free funds set aside for pensions. Small-scale employes cannot benefit.

Congressmen also learned that Standard Oil of New Jersey helped write the section on consolidated tax returns.

McCarthy-Go-Round

Roy Cohn's family is not unacquainted with the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune. His grandfather was mixed up in the Bank of the United States scandal. . . . When Roy joined the New York National Guard a friend asked him why. "To get out of the draft," replied Mr. Cohn, who can be very frank. "What makes you think that will get you out?" asked the friend. "I'm going to be in the Selective Service office of the National Guard," was Roy's reply. . . . Cohn took his exam to enter the National Guard in 1950, the year the Korean War started. . . . While working in Washington, Cohn managed to get a special dispensation from the Washington District of Columbia Guard to drill with them. In the past this has almost never been given. . . . Juiciest portions of the Army report on Cohn-McCarthy-Schine et al were omitted. The original report was about twice as long as that the Army made public.

Butler Won't Budge — Sen. John Butler of Maryland is a man who, when he has convictions, has 'em. And not even the White House can budge him. . . . Butler felt strongly about the Bricker Amendment, resented the expert lobbying job performed by White House minions in persuading various senators to switch their votes.... So, when the same minions argued with him for 45 minutes not to tie Alaskan statehood to Hawaii, Butler refused to budge. He voted that statehood for both should go hand-in-hand.

No One Wants Rubber — Two cabinet officers are squabbling over who should take over the South American rubber program. Foreign-aid boss Harold Stassen has been trying to develop a strategic natural rubber industry in Latin America to prepare for possible loss of Southeast Asia to the Reds. His agency however is now going out of business. . . . Secretary of Commerce Weeks thinks the Agriculture Department should take over the rubber program. But Secretary of Agriculture Benson insists it should go to the Commerce Department. . . . Reason for the after-you-Alphonse attitude is that whoever gets the rubber program will have to dip into his budget to pay for it.

Democrat Unity Hits GOP

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON:

"The Republicans," one experienced Democratic senator has remarked, "are in about as nasty a bind as I've seen since I've been here." The statement may seem extreme. Yet a good many unhappy Republicans would privately agree that it is not exaggerated out of all reason, at least as regards the legislative situation in Congress. Consider the following facts:

ITEM. President Eisenhower has heavily staked his prestige on forestalling the Democratic attempt to increase personal income tax exemptions. Despite the prior vote in the House, Senate sentiment on this issue is so clear that the Senate is likely to provide the decisive arena. And Republican leaders privately admit that there is virtually no hope of beating the amendment calling for a $200 increase, sponsored in the Senate by the respected, impeccably conservative Sen. George of Georgia.

Sens. Langer and Young of North Dakota, Bennett of Utah, and McCarthy of Wisconsin are mentioned as likely or possible Republican deserters on this issue. Sen. Morse of Oregon is expected to vote with the Democrats. And the Democratic leadership conceded the loss of only one vote—Byrd of Virginia.

Compromise Likely

Thus the current betting, on both sides of the aisle, is that a compromise increase will eventually emerge from the Senate-House conference. The President could veto any increase in exemptions, of course, but only at the cost of reducing the whole legislative situation to near-total chaos.

ITEM. The Eisenhower administration's prestige is also heavily involved in the administration-sponsored farm program, calling for flexible price supports. On this issue Democrats are not quite as united as on taxes, but the vast majority will vote for rigid supports. They will be joined by a large number of Republicans, led by Young and McCarthy, and a majority vote for rigid supports is regarded as inevitable.

Again, the President can veto. If he does, he will get flexible farm supports under the 1949 Anderson Act, since rigid supports have been regularly tacked on to this act. But getting flexible supports under an old Democratic act is hardly the same thing as getting the administration's own farm program.

ITEM. The Democrats mean to keep the McCarthy-Army pot boiling for weeks on end, with the hearings continuing for most of this session. The country will thus be treated to the spectacle of Republicans endlessly shouting "liar" at each other, while the Democrats on the side lines adopt suitable attitudes of horror, disapproval, and pious dismay.

Near Miss

ITEM. A sword of Damocles, in the shape of the George substitute for the Bricker Amendment, will hang over the administration's head throughout this session. For parliamentary reasons, this amendment can be called up for consideration by a simple majority vote, although it still needs two-thirds to pass. On the last go-round, the amendment missed the necessary two-thirds by just one vote—and Majority Leader William Knowland himself deserted the administration on this issue. Let a few anti-Bricker senators be sick or absent and the sword will fall. On this issue too the administration's prestige is deeply committed.

And so it goes—almost everywhere the administration program is bogged down or threatened with defeat. Only five weeks ago, as reported in this space, the legislative prospects for the President's program were excellent, thanks to the heavy political aspects of the President's "long-impressive drumfire of major messages." What has happened in such a short time to make such a difference?

In the first place, the Democratic strategy has been brilliant — if somewhat cynical. The Democrats, united as rarely before, have succeeded in starting a straight party fight on the two most sensitive pocketbook issues—taxes and farm prices. Some Democrats certainly harbor private doubts about the wisdom of rigid farm supports, and heavy tax reductions piled on an unbalanced budget. But they almost giggle with glee when they talk of the spot the Republicans are in—opposing farm parity and tax reductions in an election year.

Second, the President's own party has obviously let him down. The endless haggling over the Bricker Amendment started the process of decay. Republican charges of "treason" helped achieve the unprecedented unity among the Democrats. And then, of course, the McCarthy row changed the whole political pattern as suddenly as in a child's kaleidoscope. McCarthy moved front and center, while the President who had been so dominating a figure in the first month of the session, moved half into the shadows.

The Parkway Hike And Justice Douglas

Justice William O. Douglas of the Supreme Court of the United States and some 25 to 30 stalwart companions arrive here today with the aim in mind of walking the 180-odd miles from Cumberland to Washington along the route of the old C&O Canal.

In the group of individuals, who must be a hardy lot or at least have aspirations in that direction, will be both opponents and proponents of the development of a vehicular parkway following the scenic canal route.

The hike, which starts tomorrow, was proposed as a challenge by Justice Douglas. He figuratively threw down the gauntlet to two editorial writers of The Washington Post who wrote favorably of the parkway's development.

Justice Douglas, a friendly adversary, wants the canal to remain as a haven at the Capital's back door for nature lovers. He invited the Post's editorial writers to walk the length of the canal with him so they could have a firsthand look at nature's works and also perhaps change their minds. The newsmen no doubt have in mind that they will change Justice Douglas' mind.

We are inclined to agree that by the time the party reaches Hancock they will have observed that ample wilderness will remain after construction of the parkway in Western Maryland.

Overlooked somewhat in all the discussion about the parkway is the intention to build along its course numerous recreation areas, easily accessible by automobile. Without the parkway the scenic beauties of the canal and Potomac River areas would be available to a limited few. With the parkway they would be available to many.

Still another important factor is the effect the parkway would have on the economy of Western Maryland. It would bring tourist dollars to this area and also would provide a water level highway for motorists who fear to travel over mountainous Route 40 in winter months.

The aim now is to build the parkway between Cumberland and Hancock and we hope that Justice Douglas will see and learn enough during the hike to change his mind and withdraw his opposition to the project.

We have this encouraging fact: As one of the distinguished members of the highest court in the land, Justice Douglas unquestionably will not have a closed mind on the subject. He will weigh the facts on both sides before he finally reaches a decision.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

On Academic Freedom

The essential difference between the United States and some other countries is not that Americans have a higher standard of living but that they have been graced with a larger budget of individual liberties in which they are protected by a written Constitution. Among those freedoms is the right to speak and write according to one's own conscience and, by inference, to read and think in freedom. This is the essence of academic freedom, which means the right of a teacher to teach according to his conscience.

But it has been held by our courts that no right is absolute. For instance, an unfortunate professor may prefer vulgar four-letter words, but should he employ such obscenities in a class of boys and girls, he could be fired for misconduct just as a writer, while exercising his freedom, commits a libel at his peril or may be arrested for issuing salacious literature.

Dr. Albert Einstein, in a reply to five questions on civil liberties and academic freedom, said of this:

"The threat to academic freedom in our time must be seen in the fact that, because of the alleged external danger to our country, freedom of teaching, mutual exchange of opinions, and freedom of press and other media of communication are encroached upon or obstructed. This is done by creating a situation in which people feel their economic positions endangered. Consequently, more and more people avoid expressing their opinion freely, even in their private social life. This is a state of affairs which a democratic government cannot survive in the long run."

This is not correct. During the past fortnight this country has suffered a visitation of furious freedom of expression of opinions on all sides, pro, con and indifferent, wise and stupid, true and false, on the issues arising over Senator McCarthy. No person, no newspaper, no radio commentator was afraid to speak his mind.

Why should the professors be afraid? Of course, if a professor wishes to be an advocate instead of an objective scholar, he has to take the consequences of his choice. If a professor advocates murder, rape, arson or treason, he has just cause to fear for his "economic position." But if a professor teaches his pupils the table of valences or the development of sociology, no one will interfere with him and no one has.

Dr. Einstein says, for instance, that freedom of the press has been encroached upon. When? Where? What are his examples? The "Daily Worker" is still being published in freedom. There is no censorship.

Let me quote a sentence as an example of blatant irresponsibility:

". . . Now, when I find my work honored in your country, but dishonored by the Fascists of America, I can know that I am fit company for decent men."

This, written by Albert Maltz for the "Tagliche Rundschau," a Communist newspaper in East Berlin, appeared in "The Worker" for Sunday, March 14. Maltz calls us Fascists but finds himself in fit company in East Germany. Maltz says in this article:

". . . Now thieving, demagogic politicians like the intellectual cretin, Senator McCarthy, are deciding more and more what books Americans may read, what films they may see, what radio and television programs may entertain (i.e. corrupt) their leisure hours . . ."

Maltz, of course, lies, for neither McCarthy nor any other senator can tell us what to read. Not even the President can tell us what to listen to on the radio or television.

Einstein and Maltz are describing conditions which do not exist in the United States, controls over us that have not been established, fears that no one has except those who are guilty of something, or who are pathologically anxious. Professor Einstein ought to read the numerous press of New York, printed in scores of languages and representing all the diversities of human opinion.

Einstein says:

"It is important for the defense of civil rights that assistance be given to the victims of this defense who in the above-mentioned inquisitions have refused to testify, and beyond that to all those who through these inquisitions have suffered material loss in any way . . ."

He ends by making an appeal for funds for those who refuse to answer. In a word, he is advising his followers to risk contempt rather than to tell the truth as they know it.

The Convalescents Come Out Of The Hospital

Russia Holds Strong Position In Fighting "Cold War"

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — What is Russia's game? What are her plans and intentions?

All speeches coming out of the Communist ranks, including addresses by both Malenkov and Molotov in the last few days, indicate a desire to avoid a hot war and even to put an end to the "cold war."

Why should Malenkov emphasize that, "with the existence of modern means of destruction, a third world war would mean destruction of civilization"? The answer is that he wishes his own people not to believe the cries from the free world that Soviet Russia has aggressive intentions. Also he is impressed with America's growing armament program. He doesn't want the big atomic war.

More Infiltration Opportunities

Is Russia, therefore, interested primarily in the pursuit of the "cold war," which thus far has added nearly 600,000,000 persons to the side of the Communists in Europe and Asia without involving a single regiment of Soviet troops? The answer is that the "cold war" offers further opportunities for infiltration of free countries and also for the acquisition of important raw materials needed in the next five years for the Soviet armament program.

Does Russia concede that it wants to pursue the "cold war"? Of course not. Reiterating that its intentions are peaceful at all times, the spokesman for Soviet Russia who succeeded Stalin — Premier Malenkov — now says that Soviet Russia "takes a strong stand against the policy of a cold war."

Where is the "cold war" being fought today? In Italy, in France and in Great Britain, in India and in the Near East, and also in Africa and Latin America as well as within the United States.

Just what is the "cold war"? It is a method of warfare inside free countries which seeks, through Communist-front organizations and through political influence, to gain control of governments or at least to influence the trend of its policies.

How is such infiltration accomplished? In some countries, like France and Italy, where the Communist party is not regarded as a conspiracy, direct access is gained to cabinets and government departments where important information is acquired daily as to the trend of policies while they are being shaped. This permits Moscow to move on the diplomatic scene in ways that cause international friction and weaken the solidarity of the free world. Mssrs. MacLean and Burgess, formerly of the British Foreign Office, sit behind the iron curtain advising the Russians. But the British keep on pooh-poohing the Communist menace and crying out against "McCarthyism."

U. S. Efforts Weakened

Is there other proof of infiltration? Recently the British government discovered a Communist plot to take over the colonial government in British Guiana on the North Coast of South America. The United States Government has discovered the same state of affairs in Guatemala. There are Communist activities in other Latin American countries. It is obviously Soviet strategy to make as much trouble as possible for what is sometimes referred to as our "backyard," because of Washington's need for Latin American votes in the United Nations Assembly.

What is the present objective of the Soviets in the "cold war"? It is to drive a wedge between Great Britain and France, on the one hand, and the United States on the other. It is aimed at producing dissension by a campaign inside free countries to resume trade between Europe and the iron curtain countries. The door is being opened to such trade. The United States Government is wobbling on the issue. The Soviets see a chance of getting Britain and other countries so entangled in trade that Russia will acquire in the next few years strategic materials and machinery acutely needed for armament and also for improvement of the Moscow government's internal position through the production of more consumer goods.

What is the American government is going in the "cold war"? Mostly it is carrying on a propaganda through radio and public statements by government officials here, but it is weakened by "left wing" pressure inside the United States to bring about the recognition of the government of Red China, even though it has been declared an aggressor by the United Nations. Once Red China is admitted to the United Nations, the prestige of the United States all over the world will be gravely damaged in the "cold war."

Soviet Trump Card

What about the hot spot in the "cold war"—Indochina? This is the trump card of the Soviets. They see the French anxious to pull out and they see the parliament in Paris divided through Communist influence and they see all of Southeast Asia soon falling into the hands of the Soviets once Indochina is surrendered by a phony armistice set-up like Korea.

What about Korea? The Soviets has no intention of agreeing to the settlement of the Korean issues because, by an indefinite postponement, they can keep bogged down in the Far East American military forces which might be needed in Europe in a sudden emergency.

On balance, the Soviets hold a strong position in the "cold war," and they are receiving at the moment their greatest stimulus from the operations of the American "left wing" and its auxiliaries here and abroad who are pooh-poohing the Communist menace of infiltration inside the United States and who regularly denounce penetrating investigations hitherto conducted by congressional committees.

"The cold war," on the whole, goes well for Soviet Russia, and that's the war Moscow is most eager to win because it is less expensive in men and money than a third world war of the atomic variety.

Complete Relaxation Needed To Get Child To Sleep

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Are you having trouble getting Junior to sleep? If so, try to find and eliminate the cause, because children cannot be stampeded into sleep. Complete relaxation is necessary, but many extraneous factors make this difficult.

Bedclothing must be adequate to avoid chilling, and measures should be taken to keep the tot covered during the night. Flannel pajamas are preferred and underclothing ought to be loose fitting. A hard, smooth mattress will not interfere with breathing nor with free motion of the head. It also is important to check the basic equipment such as the rubber pants and wet or soiled diapers. When sleeplessness is associated with crying or fretfulness, and the child pulls up the knees to ease pain, colic is a good possibility. Such antics mean that a change in diet is in order.

Meanwhile, determine if there is too much noise or light in the bedroom. Pre-schoolers vary along this line in that some prefer darkness whereas others are afraid and want the light on or the door open. Too much excitement prior to going to bed also interferes with sleep. Now and then the problem is solved by prohibiting roughhousing or watching an exciting movie on television. Visitors also enter the picture, especially when the tyke is put in the limelight.

Sleeplessness may be particularly bothersome during the negativistic period of development. At this time, the son of the household is likely to be an imp and will rebel at almost every order or direction. This is the time to be firm. During these periods of rebellion, mother must look her offspring straight in the eye and tell him in no uncertain terms to go to bed, be quiet, and sleep. Future monkeyshines are followed with the usual disciplinary measures.

If a pre-schooler hesitates or stalls routinely when his 8 o'clock bedtime rolls around, parents may consider changing the hour to 9 p. m. After all, there is no reason why boys and girls of this age must be on the rigid schedule of younger children, and the problem may be solved by giving them another hour of grace. Sometimes the high-strung child can be hypnotized or lulled to sleep by speaking quietly and telling him how sleepy he looks or how tired he must be. Some children, like some adults, are poor sleepers and are likely to be awakened by every squeaky door, passing truck, or howling cat.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

One of the interesting phenomena of life in midtown Manhattan is the vacationing movie queens who come for a vacation, vowing that they want no publicity whatever—just "would like to be ordinary human beings like everybody else for a few days." The procedure they adopt to achieve this praiseworthy end is worth a moment's study. One modest violet draped herself in a full-length sport coat, belted loosely in the middle, that was made (so help me!) of genuine ermine. "Why does everybody stare at me so?" she cooed wonderingly . . . Another went horseback riding in Central Park, and just opposite the Biltmore House in the zoo proceeded to do a head stand—on the saddle. (She wasn't wearing too much underneath, either.) She professed outrage when a cop ran her in, presumably for disturbing the geese . . . Another self-effacing star made such a point about wanting absolute privacy, that reporters and press photographers took her at her word. She went back to Hollywood in a huff three days later.

McCarthy Expert Has Family Troubles Over Senator; Taxes Upset Democrats

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The man upon whom the White House is relying for advice on the prickly, unpredictable senator from Wisconsin is a handsome, mild-mannered young legal disciple of Governor Dewey—William P. Rogers, deputy attorney general.

Rogers first got to know McCarthy when Joe was a very junior member of the Senate Investigations Committee back in 1949 and when Rogers was counsel for that committee. ITEM. The Eisenhower administration's prestige is also heavily involved in the administration-sponsored farm program, calling for flexible price supports. On this issue Democrats are not quite as united as on taxes, but the vast majority will vote for rigid supports. They will be joined by a large number of Republicans, led by Young and McCarthy, and a majority vote for rigid supports is regarded as inevitable.

Again, the President can veto. If he does, he will get flexible farm supports under the 1949 Anderson Act, since rigid supports have been regularly tacked on to this act. But getting flexible supports under an old Democratic act is hardly the same thing as getting the administration's own farm program.

ITEM. The Democrats mean to keep the McCarthy-Army pot boiling for weeks on end, with the hearings continuing for most of this session. The country will thus be treated to the spectacle of Republicans endlessly shouting "liar" at each other, while the Democrats on the side lines adopt suitable attitudes of horror, disapproval, and pious dismay.

Near Miss

ITEM. A sword of Damocles, in the shape of the George substitute for the Bricker Amendment, will hang over the administration's head throughout this session. For parliamentary reasons, this amendment can be called up for consideration by a simple majority vote, although it still needs two-thirds to pass. On the last go-round, the amendment missed the necessary two-thirds by just one vote—and Majority Leader William Knowland himself deserted the administration on this issue. Let a few anti-Bricker senators be sick or absent and the sword will fall. On this issue too the administration's prestige is deeply committed.

And so it goes—almost everywhere the administration program is bogged down or threatened with defeat. Only five weeks ago, as reported in this space, the legislative prospects for the President's program were excellent, thanks to the heavy political aspects of the President's "long-impressive drumfire of major messages." What has happened in such a short time to make such a difference?

In the first place, the Democratic strategy has been brilliant — if somewhat cynical. The Democrats, united as rarely before, have succeeded in starting a straight party fight on the two most sensitive pocketbook issues—taxes and farm prices. Some Democrats certainly harbor private doubts about the wisdom of rigid farm supports, and heavy tax reductions piled on an unbalanced budget. But they almost giggle with glee when they talk of the spot the Republicans are in—opposing farm parity and tax reductions in an election year.

Second, the President's own party has obviously let him down. The endless haggling over the Bricker Amendment started the process of decay. Republican charges of "treason" helped achieve the unprecedented unity among the Democrats. And then, of course, the McCarthy row changed the whole political pattern as suddenly as in a child's kaleidoscope. McCarthy moved front and center, while the President who had been so dominating a figure in the first month of the session, moved half into the shadows.

World Council Of Churches Meeting To Have Explosive Potentialities Of Religious "U. N."

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP)—Churches today are fast approaching a major event in the contemporary affairs of Christendom.

Elaborate preparations are going on. Touchy problems are being sifted. Special duties are being assigned.

The assembly of the World Council of Churches still is five months off, but already a great deal of advance activity has developed.

"The assembly will be one of the most important Christian gatherings in 19 centuries," said Dr. Henry P. Van Dusen, president of Union Theological Seminary and head of a U.S. assembly-study committee.

The world-wide interdenominational gathering, in Evanston, Ill., will be the first ever held in the United States.

It also will be the first general session of the international Christian agency—founded six years ago, and now including 161 Protestant and Orthodox Catholic faiths with 170 million followers.

All sorts of views, stemming from different ecclesiastical, political and economic backgrounds, will be represented—giving the meeting the explosive potentialities of a religious "United Nations."

Key leaders are shuttling back and forth across the Atlantic, planning conferences and setting the stage.

Printing presses here and abroad already are turning out huge files of background documents for the assembly.

A stream of "study literature" is going out to thousands of local churches throughout the United States, and elsewhere, to acquaint Christians with the issues.

There's even simplified children's material on the subject, with pictures and stories, for use in Sunday Schools.

Ministerial associations, church groups and theological schools are arranging special institutes and lectures on assembly topics.

Questions which can mean either a more divided or more close-knit pattern of Christianity, are up for decision. Some of them:

Are the various faiths, including denominations in 48 countries, seeking the same objectives in society?

Do they see their duties in sufficiently similar light to support each other? Are their religious values compatible?

Theme for the assembly is: "Christ—the hope of the world."

But even this general heading couches possible clashes of interpretation, depending on whether Christian "hope" is focused chiefly on the hereafter, or in making Christ's will more effective on earth.

Sub-themes include such deep-rooted problems as church disunity, racial tensions and Christian conduct in vocations and society.

The assembly also raises such ticklish questions as the admission of delegates from Iron Curtain satellites.

"It is possible," said Dr. O. Frederick Nolde, director of the council's Commission of the Churches on International Affairs, "that a quite limited number of people will become publicly critical of any move to admit to the United States Christians from behind the Iron Curtain.

"In that eventuality, enlightened public opinion must make itself heard and felt. It is imperative that these delegates be admitted."

Criticism already has come from the Rev. Carl McIntire, of Collingswood, N.J., president of the International Council of Christian Churches, a body of relatively small, newer denominations.

McIntire, who contends the larger churches are "modernists" promoting Marxism and trying to "undermine our free economic order," has written President Eisenhower, urging that the Iron Curtain delegates be banned.

"If our government admits these Communists and Communist propagandists to the United States, you, as our President, and the Republican party, the party in power, will be responsible," he said.

The world council includes all of the larger Christian bodies, except for the Russian Orthodox, Southern Baptists, Missouri-Synod Lutherans and Roman Catholics. The latter three may send observers.

Pro-Eisenhower Group In Drive For Vote Funds

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—The National Citizens for Eisenhower Congressional Committee said yesterday it aims to raise $500,000 to help elect a "working majority" in Congress for the Eisenhower program.

The volunteer group said it has already raised $100,000 to round up Democratic and independent votes for pro-Eisenhower candidates in the coming elections.

In a statement of "policy and objectives" issued at a luncheon meeting for the press group said:

1. Its goal will be the election of Republican congressional candidates who publicly request its assistance and who pledge support to the Eisenhower administration.

2. The key to Republican victory is the mobilization of Democratic and independent support in marginal districts behind strong pro-Eisenhower candidates.

3. In certain districts in the South "where it would be futile to run a candidate on a Republican ticket," the committee will support certain independent candidates "provided they will pledge in advance to vote with the Republican party on the organization of Congress."

4. Also, the committee will contribute toward a two-party system in the South by "providing a bridge for Democrats who would prefer to base their voting decisions on the issues involved and the candidates' qualifications, but who are not willing to register and work as Republicans."

5. The committee will not participate in Republican or Democratic primaries and will not conduct a campaign against any candidate.

James L. Murphy, of San Francisco, on leave from W. R. Grace & Co., is chairman of the citizens' committee, reactivated last year after disbanding with the election of Eisenhower.

Son For Dodges

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 18 (AP)—A son was born today to Horace Dodge III and his wife, the former actress Gregg Sherwood.

Mrs. Dodge was in Good Samaritan Hospital where she fled nearly a month ago "to protect myself and my unborn child." Quarreling with her husband had endangered her health, she said at the time.

Students Set Off Firecrackers And Spoil Ghost Hunt

HOLLYWELL, England, March 18 (AP)—The ghost of Ferry Boat Inn, it seems, was too thin to see or was frightened by some incorrigible Cambridge University students who set off a lot of firecrackers at the witching hour of midnight.

Members of the Psychic Research Society, led by chief ghost hunter A. D. Cornell, sat through the night at the Inn with such equipment as infra-red cameras, tape recorders and a spectroscope, hoping to make contact with Miss Juliet Tousley. According to local legend she is a 923-year-old specter who comes back to the old tavern on the night of St. Patrick's day.

Some members of the psychic society believe she came last night, because a glass tumbler on an ouija board moved about and apparently tried to spell out some words. But no one saw her, and maybe those Cambridge students spoiled the whole thing.

The Ferry Boat Inn landlord, Jack Rodd, got special permission to keep his tavern open later than usual, and the amateur ghost hunters caused a traffic jam. They were so numerous it was almost impossible to buy a drink in either of the two bars, then the firecrackers, and it was enough to scare the wits out of any ghost.

The ouija board was the only instrument to register anything. Observers thought it spelled out the name of Sir Oliver Lodge, noted spiritualist. Specter Juliet apparently tried to spell her name, and there was some vague verification of the legend that she committed suicide at the tavern because of a quarrel with her lover.

Westvaco Improves Pension Plans

Improvements in the retirement plans of both hourly paid and salaried employes of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company were approved by stockholders of the company at the annual meeting held yesterday.

The company estimates that changes made in the two plans will cost a total of $1,675,000 for additional past service credits and will increase annual costs by $362,000.

The stockholders also elected two new members to the board of directors and heard David L. Luke, Jr., president, express confidence in the stability of the corrugated box and container board business, despite recent declines in demand.

The revised pension plans approved by the stockholders give employes a chance of a non-contributory pension with benefits up to $60 per month at retirement, or a contributory pension which can provide retirement benefits up to about 50 per cent of an individual's average earnings during membership.

Both plans permit employes to earn pension credits over 40 years and provides that pensions payable under the plans are in addition to social security benefits due employes at age 65.

Effective April 1

The revised plans, which will become effective April 1, pending a favorable ruling by the Internal Revenue Service, will cover around 6,300 hourly paid employes and 1,150 salaried employes at the outset.

Pension expenditures authorized by the stockholders today bring to $15,197,000 the total provided by the company to date for its pension program since the first salaried plan was installed in 1944 and the first hourly plan went into effect in 1948.

The two new directors elected today were David L. Luke III, a vice president responsible for liaison with the company's subsidiaries, the coordination of research and planning and broad financial studies, and E. Crawley Williams Jr., resident manager of the company's Covington (Va.) plant. They succeed Fred A. Coe, former manager of the company's Mechanicsville (N. Y.) plant, who retired March 1, and Henry F. Harrison, a former vice president of the company. Harrison, who will be 87 in September, was the first employe hired by the original company following its organization in 1888 and has served the company for more than 64 years.

Reports On Earning

President David L. Luke Jr., reported to stockholders that the first consolidated earnings statement of West Virginia and its recently acquired domestic subsidiary, the Hinde and Dauch Paper Company, showed earnings of 47 cents per share for the first quarter ended January 31. This compares with earnings of 50 cents per share for the first quarter of 1953, based on separate performances of the two companies.

Net sales for the first quarter amounted to $40,304,000, as compared to $36,785,000 for the same period in 1953, and earnings, after taxes, came to $2,445,000, as compared to $2,584,000 in 1953.

Luke pointed out that the first quarter figures for 1953 were affected by the tail-end of a strike at three plants, while first quarter figures for this year were affected by strikes in the plants of several large customers of West Virginia, as well as a decline in the demand for container board.

"The decline in demand for container board results from only a moderate decline in the demand for corrugated boxes, but more importantly from inventory adjustments being worked out by box makers," Luke explained.

"Natural growth factors continually at work give us great confidence in the stability of the corrugated box business, as well as the future of the container board business," he said. "Fortunately the paper business—both white and kraft paper—has stood up very well under the much-discussed economic adjustments. Demand is good and prices are firm."

Luke said he felt justified in the hope that succeeding quarters of the year will average out at a little higher level than that of the first quarter, although inventory corrections and new production may depress the operating rate in the container board field.

An open house and dance will be held at the Elks home for the bowlers from the Johnstown, Pa., Lodge, tomorrow. Bowling will begin at 8 at the Savoy alleys, and following the match there is to be the dance.

Music will be by the Cavaliers.

Westvaco Improves Pension Plans

Improvements in the retirement plans of both hourly paid and salaried employes of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company were approved by stockholders of the company at the annual meeting held yesterday.

The company estimates that changes made in the two plans will cost a total of $1,675,000 for additional past service credits and will increase annual costs by $362,000.

The stockholders also elected two new members to the board of directors and heard David L. Luke, Jr., president, express confidence in the stability of the corrugated box and container board business, despite recent declines in demand.

The revised pension plans approved by the stockholders give employes a chance of a non-contributory pension with benefits up to $60 per month at retirement, or a contributory pension which can provide retirement benefits up to about 50 per cent of an individual's average earnings during membership.

Both plans permit employes to earn pension credits over 40 years and provides that pensions payable under the plans are in addition to social security benefits due employes at age 65.

Effective April 1

The revised plans, which will become effective April 1, pending a favorable ruling by the Internal Revenue Service, will cover around 6,300 hourly paid employes and 1,150 salaried employes at the outset.

Pension expenditures authorized by the stockholders today bring to $15,197,000 the total provided by the company to date for its pension program since the first salaried plan was installed in 1944 and the first hourly plan went into effect in 1948.

The two new directors elected today were David L. Luke III, a vice president responsible for liaison with the company's subsidiaries, the coordination of research and planning and broad financial studies, and E. Crawley Williams Jr., resident manager of the company's Covington (Va.) plant. They succeed Fred A. Coe, former manager of the company's Mechanicsville (N. Y.) plant, who retired March 1, and Henry F. Harrison, a former vice president of the company. Harrison, who will be 87 in September, was the first employe hired by the original company following its organization in 1888 and has served the company for more than 64 years.

Reports On Earning

President David L. Luke Jr., reported to stockholders that the first consolidated earnings statement of West Virginia and its recently acquired domestic subsidiary, the Hinde and Dauch Paper Company, showed earnings of 47 cents per share for the first quarter ended January 31. This compares with earnings of 50 cents per share for the first quarter of 1953, based on separate performances of the two companies.

Net sales for the first quarter amounted to $40,304,000, as compared to $36,785,000 for the same period in 1953, and earnings, after taxes, came to $2,445,000, as compared to $2,584,000 in 1953.

Luke pointed out that the first quarter figures for 1953 were affected by the tail-end of a strike at three plants, while first quarter figures for this year were affected by strikes in the plants of several large customers of West Virginia, as well as a decline in the demand for container board.

"The decline in demand for container board results from only a moderate decline in the demand for corrugated boxes, but more importantly from inventory adjustments being worked out by box makers," Luke explained.

"Natural growth factors continually at work give us great confidence in the stability of the corrugated box business, as well as the future of the container board business," he said. "Fortunately the paper business—both white and kraft paper—has stood up very well under the much-discussed economic adjustments. Demand is good and prices are firm."

Luke said he felt justified in the hope that succeeding quarters of the year will average out at a little higher level than that of the first quarter, although inventory corrections and new production may depress the operating rate in the container board field.

Driver Appeals Reckless Charge

The conviction of a reckless driving charge passed in Trial Magistrates Court last Tuesday has been appealed to Allegany County Circuit Court.

William C. Walsh, attorney for Paul G. Poland of 4 Turner Street, filed notice of the appeal yesterday.

Poland was found guilty by Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason of reckless driving in swerving his car in Milton Place, an alley leading to the strike-bound National Jet Company, at a picket.

Charges were preferred by Mrs. Pearl Clayton, Fort Ashby, who accused Poland of deliberately swerving the machine towards her.

The expression to "read the riot act" dates back to old laws which provided that a soldier read a notice warning a disorderly crowd of people to disperse before he could arrest any of them.

Judge E. A. See Tells Rotarians Of Enforcement

Cites Citizens' Duty Toward Law And Order

KEYSER—Judge Ernest A. See, Keyser, was guest speaker at the regular noon-luncheon meeting of the Keyser Rotary Club Thursday. His subject, "The Citizen's Part in Law Enforcement," was delivered in a manner that his audience could understand the mind of a jurist sitting on trial cases, sometimes with part of a jury panel made up of men who lack the ability to fully grasp the setting in a trial thus tying the hands of those who understand and are probably outvoted.

Jury duty, the judge said is one of the great parts of our Judicial system, and men should be willing to give some of their time as serving as jurymen because they are performing, not a duty, but a privilege in aiding in conducting the affairs of an important part of our government work.

Jury service is often considered as something to escape from by some citizens, but they don't understand what a vital part of citizenship this service is to the counties, states and national government, he concluded.

The Rotarians voted for the officers who are to serve the club for the coming year. Announcements will be made later.

At the next meeting of Rotary, Thursday, next week, The National Honor Society of Keyser High School, will present a program for Rotarians on civil defense.

Guests at Thursday's meeting were. Richard Michael and John Miller, Citizens of Tomorrow, and Perry Smith and Carroll Pollock, Cumberland club, and Tom Whelan, Piedmont.

Rumor Of Finding Old Gold Hoard Is Being Denied

SPRINGFIELD—A rumor spread yesterday of a treasure in gold or bonds found in an old Springfield home was discounted today by the owner.

Miss Mary Sue Milleson, owner of the old Abernathy property on the outskirts of Springfield, said there was no truth to the "gold" story.

The rumor that has been spreading like wildfire is that workmen tearing two rooms off the home which is over 100 years old found $90,000 in gold coins or bonds. The tale goes on to state that the money was deposited in a Cumberland bank for safekeeping.

Miss Milleson belittled the story stating that it is just "town gossip."

She did corroborate the fact that the two rooms were razed, but added that nothing was found.

Judge E. A. See Tells Rotarians Of Enforcement

Cites Citizens' Duty Toward Law And Order

KEYSER—Judge Ernest A. See, Keyser, was guest speaker at the regular noon-luncheon meeting of the Keyser Rotary Club Thursday. His subject, "The Citizen's Part in Law Enforcement," was delivered in a manner that his audience could understand the mind of a jurist sitting on trial cases, sometimes with part of a jury panel made up of men who lack the ability to fully grasp the setting in a trial thus tying the hands of those who understand and are probably outvoted.

Jury duty, the judge said is one of the great parts of our Judicial system, and men should be willing to give some of their time as serving as jurymen because they are performing, not a duty, but a privilege in aiding in conducting the affairs of an important part of our government work.

Jury service is often considered as something to escape from by some citizens, but they don't understand what a vital part of citizenship this service is to the counties, states and national government, he concluded.

The Rotarians voted for the officers who are to serve the club for the coming year. Announcements will be made later.

At the next meeting of Rotary, Thursday, next week, The National Honor Society of Keyser High School, will present a program for Rotarians on civil defense.

Guests at Thursday's meeting were. Richard Michael and John Miller, Citizens of Tomorrow, and Perry Smith and Carroll Pollock, Cumberland club, and Tom Whelan, Piedmont.

Rumor Of Finding Old Gold Hoard Is Being Denied

SPRINGFIELD—A rumor spread yesterday of a treasure in gold or bonds found in an old Springfield home was discounted today by the owner.

Miss Mary Sue Milleson, owner of the old Abernathy property on the outskirts of Springfield, said there was no truth to the "gold" story.

The rumor that has been spreading like wildfire is that workmen tearing two rooms off the home which is over 100 years old found $90,000 in gold coins or bonds. The tale goes on to state that the money was deposited in a Cumberland bank for safekeeping.

Miss Milleson belittled the story stating that it is just "town gossip."

She did corroborate the fact that the two rooms were razed, but added that nothing was found.

States Attorney Lauds Irish At Elks Anniversary

Praises BPOE For Charity, Friendship

FROSTBURG — State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher paid tribute to the nation's citizens of Irish descent and the "fellowship and friendship" of members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks Wednesday as Frostburg Lodge 470 observed its fifty-fifth anniversary with a dinner and program at the Elks Home here.

Approximately 140 members, including guests from Cumberland and Keyser, attended the dinner which also honored six charter members of Frostburg Lodge. They are A. Charles Stewart, Upton B. F. Edwards, William Jeffries, Charles S. Jeffries, Dr. I. L. Ritter, and William J. Edwards, Cumberland city councilman.

Fred L. Stoudt, exalted ruler, welcomed the guests and introduced Stewart, who served as toastmaster. Arthur L. Kirby, district deputy grand exalted ruler, presented a past president's pin to Stoudt.

25-Year Members Listed

It was also announced that 25-year member pins will be awarded in the near future to Julius Abramson, Myer Abramson, Jacob R. Gangey, George B. Hale, Leo McNeill, Rudolph Mendelsohn, W. R. Anthony, John Keller, Morris Dantzic, John L. Durst, Dr. W. O. McLane and John J. Hafer.

Lloyd G. Griffith, who will succeed Stoudt as exalted ruler next month, urged members to continue to attend meetings and assist the lodge in its program of activities.

"Our nation is fortunate," Fletcher said, "in having so many of St. Patrick's followers come here from Ireland to settle and help build the country. The Irish are and have been among our finest people."

A number of Irish exiled from their country during rebellions, some of them having had death sentences for treason commuted, later became leaders in the United States, Australia and Canada, he added.

After dwelling on the close relationship between the Cumberland and Frostburg lodges for more than 50 years, Fletcher said "I've always found Elks to have a point of view, an attitude toward fellow members and other lodges of the order, that is somewhat different than that existing in any other organization."

Feeling Of Friendship

"I believe that most men join the Elks," he continued, "just for the satisfaction of friendship and fellowship, and because of their strong feeling of benevolence toward their community."

Upton B. F. Edwards concluding the program with a brief talk on "Looking Back on Our 55 Years." He recalled the stormy night of March 21, 1899, that 35 members of Cumberland Lodge made the trip to Frostburg in a special car on the C. and P. Railroad to institute Frostburg Lodge 470.

"The ceremony took place in the Masonic rooms of the First National Bank building," he said, "and it was a great night for our 48 charter members. Six of the 48 are still members, and of the Cumberland group the only survivor is D. Lindley Sloan."

The lodge had its first quarters in the Wehner Building, and later occupied rooms in the Eleanor and Betz buildings until purchasing the present home in 1940.

At a hearing before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle, Ritchie and police testified he was not traveling at excessive speed when his car struck and killed Richard Carl Davy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Davy, Ridge Street, Potomac Heights.

States Attorney Lauds Irish At Elks Anniversary

Praises BPOE For Charity, Friendship

FROSTBURG — State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher paid tribute to the nation's citizens of Irish descent and the "fellowship and friendship" of members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks Wednesday as Frostburg Lodge 470 observed its fifty-fifth anniversary with a dinner and program at the Elks Home here.

Approximately 140 members, including guests from Cumberland and Keyser, attended the dinner which also honored six charter members of Frostburg Lodge. They are A. Charles Stewart, Upton B. F. Edwards, William Jeffries, Charles S. Jeffries, Dr. I. L. Ritter, and William J. Edwards, Cumberland city councilman.

Fred L. Stoudt, exalted ruler, welcomed the guests and introduced Stewart, who served as toastmaster. Arthur L. Kirby, district deputy grand exalted ruler, presented a past president's pin to Stoudt.

25-Year Members Listed

It was also announced that 25-year member pins will be awarded in the near future to Julius Abramson, Myer Abramson, Jacob R. Gangey, George B. Hale, Leo McNeill, Rudolph Mendelsohn, W. R. Anthony, John Keller, Morris Dantzic, John L. Durst, Dr. W. O. McLane and John J. Hafer.

Lloyd G. Griffith, who will succeed Stoudt as exalted ruler next month, urged members to continue to attend meetings and assist the lodge in its program of activities.

"Our nation is fortunate," Fletcher said, "in having so many of St. Patrick's followers come here from Ireland to settle and help build the country. The Irish are and have been among our finest people."

A number of Irish exiled from their country during rebellions, some of them having had death sentences for treason commuted, later became leaders in the United States, Australia and Canada, he added.

After dwelling on the close relationship between the Cumberland and Frostburg lodges for more than 50 years, Fletcher said "I've always found Elks to have a point of view, an attitude toward fellow members and other lodges of the order, that is somewhat different than that existing in any other organization."

Feeling Of Friendship

"I believe that most men join the Elks," he continued, "just for the satisfaction of friendship and fellowship, and because of their strong feeling of benevolence toward their community."

Upton B. F. Edwards concluding the program with a brief talk on "Looking Back on Our 55 Years." He recalled the stormy night of March 21, 1899, that 35 members of Cumberland Lodge made the trip to Frostburg in a special car on the C. and P. Railroad to institute Frostburg Lodge 470.

"The ceremony took place in the Masonic rooms of the First National Bank building," he said, "and it was a great night for our 48 charter members. Six of the 48 are still members, and of the Cumberland group the only survivor is D. Lindley Sloan."

The lodge had its first quarters in the Wehner Building, and later occupied rooms in the Eleanor and Betz buildings until purchasing the present home in 1940.

KEYSER—Lloyd Aller Ritchie, 21, of Spring Gap, has been absolved of blame in the traffic death of a ten-year-old Keyser boy.

Hospital Board Approves Plan For Parking Lot

The Board of Governors of Memorial Hospital have voted to proceed with plans for construction of a parking lot in the rear of the hospital.

The location of the lot, which will face Ridgewood Avenue, was discussed at Monday's meeting of the Mayor and City Council.

Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long stated Monday that residents of his neighborhood, the Ridgewood Avenue section, had asked him to ascertain if it is planned to build the parking lot closer to the street than is allowed in the zoning restrictions for that area.

Municipal Restrictions

It was pointed out that the building code in effect in the Johnson Heights section forbids building a home within 40 feet of the curb. City attorney, Thomas B. Finan told the council municipal zoning restrictions forbid construction of buildings within 20 feet of the curb.

William A. Gunter, chairman of the hospital board pointed out Wednesday the parking lot will not be used for commercial purposes and that the front lies 65 feet from the center of the street and is over 20 feet from the curb. Actually there is no curb on the street, but a drain runs more than 20 feet in front of the parking lot's opening.

James Weber, a member of the board, said the parking lot will not run to the sidewalk and that arrangements have been made to take care of water drainage. The residents of the area had said there was the possibility of water being shunted onto their properties. Weber pointed out that any drainage from the lot would flow into the ditch which runs on the hospital's side of the street.

Members of the board, City Attorney Thomas B. Finan and City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum inspected the process of grading the lot yesterday.

Mayor Makes Motion

Mayor Roy W. Eves, a member of the board, said that he could not see where the contractors are violating the zoning restrictions and made the motion to have plans proceed as scheduled.

Gunter recommended that the residents of the Memorial Hospital section make a visible inspection of the lot and he felt sure they would find that no laws had been broken.

John Moberly, superintendent of the hospital, said that the hospital has 225 patients and that a total of 1,000 to 1,500 persons visit the hospital daily. The parking facilities are very poor, he said, and during the evening the cars jam the parking lot in the rear of the building to the extent that it is a fire hazard.

The new parking lot will handle at least 50 cars, Moberly stated, and should help the parking situation greatly.

Officials Expedite Plans For Riverside Park Bridge

Engineers met yesterday at the Cumberland-Ridgeley dam to make plans for the construction of the inter-state bridge on its superstructure.

Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, said the American Bridge Company, successful bidder on the bridge, will have steel shipped to the site by August 31.

Attending the session were Nuzum, G. Bates Chaires, western district engineer for the Maryland State Roads Commission; George Hale, maintenance engineer for the SRC in Allegany County; Eirich Gronbach, superintendent for the E. J. Albrecht Company, constructors of the dam; Russell Quinn, Keyser, District 5 engineer for the West Virginia State Roads Commission; J. J. Melody, construction engineer for the W. Va. SRC in District 5, and William J. Moore Jr., construction manager for the American Bridge Company.

Share Responsibility

The purpose of the session was to correlate all plans necessary for the two approaches and the superstructure erection of steel.

It is the responsibility of the City of Cumberland to take care of the Maryland approach and the West Virginia SRC for the West Virginia approach, Nuzum said.

The Corps of Army Engineers, the city and the West Virginia SRC are working out plans to place 1,500 cubic yards of impervious fill material on the West Virginia side and 1,300 cubic yards of the same on the Maryland side.

Nuzum said it is hoped the Corps of Army Engineers will authorize this work to be done under the present contract to avoid any delay. The city could not authorize this work without advertising for bids, it was pointed out at a recent meeting of the Mayor and Council.

Approaches Ready In August

All of the engineers have agreed that the approaches should be completed by August 31 so as American Bridge Company would not be held up.

While Moore is here, he will contact the C&A Gas Company, the C&P Telephone Company and the Potomac Edison regarding details or agreements necessary for utility lines on the bridge.

He also will ask the city to work with Ridgeley regarding the water line that supplies the town. The present one will be removed when the Johnson Street bridge is torn down.

Mayor Roy W. Eves, a member of the board, said that he could not see where the contractors are violating the zoning restrictions and made the motion to have plans proceed as scheduled.

Gunter recommended that the residents of the Memorial Hospital section make a visible inspection of the lot and he felt sure they would find that no laws had been broken.

John Moberly, superintendent of the hospital, said that the hospital has 225 patients and that a total of 1,000 to 1,500 persons visit the hospital daily. The parking facilities are very poor, he said, and during the evening the cars jam the parking lot in the rear of the building to the extent that it is a fire hazard.

The new parking lot will handle at least 50 cars, Moberly stated, and should help the parking situation greatly.

Officials Expedite Plans For Riverside Park Bridge

Engineers met yesterday at the Cumberland-Ridgeley dam to make plans for the construction of the inter-state bridge on its superstructure.

Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, said the American Bridge Company, successful bidder on the bridge, will have steel shipped to the site by August 31.

Attending the session were Nuzum, G. Bates Chaires, western district engineer for the Maryland State Roads Commission; George Hale, maintenance engineer for the SRC in Allegany County; Eirich Gronbach, superintendent for the E. J. Albrecht Company, constructors of the dam; Russell Quinn, Keyser, District 5 engineer for the West Virginia State Roads Commission; J. J. Melody, construction engineer for the W. Va. SRC in District 5, and William J. Moore Jr., construction manager for the American Bridge Company.

Share Responsibility

The purpose of the session was to correlate all plans necessary for the two approaches and the superstructure erection of steel.

It is the responsibility of the City of Cumberland to take care of the Maryland approach and the West Virginia SRC for the West Virginia approach, Nuzum said.

The Corps of Army Engineers, the city and the West Virginia SRC are working out plans to place 1,500 cubic yards of impervious fill material on the West Virginia side and 1,300 cubic yards of the same on the Maryland side.

Nuzum said it is hoped the Corps of Army Engineers will authorize this work to be done under the present contract to avoid any delay. The city could not authorize this work without advertising for bids, it was pointed out at a recent meeting of the Mayor and Council.

Approaches Ready In August

All of the engineers have agreed that the approaches should be completed by August 31 so as American Bridge Company would not be held up.

While Moore is here, he will contact the C&A Gas Company, the C&P Telephone Company and the Potomac Edison regarding details or agreements necessary for utility lines on the bridge.

He also will ask the city to work with Ridgeley regarding the water line that supplies the town. The present one will be removed when the Johnson Street bridge is torn down.

Woman Is Fined In Assault Case

A Ridgeley area woman was fined $25 and costs in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday afternoon as a result of a spitting incident here last week.

Substitute Magistrate Morris Baron found the woman, Mrs. Georgie Peer, guilty of simple assault upon Norman Shaffer, Mt Savage, here last Thursday.

Shaffer has been an employe of the National Jet Company for about 10 months, and Mrs. Peer is presently on strike at the plant.

The decision was handed down on the basis of testimony from a disinterested witness to the incident, officials said.

Testimony disclosed that Shaffer parked last week on South Mechanic Street, opposite the Post Office, where he had gone to get an income tax blank.

When he returned to get into his car, Mrs. Peer and two other women were there, and the former spat on Shaffer as he opened the door of the car.

Daniel Hickerson Jr. pleaded guilty to the theft of the turkeys from a farm near High View and was sentenced by Judge Harlan M. Calhoun in Romney to serve the term in prison. James Armel, who also pleaded guilty to the same charge is being held in Winchester on grand larceny charges and Judge Calhoun withheld his sentence following arraignment, pending action by Winchester authorities.

Carl Allen Rhodes, 21, of Romney, who was indicted on charges of breaking and entering the home of Miss Nellie Kidwell in Romney, was examined by the Mental Hygiene Commission and ordered to Western State Hospital for further examination and treatment.

Several petit cases remain on the docket and will be tried in the April term of court in Romney.

W. Va. Gas Rate Case Opens

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 18 (AP) — Counsel for the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. said today its 1953 return on plant investment in West Virginia was less than one-fourth the return normally permitted a public utility.

Attorney H. A. Kramer said the company's 1953 earnings in West Virginia amounted to a return of only 1.4 per cent on a plant investment of $6,675,000.

Kramer made the statement at a Public Service Commission hearing on Cumberland and Allegheny's application for a natural gas rate increase.

The proposed increase, which the company estimated would add $632,000 to annual revenues, would affect 16,500 customers in 10 central and eastern counties of West Virginia.

At the conclusion of today's session, the PSC continued the case to May 10. Protesting parties will be given an opportunity at that time to cross-examine company witnesses and present their own evidence.

Appearing as a protestant today was attorney Bonn Brown of Elkins, representing the Inter-Community League of Central Eastern West Virginia. The organization, made up of various groups in seven of the counties in Cumberland and Allegheny territory, received its state charter only today.

Also present in protest against the increase were Fred S. Ballard, mayor of Buckhannon, and a three-member committee representing the Buckhannon Chamber of Commerce.

Cumberland and Allegheny now has three rate zones in West Virginia. In the pending case here and in a similar one in Maryland, it seeks to replace the varying rate scales with a uniform, system-wide schedule.

C. A. Massa, vice president of the utility, testified that about half the company's residential customers in the state use gas only for cooking and heating. He said the proposed increase would add from 50 cents to $1.44 to their monthly gas bills.

He said the increase for home-heating customers at Ridgeley during the heating season would be about $3.70 a month.

Cumberland and Allegheny serves customers in Harrison, Barbour, Braxton, Grant, Lewis, Mineral, Preston, Randolph, Tucker and Upshur counties.

ST. LOUIS' WALLY MOON

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—It is a good thing that Wally Moon was not born in the hills of Kentucky because already they are calling him "Moonshine."

You wouldn't know much about this 23-year-old outfielder in camp here despite the fact he has a number on the score card but when you talk to Manager Eddie Stanky he tells you about him.

"I'd say," says Eddie, "that that fellow is the best looking future prospect we have in camp."

Moon was Arkansas-born, at a little town called Bay, and he's among the extras the Cards have brought here to look over.

It is very doubtful that he will break into a lineup that includes Stan Musial, Enos Slaughter and Rip Repulski in the outfield but he has the makings and is creating quite an impression here.

MOON is a lefthanded batter and throws right. He has had only three years of minor league ball, doing well at Rochester last season when he batted .308 and hit 12 home runs and did a fine job in the field.

A graduate of Legion and sandlot ball, Moon did not play baseball in high school but won a baseball and basketball scholarship to Texas A. and M. college where he was all-conference two years.

The Cards signed him although virtually every other major league club had scouts after him.

In his first season of pro ball, 1950, he hit .317 for Omaha. He stayed out of the 1951 season to follow his ROTC work and then returned late in 1952 and finished that season with Omaha.

During this last winter season he played ball in Venezuela where he finished with a .322 average.

He was quite a basketball player in high school, hitting 40 points a game more than once. He since has taught and coached the cage sport.

Moon is married and has an 8-month-old child. His brother Wayne played pro ball with Shreveport. His father is employed by a sewing machine company.

The young rookie is handy at the woodworking art, which he learned from his father. He spends his spare time making chairs, stools and other household items.

This is the first time the Cards have had a look at him and they like what they see.

Kryhoski Will Be Idle Six Weeks

BALTIMORE, March 18 (AP) — Dick Kryhoski, Baltimore Orioles first baseman who suffered a wrist fracture last week, will be out of action about six more weeks, Dr. George Bennett said today.

Kryhoski visited the Baltimore bone surgeon for examination of the injured wrist, then headed for his East Orange, N.J. home to sit out the healing period.

Bennett said the cast could be removed from the southpaw's left wrist in three or four weeks but Kryhoski won't be able to throw or bat until early May.

Wall, Haas Tie Boros, Harrison

Two Teams Show Way In Four Ball Tests

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 18 (AP)—Slender Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., stood out with a hot round of 64, eight under par, today as two teams of professionals battled to a first round deadlock in the $15,000 International Four Ball Golf Tournament.

Wall rattled the cups for eight birdies to carry he and his partner, Fred Haas Jr. of New Orleans, into a tie for the lead with Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N. C., and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Ardmore, Okla.

Their best ball scores of 62, which knocked 10 strokes off par for the 6,657-yard Normandy Shores Club, gave them a one-stroke lead over the nearest opposition in the field of 39 pro teams and one amateur duet.

Haas dropped a 25-foot putt for a birdie on the first hole to get he and Wall away to a flying start. Wall birdied the fourth and both trimmed a stroke off par at the fifth.

Other scores included:

Jim Ferrier, San Francisco, and Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., 34-31—65, tie with six others.

Larry Hardman Stars As UHS Tops Warwood

Morgantown Star Gets 41 Points; Mullens And Stonewall Teams Win

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 18—Beckley High School forged into the semi-finals of West Virginia's Class A schoolboy basketball tournament tonight by defeating Elkins High School in the final game of the first round. The score was 55-47.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 18 (AP)—Big Larry Hardman set an individual single-game meet scoring record with 41 points tonight to spark University High's 71-66 victory over Warwood and put the Morgantown crew in the semi-finals of the high school Class A basketball tournament with Stonewall Jackson and Mullens

Mullens pulled a come-from-behind victory out of the fire and downed Huntington East, 74-70. Stonewall turned in a surprisingly easy 73-58 conquest of Parkersburg.

The amazing Hardman, shooting most of the time from just below the basket, sank his first eighteen tries from the field and wound up with 19 field goals for 21 tries.

The 6-5 senior from University High broke the old record of 38 points set in 1951 by Charles Huggins of Morgantown despite the fact that he fouled out with 4:11 remaining in the game.

Mullens Winner, 68-64

With 10 straight points in the last two minutes of play, six of them by Willie Akers, Mullens erased a 68-64 Huntington East advantage and put its game on ice before 6,000 fans.

Stonewall Jackson, minus its star Jim Laughlin, put the hex on a demoralized Parkersburg crew in the third quarter and held the Big Reds to only two field goals and three free throws during that period. Laughlin, who had four fouls called on him in the first half, wasn't put back into the game until the last quarter.

Huntington East, trailing 39-36 at the end of the first half, jumped into a lead as the third period began on a set shot by Bob Townsend and a tip-in by Dave Kirk.

Akers grabbed off 11 of Mullens' 35 rebounds, while Kirk collected 10 and Townsend nine of East's total of 37. East hit on 27 of its 59 field goal tries, with Mullens connecting on only 24 of 64 shots. Kirk topped all scorers with 28 points. Tabscott led Mullens with 21.

Laughlin Scores 23

Parkersburg, tabbed by many to displace Beckley this year as the Class A champion, couldn't contend with Stonewall's well balanced aggregation and control of the ball.

Despite the fact that the big Laughlin was out of action for one full quarter, he still led all scorers with 23 points. Parkersburg's usually high scoring Dick Custer, a 6-5 senior, was held to 18 points, high for the Big Reds.

Lakers Win, 90-85

FORT WAAYNE, Ind., March 18 (AP)—Paced by George Mikan, who scored 28 points, Minneapolis took the lead in the Western Division National Basketball Assn. round-robin playoffs tonight, defeating Fort Wayne 90-85.

K-C Tighten Grip On 2nd

Knights Top GFC, 3-0; Stadium Winner, 2-1

Cumberland's Knight's of Columbus tightened their grip on second place and at the same time gained a full game on the front-running Stadium Inn, of Frostburg, by sweeping three games from the Goodfellowship Club last night in the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League.

The Knights trail Stadium Inn, which scored a 2-1 win over Hann's Tavern, by the margin of seven games, and are now five games in front of third place Fisher & Robinette, defeated in two games last night by the Frostburg K. of C.

Cumberland's Amvets moved within a game of Fisher and Robinette by defeating the Cumberland V.F.W., 2-1.

Records of the four top teams are: Stadium Inn 58-14, Cumberland K. of C. 51-21, Fisher & Robinette 46-26, Cumberland Amvets 45-27.

In other matches last night, Mt. Savage V.F.W. topped Frostburg Golden Nugget, 2-1; Purple Heart Club defeated Frostburg American Legion, 2-1, and Mike Miller's Frostburg scored a 2-1 decision over Cas Taylor's.

High scorers:

J. Neder, Mt. Savage, 28; Golden Nugget, 18; Eddie Jackson, Frostburg K. of C. 27; Robinette of Fisher & Robinette 24; Zembower, Cumberland K. of C. 22; K. Roby, Goodfellowship 20; T. Morgan, Purple Heart Club, 25; D. Christopher, Frostburg Legion, 17; Mike Miller of Mike Miller's 21; Fisher, Cas Taylor's, 26; C. Green, M. Stangle and C. Duckworth, Stadium Inn, tied at 13; P. Lease, Hann's Tavern, 20; T. Geatz, Amvets, 19; Laurent, Cumberland V. F. W. 25.

Phillies Score Over Milwaukee

Torgeson Steals Show In 12 To 10 Triumph

BRADENTON, Fla., March 18 (AP) — Sparked by the slugging power of Earl Torgeson, the Philadelphia Phillies pounded out a 12-10 win over the Milwaukee Braves today.

Torgeson was close to sensational as he hit safely his first four times at the plate—a double, single, triple and single in that order. He scored two runs, batted in a pair and helped set the stage for another tally.

The Phils pushed over nine of their runs in a big fourth inning, topped by Torgeson's two-run triple.

Curt Simmons started on the mound for the winners, giving up seven hits and five runs in the first four innings. He got credit for the victory.

DENVER, March 18 (AP) — Cofavorite Phillips of Bartlesville, Okla., was knocked over by unseeded San Diego, 63-58, but Peoria's defending champions squeezed through the quarterfinals of the National AAU Basketball Tournament tonight by edging San Francisco's Young Men's Institute, 56-55.

Sen. Langer Charges August Busch Uses Cards To Boost Beer Sales

Sen. Johnson Argues Ties Must Be Dropped

By HERB ALTSCHULL

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—A move developed in the Senate today to force baseball to scrap all ties with business firms subject to the nation's anti-trust laws.

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Col), president of the Western League, argued before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee that these ties must be abandoned if baseball is to maintain its position as a national sport. The Supreme Court has ruled that baseball itself is not subject to the anti-trust laws.

Would Broaden Bill

Johnson spoke in support of his bill to make baseball clubs owned by beer or liquor interests subject to the anti-trust laws because of such ownership, but the senator said he was willing to broaden the bill to include all businesses now under the monopoly laws. These laws apply to all business firms operating in interstate commerce.

The Justice Department said it opposed Johnson's original bill as "discriminatory" but had no objection to a broadened bill.

Stanley N. Barnes, chief of the department's anti-trust division, said he doesn't believe even the broadened bill would go far enough. Barnes said he wanted to make all baseball subject to the anti-trust laws.

Johnson's bill got backing from Sen. Langer (R-ND), chairman of the subcommittee, who said it was "very plain" Anheuser-Busch was using the St. Louis Cardinals to sell Budweiser beer.

Measure Aimed At Busch

The Colorado senator said his bill was aimed specifically at August A. Busch, owner of the Cardinals and of Anheuser-Busch.

Johnson said sales of Busch's beer had been boosted 17 per cent in areas covered by the radio network which broadcasts Cardinals' games and advertises the beer.

In addition, Johnson said, Busch was able to write off losses incurred in operating the Cardinals for income tax purposes in the Anheuser-Busch operation. Johnson said the Cardinals are a "wholly-owned subsidiary" of the brewery.

Foes of Johnson's bill conceded privately it was a good bet the measure would go to the Senate floor for debate this year.

Joey Giardello, Willie Troy To Tangle Tonight

Middleweight Scrap Is Set For Garden

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP)—Clever Joey Giardello, the second ranking middleweight contender, and Willie Troy, of good punch, no clinch fame, meet tomorrow in a ten rounder that has created more interest among the fans than most of the recent title fights.

It's a tough one to pick and the odds reflect the indecision of most observers on the outcome. Giardello originally was favored but the odds today were 6-5 and take your choice.

Although the 10 p.m. Garden bout will be broadcast and telecast locally and nationally, a turnout of 9,000 fans is expected to pay about $35,000. That's exceptionally good in these days of TV.

Boxing writers are divided on the outcome and the pick here is an uncertain one for Giardello on his boxing skill and experience.

The 23-year-old Giardello, Brooklyn-born and now a Philadelphia resident, has met the better fighters. He has had 63 fights (48-10-5 record) and feels he will win on his greater speed, faster hands, and all-round skill. He turned puncher in his last few fights and kayoed Garth Panter and Walter Cartier. He has 16 kayos to his credit and has been stopped twice.

The 21-year-old Troy, of Washington, D. C., has come along fast in the past year to gain a No. 7 ranking. He has flattened his last seven rivals and has a 26-1 record with 20 KOs. He is six feet to Joey's 5-10 and outreaches Giardello by two inches. Willie has a head-snapping jab to go with his hard left hook and powerful right.

His most notable victory was a five round KO of Lee Sala Sept. 23. His sole defeat was a TKO loss to Holly Mims in eight rounds a year ago.

Frank Leahy To Head Public Relations Firm

TAMPA, Fla., March 18 (AP) — Frank Leahy, who retired as football coach at Notre Dame seven weeks ago, tonight announced he will enter sales work and become president of a public relations firm.

His main interest will be vice president in charge of sales of the Exothermic Alloys Sales and Service, Inc., with headquarters in Chicago. This company is sales agent for Chromium Mining and Smelting Corp., which services the iron and steel industry.

Chester Panthers Have Beaten Six Class A Schools

Loom As Tough Foe For Piedmont High

Coach Max Tuttle's Chester High School's Panthers who will oppose Piedmont High School in the semi-finals of the West Virginia Class B basketball tournament today at Morgantown loom as one of the best teams the Lions have faced this season.

The Hancock Countians have won 19 and lost five and their most impressive showing was against Class "A" schools of Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia. The Panthers played games with "A" schools and won six of them. Their wins were at the expense of Rochester, Hopewell and Carnegie, Pa., Wheeling Vocational and Wellsburg, W. Va., and Jefferson Union, Ohio. The defeat came at the hands of Moundsville High School, 51-46.

Two of Chester's defeats were meted out by Toronto High of Ohio, one of the better teams in the Ohio Valley with a 17-2 record. Wellsville, which split even with Chester, copped 14 out of 20 and was runner-up in the district finals in the Ohio Valley tournament.

Chester's starting five is Joe Delekta, 5-7 and Ed McLain, 6-1, at the forwards; Terry Martin, 6-2, center, and Ted Robinson, 5-11, and Howard Reed, 6 feet tall, at the guards. These five go most of the way with Robert Theiss, 6-1, a very capable sub at center or forward, and Jim Staley, 5-10.

All of Chester's starters are seniors. Delekta, Robinson and Martin were regulars on last year's team that bowed in the regional finals to Hundred. It was Hundred, also, that knocked Piedmont out of the 1953 tourney.

Delekta scored 286 points during the Panthers' 20-game season. Martin collected 259, Robinson 231, McLain 182 and Reed 106. In the four tournament games Delekta has 66, Robinson 60, McLain 41, Reed 30 and Martin 27.

Chester usually plays zone, will slow down game with possession ball and uses fast break at times.

Joe Tipton smashed a home run in the sixth inning to give the Senators a 6-5 lead but Cal Abrams doubled and Curtis Roberts singled in the seventh to tie the score before Gordon sealed the game with his homer. Nelson King held the Senators to two hits in the last six innings.

The win was Pittsburgh's seventh in nine games. The Pirates have hit 24 home runs in their last eight games.

ST. LOUIS' WALLY MOON

By WALTER L. JOHNS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—It is a good thing that Wally Moon was not born in the hills of Kentucky because already they are calling him "Moonshine."

In his first season of pro ball, 1950, he hit .317 for Omaha. He stayed out of the 1951 season to follow his ROTC work and then returned late in 1952 and finished that season with Omaha.

During this last winter season he played ball in Venezuela where he finished with a .322 average.

He was quite a basketball player in high school, hitting 40 points a game more than once. He since has taught and coached the cage sport.

Moon is married and has an 8-month-old child. His brother Wayne played pro ball with Shreveport. His father is employed by a sewing machine company.

The young rookie is handy at the woodworking art, which he learned from his father. He spends his spare time making chairs, stools and other household items.

Wall, Haas Tie Boros, Harrison

Two Teams Show Way In Four Ball Tests

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 18 (AP)—Slender Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., stood out with a hot round of 64, eight under par, today as two teams of professionals battled to a first round deadlock in the $15,000 International Four Ball Golf Tournament.

Wall rattled the cups for eight birdies to carry he and his partner, Fred Haas Jr. of New Orleans, into a tie for the lead with Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N. C., and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Ardmore, Okla.

Their best ball scores of 62, which knocked 10 strokes off par for the 6,657-yard Normandy Shores Club, gave them a one-stroke lead over the nearest opposition in the field of 39 pro teams and one amateur duet.

Haas dropped a 25-foot putt for a birdie on the first hole to get he and Wall away to a flying start. Wall birdied the fourth and both trimmed a stroke off par at the fifth.

Other scores included:

Jim Ferrier, San Francisco, and Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., 34-31—65, tie with six others.

Kryhoski Will Be Idle Six Weeks

BALTIMORE, March 18 (AP)—Dick Kryhoski, Baltimore Orioles first baseman who suffered a wrist fracture last week, will be out of action about six more weeks, Dr. George Bennett said today.

Kryhoski visited the Baltimore bone surgeon for examination of the injured wrist, then headed for his East Orange, N.J. home to sit out the healing period.

Bennett said the cast could be removed from the southpaw's left wrist in three or four weeks but Kryhoski won't be able to throw or bat until early May.

Wellersburg Team Will Meet Tonight

Larry Hardman Stars As UHS Tops Warwood

Morgantown Star Gets 41 Points; Mullens And Stonewall Teams Win

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 18—Beckley High School forged into the semi-finals of West Virginia's Class A schoolboy basketball tournament tonight by defeating Elkins High School in the final game of the first round. The score was 55-47.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 18 (AP)—Big Larry Hardman set an individual single-game meet scoring record with 41 points tonight to spark University High's 71-66 victory over Warwood and put the Morgantown crew in the semi-finals of the high school Class A basketball tournament with Stonewall Jackson and Mullens.

Mullens pulled a come-from-behind victory out of the fire and downed Huntington East, 74-70. Stonewall turned in a surprisingly easy 73-58 conquest of Parkersburg.

The amazing Hardman, shooting most of the time from just below the basket, sank his first eighteen tries from the field and wound up with 19 field goals for 21 tries.

The 6-5 senior from University High broke the old record of 38 points set in 1951 by Charles Huggins of Morgantown despite the fact that he fouled out with 4:11 remaining in the game.

Mullens Winner, 68-64

With 10 straight points in the last two minutes of play, six of them by Willie Akers, Mullens erased a 68-64 Huntington East advantage and put its game on ice before 6,000 fans.

Stonewall Jackson, minus its star Jim Laughlin, put the hex on a demoralized Parkersburg crew in the third quarter and held the Big Reds to only two field goals and three free throws during that period. Laughlin, who had four fouls called on him in the first half, wasn't put back into the game until the last quarter.

Huntington East, trailing 39-36 at the end of the first half, jumped into a lead as the third period began on a set shot by Bob Townsend and a tip-in by Dave Kirk.

Akers grabbed off 11 of Mullens' 35 rebounds, while Kirk collected 10 and Townsend nine of East's total of 37. East hit on 27 of its 59 field goal tries, with Mullens connecting on only 24 of 64 shots. Kirk topped all scorers with 28 points. Tabscott led Mullens with 21.

Laughlin Scores 23

Parkersburg, tabbed by many to displace Beckley this year as the Class A champion, couldn't contend with Stonewall's well balanced aggregation and control of the ball.

Despite the fact that the big Laughlin was out of action for one full quarter, he still led all scorers with 23 points. Parkersburg's usually high scoring Dick Custer, a 6-5 senior, was held to 18 points, high for the Big Reds.

Lakers Win, 90-85

FORT WAAYNE, Ind., March 18 (AP)—Paced by George Mikan, who scored 28 points, Minneapolis took the lead in the Western Division National Basketball Assn. round-robin playoffs tonight, defeating Fort Wayne 90-85.

K-C Tighten Grip On 2nd

Knights Top GFC, 3-0; Stadium Winner, 2-1

Cumberland's Knight's of Columbus tightened their grip on second place and at the same time gained a full game on the front-running Stadium Inn, of Frostburg, by sweeping three games from the Goodfellowship Club last night in the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League.

The Knights trail Stadium Inn, which scored a 2-1 win over Hann's Tavern, by the margin of seven games, and are now five games in front of third place Fisher & Robinette, defeated in two games last night by the Frostburg K. of C.

Cumberland's Amvets moved within a game of Fisher and Robinette by defeating the Cumberland V.F.W., 2-1.

Records of the four top teams are: Stadium Inn 58-14, Cumberland K. of C. 51-21, Fisher & Robinette 46-26, Cumberland Amvets 45-27.

In other matches last night, Mt. Savage V.F.W. topped Frostburg Golden Nugget, 2-1; Purple Heart Club defeated Frostburg American Legion, 2-1, and Mike Miller's Frostburg scored a 2-1 decision over Cas Taylor's.

High scorers:

J. Neder, Mt. Savage, 28; Golden Nugget, 18; Eddie Jackson, Frostburg K. of C. 27; Robinette of Fisher & Robinette 24; Zembower, Cumberland K. of C. 22; K. Roby, Goodfellowship 20; T. Phillies Score Over Milwaukee

Torgeson Steals Show In 12 To 10 Triumph

BRADENTON, Fla., March 18 (AP)—Sparked by the slugging power of Earl Torgeson, the Philadelphia Phillies pounded out a 12-10 win over the Milwaukee Braves today.

Torgeson was close to sensational as he hit safely his first four times at the plate—a double, single, triple and single in that order. He scored two runs, batted in a pair and helped set the stage for another tally.

The Phils pushed over nine of their runs in a big fourth inning, topped by Torgeson's two-run triple.

Curt Simmons started on the mound for the winners, giving up seven hits and five runs in the first four innings. He got credit for the victory.

Sen. Langer Charges August Busch Uses Cards To Boost Beer Sales

Sen. Johnson Argues Ties Must Be Dropped

By HERB ALTSCHULL

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—A move developed in the Senate today to force baseball to scrap all ties with business firms subject to the nation's anti-trust laws.

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Col), president of the Western League, argued before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee that these ties must be abandoned if baseball is to maintain its position as a national sport. The Supreme Court has ruled that baseball itself is not subject to the anti-trust laws.

Would Broaden Bill

Johnson spoke in support of his bill to make baseball clubs owned by beer or liquor interests subject to the anti-trust laws because of such ownership, but the senator said he was willing to broaden the bill to include all businesses now under the monopoly laws. These laws apply to all business firms operating in interstate commerce.

The Justice Department said it opposed Johnson's original bill as "discriminatory" but had no objection to a broadened bill.

Stanley N. Barnes, chief of the department's anti-trust division, said he doesn't believe even the broadened bill would go far enough. Barnes said he wanted to make all baseball subject to the anti-trust laws.

Johnson's bill got backing from Sen. Langer (R-ND), chairman of the subcommittee, who said it was "very plain" Anheuser-Busch was using the St. Louis Cardinals to sell Budweiser beer.

Measure Aimed At Busch

The Colorado senator said his bill was aimed specifically at August A. Busch, owner of the Cardinals and of Anheuser-Busch.

Johnson said sales of Busch's beer had been boosted 17 per cent in areas covered by the radio network which broadcasts Cardinals' games and advertises the beer.

In addition, Johnson said, Busch was able to write off losses incurred in operating the Cardinals for income tax purposes in the Anheuser-Busch operation. Johnson said the Cardinals are a "wholly-owned subsidiary" of the brewery.

Joey Giardello, Willie Troy To Tangle Tonight

Middleweight Scrap Is Set For Garden

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP)—Clever Joey Giardello, the second ranking middleweight contender, and Willie Troy, of good punch, no clinch fame, meet tomorrow in a ten rounder that has created more interest among the fans than most of the recent title fights.

It's a tough one to pick and the odds reflect the indecision of most observers on the outcome. Giardello originally was favored but the odds today were 6-5 and take your choice.

Although the 10 p.m. Garden bout will be broadcast and telecast locally and nationally, a turnout of 9,000 fans is expected to pay about $35,000. That's exceptionally good in these days of TV.

Boxing writers are divided on the outcome and the pick here is an uncertain one for Giardello on his boxing skill and experience.

The 23-year-old Giardello, Brooklyn-born and now a Philadelphia resident, has met the better fighters. He has had 63 fights (48-10-5 record) and feels he will win on his greater speed, faster hands, and all-round skill. He turned puncher in his last few fights and kayoed Garth Panter and Walter Cartier. He has 16 kayos to his credit and has been stopped twice.

The 21-year-old Troy, of Washington, D. C., has come along fast in the past year to gain a No. 7 ranking. He has flattened his last seven rivals and has a 26-1 record with 20 KOs. He is six feet to Joey's 5-10 and outreaches Giardello by two inches. Willie has a head-snapping jab to go with his hard left hook and powerful right.

His most notable victory was a five round KO of Lee Sala Sept. 23. His sole defeat was a TKO loss to Holly Mims in eight rounds a year ago.

Frank Leahy To Head Public Relations Firm

TAMPA, Fla., March 18 (AP)—Frank Leahy, who retired as football coach at Notre Dame seven weeks ago, tonight announced he will enter sales work and become president of a public relations firm.

His main interest will be vice president in charge of sales of the Exothermic Alloys Sales and Service, Inc., with headquarters in Chicago. This company is sales agent for Chromium Mining and Smelting Corp., which services the iron and steel industry.

Pirates' Homers Defeat Senators

Buccaneers Get Four In 8 To 6 Triumph

ORLANDO, Fla., March 18 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates slammed four home runs to hand winless Washington a ninth straight defeat, 8-6, today.

Frank Thomas, Dale Long and Toby Atwell blasted home runs off Bob Porterfield in a four-run uprising to tie the score in the fourth inning. Sid Gordon belted a two-run homer off Sonny Dixon in the seventh inning to provide the margin of victory.

Joe Tipton smashed a home run in the sixth inning to give the Senators a 6-5 lead but Cal Abrams doubled and Curtis Roberts singled in the seventh to tie the score before Gordon sealed the game with his homer. Nelson King held the Senators to two hits in the last six innings.

The win was Pittsburgh's seventh in nine games. The Pirates have hit 24 home runs in their last eight games.

Baltimore Wins Over Cleveland

Young's 3-Run Triple Decides Battle, 7-6

TUCSON, Ariz., March 18 (AP)—Bobby Young's bases-loaded triple in the seventh inning provided the edge today for the Baltimore Orioles, who defeated the Cleveland Indians 7-6. It was the Orioles' 10th victory in 12 exhibition games and the Indians' fifth straight loss.

The Indians scored three runs off winner Duane Pillette in the ninth inning, but with two out, outfielder Larry Doby took a third strike, ending the game with the bases filled.

Bob Kennedy homered for the Indians and Don Lenhardt for the Orioles.

Pitchers Art Houtteman and Bill Wight held the Orioles scoreless through the first six innings, each allowing one hit in a three-inning stint. But the Orioles pounced on rookie Don Fracchia for five runs in the seventh and got two more off Marian Murszewski in the eighth.

Chester Panthers Have Beaten Six Class A Schools

Loom As Tough Foe For Piedmont High

Coach Max Tuttle's Chester High School's Panthers who will oppose Piedmont High School in the semi-finals of the West Virginia Class B basketball tournament today at Morgantown loom as one of the best teams the Lions have faced this season.

The Hancock Countians have won 19 and lost five and their most impressive showing was against Class "A" schools of Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia. The Panthers played games with "A" schools and won six of them. Their wins were at the expense of Rochester, Hopewell and Carnegie, Pa., Wheeling Vocational and Wellsburg, W. Va., and Jefferson Union, Ohio. The defeat came at the hands of Moundsville High School, 51-46.

Two of Chester's defeats were meted out by Toronto High of Ohio, one of the better teams in the Ohio Valley with a 17-2 record. Wellsville, which split even with Chester, copped 14 out of 20 and was runner-up in the district finals in the Ohio Valley tournament.

Chester's starting five is Joe Delekta, 5-7 and Ed McLain, 6-1, at the forwards; Terry Martin, 6-2, center, and Ted Robinson, 5-11, and Howard Reed, 6 feet tall, at the guards. These five go most of the way with Robert Theiss, 6-1, a very capable sub at center or forward, and Jim Staley, 5-10.

All of Chester's starters are seniors. Delekta, Robinson and Martin were regulars on last year's team that bowed in the regional finals to Hundred. It was Hundred, also, that knocked Piedmont out of the 1953 tourney.

Delekta scored 286 points during the Panthers' 20-game season. Martin collected 259, Robinson 231, McLain 182 and Reed 106. In the four tournament games Delekta has 66, Robinson 60, McLain 41, Reed 30 and Martin 27.

Gulfers Usher Out Beightol's By Score 56-38

Grocers Oust Dingle, 47-34; Frostburg And Keyser Quints Score

Sisk's Gulfers hurdled Beightol's Bouncers to advance into the finals of the Senior Unlimited Class last night in the ninth annual basketball tournament sponsored by the Central Y.M.C.A. and Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce. The score of the final game on the fourth night's program was 56-38.

Sparked by Eddie Fritz, who scored 19 points, the Gulfers took a 15-8 lead at the quarter, increased their lead to 13 points at halftime, 31-18, and held the long end of a 40-29 score at the conclusion of the third period.

Larry Bolyard took runner-up honors in scoring for Sisk's with 13 points. George McGregor of the Bouncers equalled Fritz's scoring performance by pacing Beightol's with 19 markers. Bill Shipley had 11 to his credit.

Sisk's will play in the finals next Thursday at 9:30 o'clock. Other teams in the running for senior honors are Ridgeley Legion, Valley Cheese Company and Yoder's Plumbers.

Last night's games concluded the first week's play in the tourney. Action will resume Monday at 6:30 o'clock. Sixteen of the original 32 starters remain in the running.

Grocers Reach Finals

Columbia Cash Grocery, skippered by Bill Bratt, became a 135-pound Class finalist by knocking off the Dingle Cleaners in the second game on last night's program. The score was 47-34.

It was the second win of the tourney for the Grocers and advanced them to next Thursday's final at 7:30 o'clock.

"Pooch" Lewis, who sparked Columbia to victory over Bud's Barbers on Tuesday, again head the attack with seven baskets and 17 points. "Buddy" Merrit garnered 13 and John Raupach racked up eleven. Gerald Harrison paced the losers with 10 markers.

Columbia led at the quarters, 12-9, 17-16 and 32-27.

Keyser Quint Wins, 57-44

Yoder's Plumbers, a Keyser aggregation, ushered Poling's Market out of the Senior Unlimited Class by winning to the tune of 57-44.

Dick Poe and Jimmy Clevenger accounted for 30 of the winning team's tallies with 15 points each. Gerald Cool contributed 10 points. High man for Poling's Market was Jimmy Eckard with 14 tallies. Paul McGregor had eleven and Mel Dean ten.

The Keyserites led throughout, the quarter scores being 14-9, 23-20 and 40-30.

Bowser's Cops Thriller

Bowser's Boys, of Frostburg, started off the evening's fireworks by edging Weatherholt's Wallopers in a 53-51 thriller in the 135-pound division.

The win advanced the Mountain City quint into a second round contest with Romig's Drug Store of Keyser on Monday at 7:30 p. m.

Weatherholt's quint held a five-point lead at 37-32 going into the final period but Bowser's Boys tied it up at 51-all with 50 seconds remaining in the last period. Dave Brode broke the tie by converting one of two free throws with six seconds left and Jerry Ferguson meshed another free throw two seconds before the final whistle. Frostburg lost Sam McCulloh on personal fouls with the score deadlocked at 51-51.

John Turner sparked the winners with nine field goals and 23 points. McCulloh was runner-up with 13. Bill Cook was high man for the Wallopers with 12 tallies while Mike Collins and Bill Fair collected eleven each.

Piedmont, Chester Clash Today In Tourney At Morgantown

Class B Opener Set For 1:30; Pax Plays Huntington Vinson

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 18 (AP) — From the four corners of the state Class B high school basketball champions meet here tomorrow for the semifinals of their division's state tournament.

The Class B squads—Chester, Huntington Vinson, Pax and Piedmont—take the stage for the first act of tomorrow's performance at the West Virginia University field house. The Class A semifinals are set for tomorrow night.

If one thing typifies the four Class B teams in this year's tournament, it is the unknown.

None of the coaches knows much about opposing teams. None of the teams have played each other. None of the teams have played in the state tournament before this year.

Chester's coach, Max Tuttle, said "We don't stand a chance against Piedmont."

However, Pax Coach Ken Legg predicted that Chester is the team to beat in the tourney.

Chester plays Piedmont tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. and Pax tangles with Huntington Vinson at 3:15. Finals in both the Class A and B sets will be played Saturday afternoon.

Tuttle said Piedmont was too big for his own team.

Dodgers Beat Yankees, 4-1

Brooklyn Chalks Up Ninth Straight Win

VERO BEACH, Fla., March 18 (AP)—Blanked by rookie Bob Grim until the seventh, the Brooklyn Dodgers rallied for four runs and overcame the world champion New York Yankees 4-1, for their ninth consecutive Grapefruit League victory today. It was the fifth straight setback for Casey Stengel's club.

Grim ran a string of scoreless innings to 12 and had allowed only one hit until an error by Phil Rizzuto started his downfall in the seventh.

The veteran shortstop's miscue put Carl Furillo on first base. Bill Cox then delivered the only clean hit of the inning and pitcher Johnny Podres beat out a bunt to load the bases.

Furillo scored when Gil Mc Dougald threw late to the plate after fielding a bounder by Junior Gilliam. Walks to PeeWee Reese and Duke Snider forced home two runs and the final tally came in on a long fly to left by Roy Campanella. Mel Wright relieved Grim and Gil Hodges drove his first pitch into a double play.

Grim also paved the way for the lone Yankee run with a tripple in the fifth inning. He scored on a single by Rizzuto.

Bradley, LaSalle Favored To Win

KANSAS CITY, March 18 (AP)—Bradley and LaSalle ruled slight favorites today to win the semi-final games in the National Collegiate basketball championships starting here tomorrow night.

However, form went by the boards so consistently in the earlier games in the sprawling 24-team NCAA tournament that any result here won't really be surprising.

Bradley meets Southern California in the first game, starting at 9 p.m. EST, and LaSalle faces Penn State in the nightcap.

Tigers Blank Bosox

LAKELAND, Fla., March 18 (AP) — The Detroit Tigers broke up a scoreless ball game in the eighth inning to shut out the Boston Red Sox 1-0 today.

Rookie outfielder Al Kaline's triple and veteran Johnny Pesky's single accounted for the lone run. Joe Dobson was on the mound for Boston when Detroit scored. Dobson had retired the first seven Tigers he faced before Kaline's triple ruined him.

Rookie Tom Brewer handcuffed the Tigers in the first five innings allowing only four hits.

Native Dancer To Race Again

BALTIMORE, March 18 (AP)—Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Native dancer, the horse beaten only once in two years, will head back to the races Saturday.

The powerful grey is to be shipped to Belmont in New York to tune up his speed for competition with older horses and weight handicaps.

Fast Chisox Seen Improved; Top Pitching, Strong Bench

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series on the major league teams. Others will follow on this page daily.

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

TAMPA, FLA.—It has been 30 years since the Chicago White Sox trained in Florida and it's been a bit longer than that since the Pale Hose have been able to win the pennant.

Maybe the change in training sites, from the west to the south, will do the trick. At least there are some who figure the White Sox once again will be in the pennant fight, despite those dam Yankees.

Manager Paul Richards, the long, lean manager of the Chisox, working his squad of 47 men at the all-green, newly-constructed Al Lopez field here, is hopeful, too, on improving his record of last year when the Windy City crew finished third, the best he's done in three seasons at the helm.

"We're a better ball club right now," Richards says. "We've got a little more pitching and a more established lineup. We've added some experienced help in Third Sacker Cass Michaels, and Outfielders Johnny Groth and Willard Marshall."

Richards, who has done wonders with the Sox in his three seasons at the helm, accenting the "Go! Go!" spirit to make up for the lack of power at the plate, bases his observations, also, on the fine record compiled by his two ace pitchers last year, Billy Pierce (18-12) and the fireballing Virgil Trucks, who finished with 20-10 although he started the 1953 season with St. Louis.

"I'm looking for those boys, and some of the others, to have just as good a season and see no reason to believe they won't," he says.

IN ADDITION to one of the better pitching staffs in the majors, Richards has a well-balanced club which is more or less set except for third base. And he has added bench strength and outfield help, both in veteran material and in what appear to be outstanding rookies.

For starters Richards can count on Pierce and Trucks. The others will come from a threesome which includes Sandy Consuegra, Bob Keegan and Mike Fornieles, all with the club last year.

Of especial interest here is Keegan, a righthander purchased from Syracuse prior to the start of the 1953 season. Keegan started off slow because of a sore arm but finished the 1953 season with four wins in his last five games, two of which were three-hit shutouts.

Among the newcomers on the firing line who are expected to make a real bid for front-line duty is Jack Harshman, a former first sacker with the Giants who turned pitcher in 1952 and last year had a 23-7 record with Nashville in the Southern association and then added four more victories in the playoffs and Dixie series.

"At this stage," says Richards, "it looks like Harshman has a real good chance on this club."

Another who may be a surprise package is Don Johnson, righthander, who originally came up in the Yankee chain back in 1944 and since has seen service with the Yanks, Browns and Washington.

There are several other pitchers who show promise in camp and included among these are Tom Hurd, 17-11 with Memphis; Dick Strahs, 16-8 with Memphis, and Al Zilian, 16-12 with Oklahoma City.

Two others, not on the White Sox roster, also have impressed. They are Dick Duffy and Bill Fisher, returning servicemen.

The catchers are Sherm Lollar, Carl Sawatski and Red Wilson. Sawatski, who was with the Chicago Cubs, is one of those big boys who has brought his tonnage down to around 220.

Ferris Fain, who won the batting crown in 1952 and then dropped to .256 average last year, is on first with Nellie Fox and Chico Carrasquel making up the second base-shortstop combo.

Michaels, procured from the A's, has played second and short but is giving third base a try. Minnie Minoso, the hitting star of the club, also may be a third sacker although he also plays the outfield.

For infield insurance there are Johnny Lipon, Freddie Marsh and Bob Boyd.

THE OUTFIELD appears one of the fastest in the leagues, particularly with the addition of Groth, a home town boy who spent last season with the then St. Louis Browns. But there could be quite a fight for positions here.

Minoso will play somewhere, probably in the outfield. That leaves the other two spots open and competing are Jim Rivera, Ed Stewart and Tom Wright, holdovers, and Willard Marshall, a power hitter from Cincinnati.

Two brilliant new candidates are making a bid, too. They are Bill Wilson, who smashed 34 homers and hit .311 for Memphis last year, and Ed White, a .330 hitter with the same club.

Wilson, says Richards, is a fine defensive player and has a good arm. His power at the plate will figure in his bid, also.

The White Sox have signed a five-year agreement to train here at Al Lopez field, which was built from scratch.

All who have seen Al Lopez field say it is the best. Stands, accommodating 5,000, will be built next year.

PALE HOSE PROGNOSTICATIONS

CHICAGO—Improved over last year; top pitching, plenty of speed, a set ball club. Fain should have a better year and the bench has been improved.

Marsh's Home Run Wins For Chisox, 5-4

TAMPA, Fla., March 18 (AP) — Freddie Marsh's ninth home run gave the Chicago White Sox a 5-4 victory today over the Athletics to end Philadelphia's seven-game winning streak.

Bill Wilson and Nellie Fox each hit Sox homers earlier.

New Yorkers Suffer 2nd Playoff Defeat

SYRACUSE, N.Y., March 18 (AP)—The Syracuse Nationals handed the New York Knickerbockers, Eastern Division champions, their second straight setback today in the National Basketball Association's round robin playoffs, 75-68. It was the second straight win for Syracuse.

The defeat sent the Knicks to the brink of elimination in the complicated playoffs adopted this year. The New Yorkers previously had lost to the Boston Celtics.

Syracuse has two victories and no defeats. Boston is 1-1 and New York is 0-2.

Redlegs Beat Cards, Temple Gets Four Hits

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 18 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds pounded five Cardinal pitchers for 15 hits today in handing the St. Louisans a 9-2 defeat in spring exhibition action.

Johnny Temple paced the Redleg attack with four singles.

Chief victims of Cincinnati batters were hurlers Niles Jordan, Royce Lint and John Romonsky who gave up 14 of the safeties and all the runs.

The Cards could get only six hits past the Reds' John Stewaart, Howard Judson, Bill Powell and Moe Savransky.

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 18 (AP)—The New York Giants reeled off their fifth straight victory today by turning back the Chicago Cubs 9-6 with home runs by Henry Thompson and Willie Mays pacing a 12-hit attack.

The Cubs suffered their sixth defeat in a row and now have won only once in ten games.

Larry Jansen started for the Giants, went three innings and was nicked for a two-run homer by rookie centerfielder Bob Talbot in the third. Southpaw Johnny Antonelli, who followed Jansen, was credited with the victory.

Piedmont, Chester Clash Today In Tourney At Morgantown

Class B Opener Set For 1:30; Pax Plays Huntington Vinson

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 18 (AP)—From the four corners of the state Class B high school basketball champions meet here tomorrow for the semifinals of their division's state tournament.

The Class B squads—Chester, Huntington Vinson, Pax and Piedmont—take the stage for the first act of tomorrow's performance at the West Virginia University field house. The Class A semifinals are set for tomorrow night.

If one thing typifies the four Class B teams in this year's tournament, it is the unknown.

None of the coaches knows much about opposing teams. None of the teams have played each other. None of the teams have played in the state tournament before this year.

Chester's coach, Max Tuttle, said "We don't stand a chance against Piedmont."

However, Pax Coach Ken Legg predicted that Chester is the team to beat in the tourney.

Chester plays Piedmont tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. and Pax tangles with Huntington Vinson at 3:15. Finals in both the Class A and B sets will be played Saturday afternoon.

Tuttle said Piedmont was too big for his own team.

Dodgers Beat Yankees, 4-1

Brooklyn Chalks Up Ninth Straight Win

VERO BEACH, Fla., March 18 (AP)—Blanked by rookie Bob Grim until the seventh, the Brooklyn Dodgers rallied for four runs and overcame the world champion New York Yankees 4-1, for their ninth consecutive Grapefruit League victory today. It was the fifth straight setback for Casey Stengel's club.

Grim ran a string of scoreless innings to 12 and had allowed only one hit until an error by Phil Rizzuto started his downfall in the seventh.

The veteran shortstop's miscue put Carl Furillo on first base. Bill Cox then delivered the only clean hit of the inning and pitcher Johnny Podres beat out a bunt to load the bases.

Furillo scored when Gil Mc Dougald threw late to the plate after fielding a bounder by Junior Gilliam. Walks to PeeWee Reese and Duke Snider forced home two runs and the final tally came in on a long fly to left by Roy Campanella. Mel Wright relieved Grim and Gil Hodges drove his first pitch into a double play.

Grim also paved the way for the lone Yankee run with a tripple in the fifth inning. He scored on a single by Rizzuto.

New York (A)	000 010 000	—1 6 3
Brooklyn	000 000 40x	—4 3 0

Grim, Wright (7), Terry (8) and Berra; Erskine, Podres (7) and Campanella.

Bradley, LaSalle Favored To Win

KANSAS CITY, March 18 (AP)—Bradley and LaSalle ruled slight favorites today to win the semi-final games in the National Collegiate basketball championships starting here tomorrow night.

However, form went by the boards so consistently in the early-games in the sprawling 24-team NCAA tournament that any result here won't really be surprising.

Bradley meets Southern California in the first game, starting at 9 p.m. EST, and LaSalle faces Penn State in the nightcap.

Tigers Blank Bosox

LAKELAND, Fla., March 18 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers broke up a scoreless ball game in the eighth inning to shut out the Boston Red Sox 1-0 today.

Rookie outfielder Al Kaline's triple and veteran Johnny Pesky's single accounted for the lone run. Joe Dobson was on the mound for Boston when Detroit scored. Dobson had retired the first seven Tigers he faced before Kaline's triple ruined him.

Detroit	000 000 01x	—1 6 0

Brewer, Dobson (6) and White, Norton (6); Gromek, Lary (6), Miller (9), and Bucha.

At The Tracks

Native Dancer To Race Again

BALTIMORE, March 18 (AP)—Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Native dancer, the horse beaten only once in two years, will head back to the races Saturday.

The powerful grey is to be shipped to Belmont in New York to tune up his speed for competition with older horses and weight handicaps.

Native Dancer ended his 1953 racing prematurely last August after winning the American Derby in Chicago. He suffered a bone bruise and part of a hoof had to be cut away.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series on the major league teams. Others will follow on this page daily.

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

TAMPA, FLA.—It has been 30 years since the Chicago White Sox trained in Florida and it's been a bit longer than that since the Pale Hose have been able to win the pennant.

Maybe the change in training sites, from the west to the south, will do the trick. At least there are some who figure the White Sox once again will be in the pennant fight, despite those dam Yankees.

Manager Paul Richards, the long, lean manager of the Chisox, working his squad of 47 men at the all-green, newly-constructed Al Lopez field here, is hopeful, too, on improving his record of last year when the Windy City crew finished third, the best he's done in three seasons at the helm.

"We're a better ball club right now," Richards says. "We've got a little more pitching and a more established lineup. We've added some experienced help in Third Sacker Cass Michaels, and Outfielders Johnny Groth and Willard Marshall."

Richards, who has done wonders with the Sox in his three seasons at the helm, accenting the "Go! Go!" spirit to make up for the lack of power at the plate, bases his observations, also, on the fine record compiled by his two ace pitchers last year, Billy Pierce (18-12) and the fireballing Virgil Trucks, who finished with 20-10 although he started the 1953 season with St. Louis.

"I'm looking for those boys, and some of the others, to have just as good a season and see no reason to believe they won't," he says.

IN ADDITION to one of the better pitching staffs in the majors, Richards has a well-balanced club which is more or less set except for third base. And he has added bench strength and outfield help, both in veteran material and in what appear to be outstanding rookies.

For starters Richards can count on Pierce and Trucks. The others will come from a threesome which includes Sandy Consuegra, Bob Keegan and Mike Fornieles, all with the club last year.

Of especial interest here is Keegan, a righthander purchased from Syracuse prior to the start of the 1953 season. Keegan started off slow because of a sore arm but finished the 1953 season with four wins in his last five games, two of which were three-hit shutouts.

Among the newcomers on the firing line who are expected to make a real bid for front-line duty is Jack Harshman, a former first sacker with the Giants who turned pitcher in 1952 and last year had a 23-7 record with Nashville in the Southern association and then added four more victories in the playoffs and Dixie series.

"At this stage," says Richards, "it looks like Harshman has a real good chance on this club."

Another who may be a surprise package is Don Johnson, righthander, who originally came up in the Yankee chain back in 1944 and since has seen service with the Yanks, Browns and Washington.

There are several other pitchers who show promise in camp and included among these are Tom Hurd, 17-11 with Memphis; Dick Strahs, 16-8 with Memphis, and Al Zilian, 16-12 with Oklahoma City.

Two others, not on the White Sox roster, also have impressed. They are Dick Duffy and Bill Fisher, returning servicemen.

The catchers are Sherm Lollar, Carl Sawatski and Red Wilson. Sawatski, who was with the Chicago Cubs, is one of those big boys who has brought his tonnage down to around 220.

Ferris Fain, who won the batting crown in 1952 and then dropped to .256 average last year, is on first with Nellie Fox and Chico Carrasquel making up the second base-shortstop combo.

Michaels, procured from the A's, has played second and short but is giving third base a try. Minnie Minoso, the hitting star of the club, also may be a third sacker although he also plays the outfield.

For infield insurance there are Johnny Lipon, Freddie Marsh and Bob Boyd.

THE OUTFIELD appears one of the fastest in the leagues, particularly with the addition of Groth, a home town boy who spent last season with the then St. Louis Browns. But there could be quite a fight for positions here.

Minoso will play somewhere, probably in the outfield. That leaves the other two spots open and competing are Jim Rivera, Ed Stewart and Tom Wright, holdovers, and Willard Marshall, a power hitter from Cincinnati.

Two brilliant new candidates are making a bid, too. They are Bill Wilson, who smashed 34 homers and hit .311 for Memphis last year, and Ed White, a .330 hitter with the same club.

Wilson, says Richards, is a fine defensive player and has a good arm. His power at the plate will figure in his bid, also.

All who have seen Al Lopez field say it is the best. Stands, accommodating 5,000, will be built next year.

CHICAGO—Improved over last year; top pitching, plenty of speed, a set ball club. Fain should have a better year and the bench has been improved.

Marsh's Home Run Wins For Chisox, 5-4

TAMPA, Fla., March 18 (AP)—Freddie Marsh's ninth home run gave the Chicago White Sox a 5-4 victory today over the Athletics to end Philadelphia's seven-game winning streak.

Bill Wilson and Nellie Fox each hit Sox homers earlier.

New Yorkers Suffer 2nd Playoff Defeat

SYRACUSE, N.Y., March 18 (AP)—The Syracuse Nationals handed the New York Knickerbockers, Eastern Division champions, their second straight setback today in the National Basketball Association's round robin playoffs, 75-68. It was the second straight win for Syracuse.

The defeat sent the Knicks to the brink of elimination in the complicated playoffs adopted this year. The New Yorkers previously had lost to the Boston Celtics.

Syracuse has two victories and no defeats. Boston is 1-1 and New York is 0-2.

Redlegs Beat Cards, Temple Gets Four Hits

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 18 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds pounded five Cardinal pitchers for 15 hits today in handing the St. Louisans a 9-2 defeat in spring exhibition action.

The Cards could get only six hits past the Reds' John Stewaart, Howard Judson, Bill Powell and Moe Savransky.

The Cubs suffered their sixth defeat in a row and now have won only once in ten games.

Larry Jansen started for the Giants, went three innings and was nicked for a two-run homer by rookie centerfielder Bob Talbot in the third. Southpaw Johnny Antonelli, who followed Jansen, was credited with the victory.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 18 (INS)—At long last, Aly Khan is expected Monday. But that really isn't what this story is about.

It's about Gene Tierney's plans. She goes to Columbia for "The Ambassador's Daughter," the Norman Krasna story.

After that's made she'll report to Jerry Wald for the feminine lead in "Joseph and His Brethren." Jerry figures that William Dieterle, now shooting backgrounds in Egypt for "Joseph and His Brethren," will return with his company in about four weeks. That will give Gene time to get her costumes finished.

At the Edwin Pauley dinner, Esther Williams told me that she will have two frogmen to help her swim undersea in "Jupiter's Darling," which she starts next week with Howard Keel.

"Then," said Esther, "my Cinderella slippers will fall off, and Ben and I will not be staying up late."

Esther said the weight just drops off of her when she is swimming. She said "Jupiter's Darling" will have the biggest swimming tank she's ever had in any picture, or anywhere else.

She was to have done "Athena," but the script was better for Jane Powell and Esther likes the story of "Jupiter's Darling" better.

Socially speaking:

By far the most enchanting guest at Mrs. Dolly Walker's party was Mrs. Harry Robinson (widow of one of the owners of Robinson's department store). With this charming lady, age is no factor. She had us all in stitches telling about her pet monkey, who is expecting motherhood any moment.

Dolly's dinner honored Enrique Schondube and Aileen Plunket, her house guests. Only a house as spacious as Dolly's red and white mansion could have handled so many people at a sit down dinner.

Many of the same people we had seen the night before at the Ed Pauleys' were there, including the Pauleys.

Went on to Janie Wyman's party celebrating the birthdays of Sonny Werblin, Lou Wasserman and Foxie Leshin. It was also a preview of Janie's newly-decorated home which Foxie did for her—it's beautiful. Other guests of honor were Molly and Charlie Bern, who came up from Palm Springs.

Freddie Karger was very much present lending a hand and acting as host. Mrs. Bill Perlberg and her two sisters and their two husbands presented a family group. The girls talk alike.

Eleanor Parker, of whom I've seen so little these past few months, looked stunning with her red hair. Dave Chasen did the catering, but he admitted that Janie's cook, Carrie made the bean salad. Remind me to get the recipe.

Lana Turner got a big kick out of the huge cake Lex Barker received when he reported for work at U-1. On the card was, "Love and kisses from Rory Calhoun, Jeff Chandler and Rock Hudson."

Mary and Charlie Morrison still in Palm Beach, were at Marianne Reynolds' farewell party. Charlie reports it was fabulous, with pink tent, pink flowers, decorations and Tommy Dorsey's band. Wooley Donahue was with Sylvia Gable, and Neil Vanderbilt with an Ann Miller—not the actress. Don Loper flew back today after delivering Marianne's gown.

Anti-Red Resistance Groups In Poland

VIENNA, Austria, March 18 (AP)—A leading Polish Communist has conceded anti-Communist resistance groups exist in Poland. He called for a renewed and "merciless" battle against state enemies.

Maj. Gen. Alexander Zawadzki, member of the Polish Politburo last week addressed more than 1,000 delegates to the second postwar Congress of the Polish Communist party. His address was published in the Warsaw newspaper Zycie Warszawy, reaching here today.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

How can you acquire that soft, rhythmic glide that is the mark of the truly delightful and feminine woman . . . the walk that is the difference between being a sensational success in appearance and just medium or fair?

Well, walking is simply posture put into motion. If your posture is attractive and you put it into motion gracefully, your "walking picture" is going to be smooth and fluid and thrilling to see.

Lesson V

The head: Always walk with your head held high, balanced on your shoulders in such fashion that your ears are vertical to your shoulder line. That's the way they will be if you keep the line of your back and your chin parallel to the floor. If you allow your head to lead in your walking picture, all else will be in vain!

The shoulders: The least tension in the shoulders will ruin the grace of your walk. Always hold them in a completely relaxed position and as wide and broad as they can look. The smallest tendency to hold the shoulders high or bunched will utterly ruin the grace of your walk.

Arms and hands: When your hands and arms coordinate properly with your body, they act as an important balancing factor. But if you fail to discipline their action, beauty will not be yours. The whole arm should fit closely to the body, yet hang loosely from the shoulder. Elbows should be "easy" or slightly bent. If you make sure that the inside of your elbows and wrists touch your body with every swing, you need have little more concern. How far should your arms swing? The width of your body — never extending beyond the line of your abdomen nor behind the largest part of the buttocks.

No Jiggle Or Joggle

The hips: As noted earlier in these walking lessons, the step always should be initiated from the hip, an important factor in attaining the gliding, long-stemmed look. While working to perfect this hip joint action of the walk, take great care that no side sway is allowed. The slightest hip wobble will destroy your grace immediately. If you keep in mind that all of your motion must be constantly forward, you can eliminate any sidewise jiggle or joggle.

It is just such fine points that put a fine finish on your walk and make a man so proud to walk by your side!

Cancer Society Voices 'Suspicion' Cigarettes And Lung Cancer Linked

By RENNIE TAYLOR
AP Science Reporter

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18 (AP)—The American Cancer Society last night for the first time cautiously voiced its "suspicion" that cigarette smoking has something to do with lung cancer.

The society summarized a report on the controversial question by 25 leading U. S. cancer researchers in these words:

"Evidence to date justifies the suspicion that cigarette smoking does, to a degree as yet undetermined, increase the likelihood of developing cancer of the lung."

Dr. Charles S. Cameron, medical and scientific director of the society, was asked by newsmen what he would advise cigarette smokers to do in view of the pronouncement. He said:

"If you are young and do not smoke, or if you are a beginning smoker without the ingrained habit, do not smoke.

The research group's consensus put the finger not only on cigarette smoke but also on "atmospheric contaminants in urban centers," variously referred to as smog, smurk, smaze and smist.

Main basis for the conclusion were recent experiments at the University of Chicago and the University of Southern California, which were done on mice.

Dr. Cameron stressed that none of the evidence against either cigarettes or smog is conclusive. There are big questions about nearly everything on which the suspicions are based, he said.

For example, the mice in the Chicago test developed a different kind of cancer than that found in the human lung. Also, the society spokesmen said, there is no certainty that a substance which will cause cancer in mice will cause malignancy in man.

In the Middle Ages, the lord of the manor often had a chair at the head of the table or beside his bed to serve as a seat of authority similar to a throne.

Sincere Flattery

If imitation is the sincerest form of flattery, then CBS-TV's new program, "The Morning Show" (7 to 9 a. m. Mondays through Fridays) is the nicest compliment that has ever been paid to its two-year-old opposite number on NBC called "Today."

John Crosby

The chief difference between "Today" and "The Morning Show" is that Walter Cronkite has a moustache and Dave Garroway hasn't, and Garroway wears glasses and Cronkite doesn't. Of course, it's just possible this is the only kind of show that is possible so early in the morning and that imitation is inevitable. But it does seem to me they went a little far, that there might have been some points of departure that might have been explored.

As it is, the morning audience now has to choose between Garroway who is urbane, relaxed, witty and intelligent and Cronkite who is urbane, relaxed, witty and intelligent. (If there are any bopsters around, Garroway is slightly the cooler of the two but they're both pretty cool, man.)

Like "Today," "The Morning Show" goes in heavily for news and though CBS is renowned for its news coverage and its commentators, it has not managed to grapple with news any more successfully than the NBC program. On both shows you get headlines endlessly repeated. There is not even an attempt to dig under the headlines with comment and interpretation which news so desperately needs today. I realize the boys are dealing with what they consider successive platoons of husbands dashing off to work who are supposedly only half listening. Still, it would be nice if CBS every morning supplied one very serious and thorough breakdown of the most important news story of the day from one of its stable of topflight correspondents scattered all over the world. Maybe they will.

For features, Cronkite first interviewed a toy-maker named John Peter who informed us that cardboard was the biggest news in toys this year. He displayed some huge cardboard toys which were apparently as indestructible as if made from cement.

"Did you know that America spent $450,000,000 on toys last year," asked Mr. Peter.

"I believe it," said Cronkite. "I spent most of that myself."

There ensued five minutes of news from the local communities which happens to be an exact replica of the way they do things on "Today." Then Cronkite showed us a live shot of commuters scurrying to work at Grand Central. It just so happens that Garroway on "Today's" opening show also showed us shots of commuters wandering around Grand Central. These boys just can't seem to get out of Grand Central. If ABC decides to have a morning show I respectfully suggest they take us to Penn Station just for a novelty.

Where "Today" has a chimpanzee, J. Fred Muggs, "The Morning Show" has Charlemagne, the lion, a puppet operated by Bill and Cora Baird who sounds a little like Finnegan in "Duffy's Tavern." Charlemagne plays records and trades badinage with Cronkite. While the records are playing, the Bairds' inexhaustible supply of puppets make like they're singing or dancing or playing instruments. This bit is done with great charm and ingenuity and grace. It's a lot of fun to watch.

"The Morning Show" is not quite as gadget-happy as "Today" but they do have an electronic weather map, product of nearly a year's research by the network's new effects department, which is supposed to show rain where it rains, snow where it snows, and so forth. To me it just looked like a lot of lights flashing on and off but if the new effects department is happy with it, I am too. Frankly, though, I think Garroway's little informal chat with the weatherman in Washington is more entertaining than all those lights.

Other features included a very nice interview with Stephen A. Mitchell, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and with Ivy Baker Priest, treasurer of the United States. Best of all was a telegram from another network to the effect: "Abandon all hope ye who enter here." It was signed Dave Garroway, Jack Lescoulie and Frank Blair who have been in this exhausting business a couple years now.

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Barclay

TABLES ONLY TOOLS

MANY players treat their honor-trick or card-count table as if such a thing were the master, telling them exactly what to do in virtually all situations. Truly able all-around devotees of the game, however, consider all of those as only devices which are a guide to the best action, or in other words working tools. The good carpenter doesn't operate according to a fixed set of rules, nor does the good plumber, painter or electrician. He knows what all the tools are for, but is prepared at any time to get along without one of them on a particular assignment when his mind tells him what he should do.

North: ♠ A 10 7 ♥ A 5 ♦ 9 6 3 ♣ K Q 8 6 5
West: ♠ 8 2 ♥ K Q 9 4 ♦ A K J 2 ♣ J 9 2
East: ♠ 9 4 ♥ J 8 6 3 ♦ Q 10 7 4 ♣ 10 7 3
South: ♠ K Q J 6 5 3 ♥ 10 7 2 ♦ 8 5 ♣ A 4

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
5 ♠

South was very glad after the deal that he did not jump from the 4-Spades right into slam, as he was tempted to do. He felt that his hand was appreciably better than he had indicated up to that stage, so gently invited small slam with his 5-Spades, an invitation which North felt he could not accept.

West showed him at the outset that a slam bid would have been unprofitable, as he scored the diamond K and A.

South explained to North then that, if he had held a singleton in diamonds, with one other card anywhere else, be it clubs, hearts or diamonds, he would have bid 6-Spades instead of one less, and would have made it.

That proved to be true, as there were twelve direct running tricks in view for South from the moment he could get the lead, six in spades, five in clubs and one in hearts.

South was one of those players brought up on the idea that a singleton or blank in the trump bidder's hand has no value, as to win there he must use a trump already counted. But this fellow had learned from experience that such shortage can be of crucial value in many situations.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ A K Q 8 ♥ 9 7 4 3 ♦ Q 8 ♣ 8 6 2
West: ♠ 10 4 3 ♥ K Q 8 5 ♦ K 7 6 3 ♣ 9 4
East: ♠ 9 7 5 ♥ J 10 2 ♦ 10 5 2 ♣ A Q J 3
South: ♠ J 6 2 ♥ A 6 ♦ A J 9 4 ♣ K 10 7 5

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

Would you open the bidding on South's hand? If so, why? Also, if so, what bidding do you think should follow?

"Did you know that America spent $450,000,000 on toys last year," asked Mr. Peter.

"I believe it," said Cronkite. "I spent most of that myself."

There ensued five minutes of news from the local communities which happens to be an exact replica of the way they do things on "Today." Then Cronkite showed us a live shot of commuters scurrying to work at Grand Central. It just so happens that Garroway on "Today's" opening show also showed us shots of commuters wandering around Grand Central. These boys just can't seem to get out of Grand Central. If ABC decides to have a morning show I respectfully suggest they take us to Penn Station just for a novelty.

Where "Today" has a chimpanzee, J. Fred Muggs, "The Morning Show" has Charlemagne, the lion, a puppet operated by Bill and Cora Baird who sounds a little like Finnegan in "Duffy's Tavern." Charlemagne plays records and trades badinage with Cronkite. While the records are playing, the Bairds' inexhaustible supply of puppets make like they're singing or dancing or playing instruments. This bit is done with great charm and ingenuity and grace. It's a lot of fun to watch.

"The Morning Show" is not quite as gadget-happy as "Today" but they do have an electronic weather map, product of nearly a year's research by the network's new effects department, which is supposed to show rain where it rains, snow where it snows, and so forth. To me it just looked like a lot of lights flashing on and off but if the new effects department is happy with it, I am too. Frankly, though, I think Garroway's little informal chat with the weatherman in Washington is more entertaining than all those lights.

Other features included a very nice interview with Stephen A. Mitchell, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and with Ivy Baker Priest, treasurer of the United States. Best of all was a telegram from another network to the effect: "Abandon all hope ye who enter here." It was signed Dave Garroway, Jack Lescoulie and Frank Blair who have been in this exhausting business a couple years now.

Daily Bridge Lesson — by Barclay

TABLES ONLY TOOLS

MANY players treat their honor-trick or card-count table as if such a thing were the master, telling them exactly what to do in virtually all situations. Truly able all-around devotees of the game, however, consider all of those as only devices which are a guide to the best action, or in other words working tools. The good carpenter doesn't operate according to a fixed set of rules, nor does the good plumber, painter or electrician. He knows what all the tools are for, but is prepared at any time to get along without one of them on a particular assignment when his mind tells him what he should do.

South was very glad after the deal that he did not jump from the 4-Spades right into slam, as he was tempted to do. He felt that his hand was appreciably better than he had indicated up to that stage, so gently invited small slam with his 5-Spades, an invitation which North felt he could not accept.

West showed him at the outset that a slam bid would have been unprofitable, as he scored the diamond K and A.

South explained to North then that, if he had held a singleton in diamonds, with one other card anywhere else, be it clubs, hearts or diamonds, he would have bid 6-Spades instead of one less, and would have made it.

That proved to be true, as there were twelve direct running tricks in view for South from the moment he could get the lead, six in spades, five in clubs and one in hearts.

South was one of those players brought up on the idea that a singleton or blank in the trump bidder's hand has no value, as to win there he must use a trump already counted. But this fellow had learned from experience that such shortage can be of crucial value in many situations.

Red Cross Fund Drive Enters Final Phase

Campaign Lagging Behind Last Year

Leaders in the county-wide Red Cross fund campaign said yesterday the drive for $35,000 is lagging behind last year, and that workers have been somewhat slow in making reports.

They urged captains and division leaders yesterday to have all workers report their returns to date, so that a full tabulation can be made this week.

In the drive for $6,000 from the county branches and $29,000 in Cumberland, Red Cross leaders emphasize that this money is needed to continue to finance the Red Cross office here and to finance the Blood Bank.

No detailed or complete returns have been received from any section of the county and no reports from branches are tabulated, the office said yesterday. However, the Advance Gifts section, which had a goal of $11,000, has just about completed its task.

Two Divisions Lag

It is in the Classified Section and the Women's Division that reports have been slow coming in. Leaders believe many have made their solicitations but have not filed their returns.

A spot check of the city last night showed that practically every neighborhood has been reached, and most employe groups in the Classified Division have been contacted.

Since the drive opened 18 days ago, the Red Cross office has had sufficient tabulated figures to release only one detailed report. This showed that only $11,877 had been collected. The next day, the office reported that the figure had reached $13,604.

Leaders point out that the drive ends March 31, locally and nationally. If all workers will make immediate reports, a complete tabulation can be compiled and then next week the drive effort can be concentrated on a "big push" or clean-up, so that the quota can be assured.

More Workers Announced

OLDTOWN — Mrs. Catherine Zapt, captain; Mrs. Una Landis and George F. Reiter.

ELLERSLIE — Mrs. William Powell, captain; Mrs. Flo Griffey, Mrs. Helen See, Mrs. Ethel Bagely, Mrs. Mary Ellen Shroyer, Mrs. Grace Miller, Mrs. Lois Sheavely, and Mrs. Nellie Reith.

NORTH BRANCH — Mrs. George Abbott, captain; Mrs. George Pollack, Mrs. Elizabeth Schwenninger, Mrs. Asa Fresh and Mrs. Edwin Shank.

LITTLE ORLEANS — Mrs. Frank Norris and Mrs. Elsie Hill Roland, captains; Mrs. Marvin Golden, Mrs. Allen Yonker, Mrs. Franklin Norris, and Mrs. A. R. Shaffer.

CORRIGANVILLE — Mrs. Olen Mosser, captain; Mrs. Evelyn Walters, Mrs. Hazel Fleegle, Mrs. Genevieve Poorbaugh, Mrs. Louise Morgan, Mrs. Catherine Crabtree, Mrs. John Goff, Mrs. Geneva Geiger, and Mrs. Elsie Barncord.

CRESAPTOWN — Mrs. Herbert C. Heineman, captain; Mrs. Arthur Ferguson, Mrs. Alfred Summerfield, Mrs. Ferman Helmstetter, Mrs. Walter Richardson, Mrs. Trubador Lewis, Mrs. Paul Kemp, Mrs. John Shoup, Mrs. Carlton Helmick, Mrs. Arthur Evans, Mrs. Calvin Schramm, and Mrs. Walter E. Smith.

Labor Temple Group Options Downtown Site

Directors of the Allegany Labor Temple Association have taken a 90-day option on the Wolford Funeral Home property on South Liberty Street, according to Charles E. Bramble, chairman.

At the same time, the directors, representing major American Federation of Labor locals of Allegany County, accelerated a drive to raise funds for the building.

If the plans to purchase the property go through, the building will become headquarters for virtually all AFL unions of the county.

At present, the headquarters for the AFL here is the Allegany Trades Council Hall, but a number of unions, including the Teamsters, Dairy Workers and Steamfitters and Plumbers, have separate quarters.

The AFL last year instituted a drive to build a new labor temple on the site of the present Trades Council Hall on Frederick Street, but several months ago began to explore the possibilities of purchasing and remodeling the South Liberty Street building.

Officials said the building will have space for a large assembly hall as well as separate office space for unions which maintain permanent office facilities.

The labor temple will be financed by shares of stock, each costing $25, taken out by locals which will use the building and its facilities.

Businessmen To Meet

John A. Moberly, superintendent of Memorial Hospital, will be the speaker at the meeting of the South Cumberland Businessmen's Association on Tuesday, March 23. The meeting will be held at Grace Methodist Church at 6 p. m.

Discuss Poultry Problems

Commercial Forests Cover Half Of State's Land Area

Large Sawtimber Totals 16 Per Cent

Maryland's commercial forests contain about six and one-half billion board feet of sawtimber, according to Ralph W. Marquis, director of the Northeastern Forest Experiment Station at Upper Darby, Pa.

Oak species account for two and three-tenths billion board feet, other hardwoods total two and seven-tenths billion board feet. Loblolly pine figures to one and one-tenth billion board feet and other softwoods add up to the remaining half-billion board feet.

Dr. Marquis pointed out that the survey shows only 16 per cent of commercial forest land has stands of the fairly large sawtimber. These stands have more than 5,000 board feet per acre. Lighter stands (1,500 to 5,000 board feet per acre) occupy 31 per cent of the forest land. The other 53 per cent of forest land has little or no sawtimber on it.

State Forester H. C. Buckingham, who has been spending several days this week in and around Cumberland, stressed that these survey figures represent statewide averages and are not necessarily typical of any one section of Maryland.

For instance, he said, pine timber abounds on the Eastern Shore. In central Maryland, oak and the tulip poplar are most common. In Western Maryland the white and red oak are dominant.

Yesterday, Buckingham, A. R. Bond, assistant forester, and William H. Johnson, district forester, tramped over much of Green Ridge State Forest conducting a survey of their own to determine when timber there might be ready for cutting. This area was cleared at the time of World War I to make room for an orchard.

In Allegany County the forest percentage is about two-thirds. In Garrett County it is about 60 per cent, and in Washington and Frederick counties, just under 50 per cent.

A scientific sampling method was used in the U. S. Forest Service survey, employing aerial photographs. Many sample plots were marked off on the photographs. Trained interpreters then examined the plots on the photographs and classified timber on them. Later, field crews went out into the forests and examined a certain percentage of the plots. The results obtained are calculated to be accurate within "reasonably small" margins of error.

The State Department of Forests and Parks, the State Department of Research and Education, and the State Department of Game and Inland Fish collaborated with the U. S. Forest Service in making the survey. Copies of the report on the survey are available from the Northeastern Forest Experiment Station, 102 Motors Avenue, Upper Darby, Pa.

Charleroi Man Is Found Dead Along Railroad

A member of a former Georges Creek family was found dead Wednesday morning along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks near Washington, Pa., where he worked and police indicated he had died of a fractured skull apparently suffered in a fall.

The body of John Earl Hott, 60, of Charleroi, Pa., whose parents, the late George W. Hott of Carlos and Alice Crawford Hott of Corriganville, formerly resided in this area, was discovered lying along the tracks by an early morning train crew on its way to work.

An autopsy disclosed Hott had died of a fractured skull, but police said no foul play was indicated and that the body did not appear to have been struck by a train. Hott had been last seen leaving his place of employment Tuesday evening in Washington, members of the family said.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Lois Culler Hott, a son, Roy C. Hott, Charleroi, and a daughter, Mrs. Lois Jean Sims, also of Charleroi.

Also surviving are a brother, George W. Hott of Charleroi, and sisters, Mrs. Florence Emerson, New York; Mrs. Maude Silbaugh, Charleroi; Mrs. Grace Clyde, Canonburg, Pa.; Mrs. Frances Hergett and Mrs. Edna Frye, both of Washington. Another sister is believed to live in Corriganville.

Services will be held Saturday at 1 p. m. at Melenchak Funeral Home in Charleroi. The family has requested flowers be omitted.

Court Of Appeals Asks Dismissal Of Local Suit

RICHMOND, Va., March 18 (AP)—The Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals today remanded a claim of $100,000 by a Maryland electric company to the Federal District Court in Baltimore with instructions to dismiss the case "without prejudice."

The complainant, Capitol Electric Co., Inc., of Cumberland, Md., charged that a group of corporations and municipal authorities in that city had allowed a re-grading job to be done on a road in front of the company property. The road was four feet higher when finished, causing surface waters to run on company property.

The circuit court here ruled that all parties to the case come from one state; therefore, federal courts have no jurisdiction. The lower court order ruling against the claim will be vacated "without prejudice"—allowing the company to come back with a new suit in a state court.

The Weather

Following several days of raw, blustery March weather yesterday turned out to be a portend of the forthcoming spring season with temperatures rising to a high of 56 degrees with sunny, nearly cloudless skies. Low was recorded at 26 degrees and at 7:30 p. m. yesterday the mercury stood at 47 degrees. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 37 per cent. Forecast for today is cloudy and warmer with possible showers.

Poultry Prices, Production Cited At Session Here

About 70 Attend Annual Meeting

County Agent Ralph F. McHenry said about 70 persons attended the session, most of them from Allegany County and about one-third women who are in charge of their farm flocks. Garrett countians from as far away as Friendsville were present, as were a few neighbors from Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Much progress is being made in controlling poultry diseases caused by bacteria but much more needs to be done with respiratory diseases, Dr. J. E. Hanley of the Maryland Livestock Sanitary Laboratory at Bel Air told the conferees.

Poultrymen who buy tested and certified chicks from recognized hatcheries can be reasonably certain they will be free of bacteria-caused disease, he said.

Another speaker, W. H. Rice, poultry specialist at the University of Maryland, told the poultrymen and women that more than half of the eggs consumed in Maryland come from such far away states as Minnesota and Iowa. This is to satisfy the demand in the Baltimore area. Armed with charts showing egg production figures, Rice emphasized that there is plenty of room in Maryland for more egg production.

Harold Hoecker, an economist in the Poultry Department at the University of Maryland, gave a talk on the general economic conditions in the poultry industry. He stressed that one of the difficult factors is the loss of export markets. They are 'way down from a year ago, he said. He added that the broiler market now is not good. For layers the market is somewhat off the 1953 level but will be about the same as in 1952. Although egg prices are off somewhat, so are feed prices, so that the egg-to-feed ration is better now than in 1953, Hoecker said.

Edgar M. Reynolds, general manager, and Frank A. Wolfhope, auditor of the Cumberland Fair Association, told those at the meeting that they would like to expand the Poultry Show at the fair in August if it can be done. They asked for suggestions.

A free luncheon was served by the Fair Association.

Assistant County Agent Joseph M. Steger showed slides at the end of the day-long session. They illustrated various phases of the poultry business in Allegany County.

Santelli Advised New Italian Consul Assigned To Area

John V. Santelli, 101 Park Street, correspondent for the Italian consul in Baltimore, has been advised that the consul, Dr. Vittorio Ivella, is returning to Italy in a few days.

Santelli explained that Dr. Ivella has been the consul in Baltimore for the past two years and represents his government in the Tri-State Division, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

Dr. Ivella is to be succeeded on or about April 17, Santelli stated, by Dr. Raffaele Canevaro, the Duke of Zoagli.

Santelli yesterday received a letter from Dr. Ivella expressing his gratitude for Santelli's assistance and urging him to continue his interest in the affairs of the Italian community. Dr. Ivella said he will advise he new consul to communicate with Santelli and urges him to continue his interest and to continue cooperation with the new consul.

The Baltimore Consulate is located at 6 West Mt. Vernon Place.

Permit System Guards State's Water Resources

Homes And Farms Excluded From Law

The application of a local florist to drill a well to boost his water supplies during droughts points to a not-too-well-known law passed in 1933 which allows the State of Maryland to regulate its underground water resources.

Arthur H. Bopp, who operates a greenhouse at his home, 1621 Bedford Street, has applied to the Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources, Baltimore, for permission to drill a well on his property, and to use an average of 7,500 gallons of water daily.

A hearing on the application will be held in Baltimore on March 25 at 2 p. m.

Bopp has for some time been securing water for his greenhouse from a dug well but plans to drill a 150-foot well to tap additional water supplies.

Law Regulates Use

Several years ago, the State Health Department was asked to cooperate in the program set up by the 1933 law which provided that "from January 1, 1934, it shall be unlawful . . . to appropriate waters of the state, either surface or underground—without a permit from the Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources."

Permits must be secured for water used for industrial and commercial purposes. This includes motels, restaurants and filling stations, but does not include those who use the water for domestic or farm purposes.

One of the purposes of the regulation, according to George L. Hall, chief of the Division of Sanitary Engineering of the State Board of Health, is to conserve water supplies by the proper spacing of wells, so that too much water will not be taken from any one aquifer

Dropping of water tables has become a serious problem in many sections of the country as the needs for water increase.

It also protects the health of residents through special precautions when a well and septic tank are to be installed on the same home site.

Covers Lot Size

The regulation says that "where public water supply and sewage systems are not available, and where the house is to be served by an individual well for domestic water supply, and a sewage system, the area of the lot . . . shall be not less than 20,000 square feet, and the minimum lot width not less than 100 feet. Where mains for a public water supply system are available to the house, but no public sewers exist, the area of the lot shall be not less than 10,000 square feet.

The county regulation, since adopted by the state, is designed to protect the health of the residents of the home by providing ample space for sewage disposal systems which might contaminate water supplies if they were too close.

School Librarians Arrange Workshop

A workshop for junior and senior high school librarians will be held at the Allegany County Board of Education office Tuesday and Wednesday from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m., according to Assistant Superintendent of Schools Richard T. Rizer.

Some 1,000 books recommended by the Division of Library Extension of the State Department of Education will be available for examination by the librarians. These books are for supplemental classroom use and not as textbooks, Rizer noted.

On Monday, March 29, Miss Mae Graham, supervisor of school and children's libraries for the Division of Library Extension, will be here to meet with the elementary school librarians to discuss books for use in their libraries. She also will have a display of volumes. After examining the books the librarians are expected to place orders for new books for use in the 1954-55 school year.

Canal Hiking Party Will Arrive Today

Expedition To Start Early Tomorrow

A party of 31 hikers, headed by a Supreme Court justice, will arrive here late this afternoon to launch an unusual expedition into the "wilds" of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal region.

Justice William O. Douglas and his party will arrive at 5:05 p. m. on the observation car of a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad train.

The party, which includes many veteran outdoorsmen, public officials and representatives of press and radio, will be entertained at dinner at the Cumberland Country Club this evening.

Members of the expedition will put up at a local hotel overnight, then leave at about 7 a. m. tomorrow for a 189-mile tramp to Washington.

The safari is scheduled to be completed in eight days. Overnight stops will be made at or near the following places:

Woman Asks Declaration Uncle Dead

Mrs. Judine Shaffer McCracken, 508 Fourth Street, yesterday filed an equity suit in Allegany County Circuit Court asking the court to declare her long-missing uncle legally dead so that she can collect a $345 life insurance policy in which he named her as beneficiary.

Mrs. McCracken, through Attorney William L. Wilson, filed the suit against her uncle, John C. Dyche, who lived at 618 Virginia Avenue until on or about September 15, 1942, when he left for Baltimore. where he was supposed to have obtained a job. She says that he has never been seen or heard from by his friends, associates or family in the ensuing 11½ years.

The niece stated in her bill of complaint that on or about June 13, 1938 Dyche took out a $345 life insurance policy with the Eureka-Maryland Assurance Company of Baltimore and named her as beneficiary.

Since Dyche's disappearance, Mrs. McCracken has continued to pay the premiums on the policy at the rate of 25 cents a week. She has spent in the neighborhood of $150 on premiums. The insurance company has informed her that it cannot pay her the $345 until her uncle is declared legally dead. That is the purpose of her suit.

If still living, Dyche would be 51 years old. Mrs. McCracken said that he was a bachelor and last worked here as a bartender. He had worked here and in Baltimore periodically for some time before his disappearance. He registered for the draft during World War II but the draft board never was able to reach him after he left Cumberland, Mrs. McCracken said.

Hike Looks Like Long Eight Days

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—Bright and early Saturday morning an unusual 189-mile walk begins at Cumberland, Md.

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, a celebrated hiker, will head an expedition on an eight-day march to Washington along the historic Chesapeake & Ohio Canal.

Tagging gamely along will be two non-hiking editorial writers for the Washington Post and Times-Herald, Merlo Pusey and Robert Estabrook.

The three will be accompanied by a party of 30, including naturalists, sportsmen, nature lovers and native beaters.

Douglas' Dare Did It

An editorial, calling for a roadway on the government-owned property along the now abandoned canal, caught Douglas' eye.

Let the canal stay as it is, he argued, "a refuge, a long stretch of quiet and peace . . . a wilderness where man can be alone with his thoughts . . . a place not yet marred by the roar of wheels and the sound of horns."

The editorialists, who have insisted you can have a parkway and nature, too, accepted the challenge.

So they will hike along one of the most famous routes in U. S. history.

G. W. Saw A Future

A local farmer, surveyor, soldier and real estate man, George Washington, first dreamed of it. He had seen the great Ohio Valley with its tremendous potentialities, and he knew the value of a navigable Potomac River.

In 1784 he became the first president of the Potowmack Co. In 36 years the company spent $725,000 building locks and canals around the river's falls and rapids.

Then came a grander plan, a canal to parallel the river. In 1826 the Chesapeake & Ohio Co. was organized.

President John Quincy Adams and his entire cabinet was out for the turning of the first spadeful of earth, on July 4, 1828. "The most important incident in my life," J. Q. Adams said.

For years the canal played a vital part in the nation's life. But the railroads carried more and more freight, and, finally, in 1926, floods washed the canal out of business for keeps.

Editor "In Training"

The government took it over in 1938. Only 23 miles at this end of the canal have been used recently. On weekends a couple of mules have towed sightseers up the scenic route, a far cry from the days when two million tons of cargo were handled in a year.

Editorial writer Pusey, by the way, has been in serious training for the big event. "I've walked to work a couple of times," he said. "How far? Oh, about five or six miles."

It was suggested he might tire of the venture by the third day.

"Why make it the third day?" he asked. "I think I'll be tired of it sooner than that. Still, Douglas said this could be enjoyable. It's up to him to prove his point."

It looks like a long eight days.

County School Attendance High For February

Junior, Senior Highs Establish Records

Allegany County junior and senior high schools both recorded their best February attendance marks over the past five years last month, Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in county public schools, reported yesterday.

On the junior high school level, the average attendance was 94.7 per cent and in senior high schools, 95 per cent.

Among the junior high schools Beall High School in Frostburg had the highest mark, 96.5 per cent. Eight of the 13 schools had their highest February figure in the five years subject to comparison. They were Flintstone, Cresaptown, Valley High School, Lonaconing; Luke, Piney Plains, Fort Hill and Allegany and the seventh grade of Beall Elementary School, Frostburg.

Set Five-Year Record

All but one of the senior high schools had their best attendance for the month in five years. Beall High School again was on top with 97.1 per cent. Others with their best February attendance in five years were Flintstone, Valley, Mt. Savage, Fort Hill, Allegany and Bruce High School, of Westernport. Oldtown just missed.

Elementary schools in the county were not so successful last month as children's diseases and virus infections kept many of the children out of school. The elementary school average attendance of 93.8 per cent was the third highest over the five years. Leaders were Ellerslie, among the small schools, with 97.3 per cent, and Eckhart among the larger institutions, with 96.7 per cent. Five other schools besides those two had their highest February attendance in five years. They are Cresaptown, Hammond Street in Westernport, LaVale, Central Elementary in Lonaconing and Beall Elementary, Frostburg.

Carver High

Carver School on all three levels recorded its best attendance over five years. The averages were 98.2 per cent, elementary; 97.6 per cent, junior high school, and 96.8 per cent, senior high school. Lincoln Elementary School in Frostburg, with 94.7 per cent, had its third best attendance for February in five years.

Higgins especially observed that Flintstone's record on both junior and senior high school levels was probably its best for the month in the history of the school. Averages were 95 for junior high school and 93.1 for senior high.

Miss Dorothy Shires, state supervisor of pupil personnel, who was here several days this week, informed Higgins that Allegany County consistently has one of the highest attendance averages in the entire state. School officials in general were especially pleased with the cooperation of parents in seeing that their children attended school regularly.

Portable Pumps Used To Supply Local Reservoir

William J. Edwards, commissioner of water and electric light, reported late last night that the portable pump was being installed by Cola Cola Bottling Company workers, and that he believed the unit would provide adequate pumping service until a permanent installation is completed.

The Water Department recently moved its gasoline powered pump from the Fort Hill Reservoir to Lake Gordon, where it will be used to tap a 50-day supply of water not available by gravity, after a temporary electric pump was installed to pump water into the Fort Hill standpipe.

When the temporary pump failed yesterday, Water Department officials asked the Fire Department to provide help in filling the tank by using its second-line pumper stationed at South End Fire Station.

Commissioner Edwards said George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company, delivered a speech on the water system yesterday before the Kiwanis Club and in the course of the talk described the progress on the Fort Hill reservoir installation.

He said that following the meeting, Roy C. Lottig, manager of the Cola Cola plant, offered the use of an emergency portable pump kept at the plant.

Several hours later the offer was accepted, and early last night Lottig and plant mechanics were at the reservoir helping to make the emergency installation.

Red Cross Fund Drive Enters Final Phase

Campaign Lagging Behind Last Year

Leaders in the county-wide Red Cross fund campaign said yesterday the drive for $35,000 is lagging behind last year, and that workers have been somewhat slow in making reports.

They urged captains and division leaders yesterday to have all workers report their returns to date, so that a full tabulation can be made this week.

In the drive for $6,000 from the county branches and $29,000 in Cumberland, Red Cross leaders emphasize that this money is needed to continue to finance the Red Cross office here and to finance the Blood Bank.

No detailed or complete returns have been received from any section of the county and no reports from branches are tabulated, the office said yesterday. However, the Advance Gifts section, which had a goal of $11,000, has just about completed its task.

Two Divisions Lag

It is in the Classified Section and the Women's Division that reports have been slow coming in. Leaders believe many have made their solicitations but have not filed their returns.

A spot check of the city last night showed that practically every neighborhood has been reached, and most employe groups in the Classified Division have been contacted.

Since the drive opened 18 days ago, the Red Cross office has had sufficient tabulated figures to release only one detailed report. This showed that only $11,877 had been collected. The next day, the office reported that the figure had reached $13,604.

Leaders point out that the drive ends March 31, locally and nationally. If all workers will make immediate reports, a complete tabulation can be compiled and then next week the drive effort can be concentrated on a "big push" or clean-up, so that the quota can be assured.

More Workers Announced

OLDTOWN — Mrs. Catherine Zapt, captain; Mrs. Una Landis and George F. Reiter.

Labor Temple Group Options Downtown Site

Directors of the Allegany Labor Temple Association have taken a 90-day option on the Wolford Funeral Home property on South Liberty Street, according to Charles E. Bramble, chairman.

At the same time, the directors, representing major American Federation of Labor locals of Allegany County, accelerated a drive to raise funds for the building.

If the plans to purchase the property go through, the building will become headquarters for virtually all AFL unions of the county.

At present, the headquarters for the AFL here is the Allegany Trades Council Hall, but a number of unions, including the Teamsters, Dairy Workers and Steamfitters and Plumbers, have separate quarters.

The AFL last year instituted a drive to build a new labor temple on the site of the present Trades Council Hall on Frederick Street, but several months ago began to explore the possibilities of purchasing and remodeling the South Liberty Street building.

Officials said the building will have space for a large assembly hall as well as separate office space for unions which maintain permanent office facilities.

The labor temple will be financed by shares of stock, each costing $25, taken out by locals which will use the building and its facilities.

Businessmen To Meet

John A. Moberly, superintendent of Memorial Hospital, will be the speaker at the meeting of the South Cumberland Businessmen's Association on Tuesday, March 23. The meeting will be held at Grace Methodist Church at 6 p. m.

Discuss Poultry Problems

Commercial Forests Cover Half Of State's Land Area

Large Sawtimber Totals 16 Per Cent

Nearly half of Maryland's land area is covered with commercial forests, the U. S. Forest Service reported yesterday in disclosing the results of a state survey conducted as part of a nation-wide check.

Maryland's commercial forests contain about six and one-half billion board feet of sawtimber, according to Ralph W. Marquis, director of the Northeastern Forest Experiment Station at Upper Darby, Pa.

Oak species account for two and three-tenths billion board feet, other hardwoods total two and seven-tenths billion board feet. Loblolly pine figures to one and one-tenth billion board feet and other softwoods add up to the remaining half-billion board feet.

Dr. Marquis pointed out that the survey shows only 16 per cent of commercial forest land has stands of the fairly large sawtimber. These stands have more than 5,000 board feet per acre. Lighter stands (1,500 to 5,000 board feet per acre) occupy 31 per cent of the forest land. The other 53 per cent of forest land has little or no sawtimber on it.

State Forester H. C. Buckingham, who has been spending several days this week in and around Cumberland, stressed that these survey figures represent statewide averages and are not necessarily typical of any one section of Maryland.

For instance, he said, pine timber abounds on the Eastern Shore. In central Maryland, oak and the tulip poplar are most common. In Western Maryland the white and red oak are dominant.

Yesterday, Buckingham, A. R. Bond, assistant forester, and William H. Johnson, district forester, tramped over much of Green Ridge State Forest conducting a survey of their own to determine when timber there might be ready for cutting. This area was cleared at the time of World War I to make room for an orchard.

Johnson explained that more than half of the land in his four-county Western Maryland district is covered with commercial forests.

In Allegany County the forest percentage is about two-thirds. In Garrett County it is about 60 per cent, and in Washington and Frederick counties, just under 50 per cent.

A scientific sampling method was used in the U. S. Forest Service survey, employing aerial photographs. Many sample plots were marked off on the photographs. Trained interpreters then examined the plots on the photographs and classified timber on them. Later, field crews went out into the forests and examined a certain percentage of the plots. The results obtained are calculated to be accurate within "reasonably small" margins of error.

The State Department of Forests and Parks, the State Department of Research and Education, and the State Department of Game and Inland Fish collaborated with the U. S. Forest Service in making the survey. Copies of the report on the survey are available from the Northeastern Forest Experiment Station, 102 Motors Avenue, Upper Darby, Pa.

Charleroi Man Is Found Dead Along Railroad

A member of a former Georges Creek family was found dead Wednesday morning along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks near Washington, Pa., where he worked and police indicated he had died of a fractured skull apparently suffered in a fall.

The body of John Earl Hott, 60, of Charleroi, Pa., whose parents, the late George W. Hott of Carlos and Alice Crawford Hott of Corriganville, formerly resided in this area, was discovered lying along the tracks by an early morning train crew on its way to work.

An autopsy disclosed Hott had died of a fractured skull, but police said no foul play was indicated and that the body did not appear to have been struck by a train. Hott had been last seen leaving his place of employment Tuesday evening in Washington, members of the family said.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Lois Culler Hott, a son, Roy C. Hott, Charleroi, and a daughter, Mrs. Lois Jean Sims, also of Charleroi.

Also surviving are a brother, George W. Hott of Charleroi, and sisters, Mrs. Florence Emerson, New York; Mrs. Maude Silbaugh, Charleroi; Mrs. Grace Clyde, Canonburg, Pa.; Mrs. Frances Hergett and Mrs. Edna Frye, both of Washington. Another sister is believed to live in Corriganville.

Services will be held Saturday at 1 p. m. at Melenchak Funeral Home in Charleroi. The family has requested flowers be omitted.

Court Of Appeals Asks Dismissal Of Local Suit

RICHMOND, Va., March 18 (AP)—The Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals today remanded a claim of $100,000 by a Maryland electric company to the Federal District Court in Baltimore with instructions to dismiss the case "without prejudice."

The complainant, Capitol Electric Co., Inc., of Cumberland, Md., charged that a group of corporations and municipal authorities in that city had allowed a re-grading job to be done on a road in front of the company property. The road was four feet higher when finished, causing surface waters to run on company property.

The circuit court here ruled that all parties to the case come from one state; therefore, federal courts have no jurisdiction. The lower court order ruling against the claim will be vacated "without prejudice"—allowing the company to come back with a new suit in a state court.

Poultry Prices, Production Cited At Session Here

About 70 Attend Annual Meeting

Poultry production, prices and diseases all were discussed at the annual all-day meeting of area poultrymen at the LaVale Fire Hall yesterday.

County Agent Ralph F. McHenry said about 70 persons attended the session, most of them from Allegany County and about one-third women who are in charge of their farm flocks. Garrett countians from as far away as Friendsville were present, as were a few neighbors from Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Much progress is being made in controlling poultry diseases caused by bacteria but much more needs to be done with respiratory diseases, Dr. J. E. Hanley of the Maryland Livestock Sanitary Laboratory at Bel Air told the conferees.

Poultrymen who buy tested and certified chicks from recognized hatcheries can be reasonably certain they will be free of bacteria-caused disease, he said.

Vaccines are being developed to check respiratory diseases of poultry but much more investigation is needed, Dr. Hanley told the group.

Another speaker, W. H. Rice, poultry specialist at the University of Maryland, told the poultrymen and women that more than half of the eggs consumed in Maryland come from such far away states as Minnesota and Iowa. This is to satisfy the demand in the Baltimore area. Armed with charts showing egg production figures, Rice emphasized that there is plenty of room in Maryland for more egg production.

Harold Hoecker, an economist in the Poultry Department at the University of Maryland, gave a talk on the general economic conditions in the poultry industry. He stressed that one of the difficult factors is the loss of export markets. They are 'way down from a year ago, he said. He added that the broiler market now is not good. For layers the market is somewhat off the 1953 level but will be about the same as in 1952. Although egg prices are off somewhat, so are feed prices, so that the egg-to-feed ration is better now than in 1953, Hoecker said.

Edgar M. Reynolds, general manager, and Frank A. Wolfhope, auditor of the Cumberland Fair Association, told those at the meeting that they would like to expand the Poultry Show at the fair in August if it can be done. They asked for suggestions.

A free luncheon was served by the Fair Association.

Assistant County Agent Joseph M. Steger showed slides at the end of the day-long session. They illustrated various phases of the poultry business in Allegany County.

Permit System Guards State's Water Resources

Homes And Farms Excluded From Law

The application of a local florist to drill a well to boost his water supplies during droughts points to a not-too-well-known law passed in 1933 which allows the State of Maryland to regulate its underground water resources.

Arthur H. Bopp, who operates a greenhouse at his home, 1621 Bedford Street, has applied to the Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources, Baltimore, for permission to drill a well on his property, and to use an average of 7,500 gallons of water daily.

A hearing on the application will be held in Baltimore on March 25 at 2 p. m.

Bopp has for some time been securing water for his greenhouse from a dug well but plans to drill a 150-foot well to tap additional water supplies.

Law Regulates Use

Several years ago, the State Health Department was asked to cooperate in the program set up by the 1933 law which provided that "from January 1, 1934, it shall be unlawful . . . to appropriate waters of the state, either surface or underground—without a permit from the Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources."

Permits must be secured for water used for industrial and commercial purposes. This includes motels, restaurants and filling stations, but does not include those who use the water for domestic or farm purposes.

One of the purposes of the regulation, according to George L. Hall, chief of the Division of Sanitary Engineering of the State Board of Health, is to conserve water supplies by the proper spacing of wells, so that too much water will not be taken from any one aquifer

Dropping of water tables has become a serious problem in many sections of the country as the needs for water increase.

The Health Department here cooperates in the plan by inspecting all wells drilled under state permits.

It also protects the health of residents through special precautions when a well and septic tank are to be installed on the same home site.

Covers Lot Size

The size of the lot to be used in such cases is covered under Regulation 3 of a 1951 rule covering home sewage disposal systems.

The regulation says that "where public water supply and sewage systems are not available, and where the house is to be served by an individual well for domestic water supply, and a sewage system, the area of the lot . . . shall be not less than 20,000 square feet, and the minimum lot width not less than 100 feet. Where mains for a public water supply system are available to the house, but no public sewers exist, the area of the lot shall be not less than 10,000 square feet.

The county regulation, since adopted by the state, is designed to protect the health of the residents of the home by providing ample space for sewage disposal systems which might contaminate water supplies if they were too close.

School Librarians Arrange Workshop

A workshop for junior and senior high school librarians will be held at the Allegany County Board of Education office Tuesday and Wednesday from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m., according to Assistant Superintendent of Schools Richard T. Rizer.

Some 1,000 books recommended by the Division of Library Extension of the State Department of Education will be available for examination by the librarians. These books are for supplemental classroom use and not as textbooks, Rizer noted.

On Monday, March 29, Miss Mae Graham, supervisor of school and children's libraries for the Division of Library Extension, will be here to meet with the elementary school librarians to discuss books for use in their libraries. She also will have a display of volumes. After examining the books the librarians are expected to place orders for new books for use in the 1954-55 school year.

Woman Asks Declaration Uncle Dead

Mrs. Judine Shaffer McCracken, 508 Fourth Street, yesterday filed an equity suit in Allegany County Circuit Court asking the court to declare her long-missing uncle legally dead so that she can collect a $345 life insurance policy in which he named her as beneficiary.

Mrs. McCracken, through Attorney William L. Wilson, filed the suit against her uncle, John C. Dyche, who lived at 618 Virginia Avenue until on or about September 15, 1942, when he left for Baltimore, where he was supposed to have obtained a job. She says that he has never been seen or heard from by his friends, associates or family in the ensuing 11½ years.

The niece stated in her bill of complaint that on or about June 13, 1938 Dyche took out a $345 life insurance policy with the Eureka-Maryland Assurance Company of Baltimore and named her as beneficiary.

Since Dyche's disappearance, Mrs. McCracken has continued to pay the premiums on the policy at the rate of 25 cents a week. She has spent in the neighborhood of $150 on premiums. The insurance company has informed her that it cannot pay her the $345 until her uncle is declared legally dead. That is the purpose of her suit.

If still living, Dyche would be 51 years old. Mrs. McCracken said that he was a bachelor and last worked here as a bartender. He had worked here and in Baltimore periodically for some time before his disappearance. He registered for the draft during World War II but the draft board never was able to reach him after he left Cumberland, Mrs. McCracken said.

Hike Looks Like Long Eight Days

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—Bright and early Saturday morning an unusual 189-mile walk begins at Cumberland, Md.

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, a celebrated hiker, will head an expedition on an eight-day march to Washington along the historic Chesapeake & Ohio Canal.

Tagging gamely along will be two non-hiking editorial writers for the Washington Post and Times-Herald, Merlo Pusey and Robert Estabrook.

The three will be accompanied by a party of 30, including naturalists, sportsmen, nature lovers and native beaters.

Douglas' Dare Did It

The whole business started as a dare.

An editorial, calling for a roadway on the government-owned property along the now abandoned canal, caught Douglas' eye.

He objected immediately.

Let the canal stay as it is, he argued, "a refuge, a long stretch of quiet and peace . . . a wilderness where man can be alone with his thoughts . . . a place not yet marred by the roar of wheels and the sound of horns."

And he challenged the editorial writers to join him in a walk along the canal, a walk, he thought, that would prove his point.

The editorialists, who have insisted you can have a parkway and nature, too, accepted the challenge.

So they will hike along one of the most famous routes in U. S. history.

G. W. Saw A Future

A local farmer, surveyor, soldier and real estate man, George Washington, first dreamed of it. He had seen the great Ohio Valley with its tremendous potentialities, and he knew the value of a navigable Potomac River.

In 1784 he became the first president of the Potowmack Co. In 36 years the company spent $725,000 building locks and canals around the river's falls and rapids.

Then came a grander plan, a canal to parallel the river. In 1826 the Chesapeake & Ohio Co. was organized.

President John Quincy Adams and his entire cabinet was out for the turning of the first spadeful of earth, on July 4, 1828. "The most important incident in my life," J. Q. Adams said.

For years the canal played a vital part in the nation's life. But the railroads carried more and more freight, and, finally, in 1926, floods washed the canal out of business for keeps.

Editor "In Training"

The government took it over in 1938. Only 23 miles at this end of the canal have been used recently. On weekends a couple of mules have towed sightseers up the scenic route, a far cry from the days when two million tons of cargo were handled in a year.

Editorial writer Pusey, by the way, has been in serious training for the big event. "I've walked to work a couple of times," he said. "How far? Oh, about five or six miles."

It was suggested he might tire of the venture by the third day.

"Why make it the third day?" he asked. "I think I'll be tired of it sooner than that. Still, Douglas said this could be enjoyable. It's up to him to prove his point."

County School Attendance High For February

Junior, Senior Highs Establish Records

Allegany County junior and senior high schools both recorded their best February attendance marks over the past five years last month, Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in county public schools, reported yesterday.

On the junior high school level, the average attendance was 94.7 per cent and in senior high schools, 95 per cent.

Among the junior high schools Beall High School in Frostburg had the highest mark, 96.5 per cent. Eight of the 13 schools had their highest February figure in the five years subject to comparison. They were Flintstone, Cresaptown, Valley High School, Lonaconing; Luke, Piney Plains, Fort Hill and Allegany and the seventh grade of Beall Elementary School, Frostburg.

Set Five-Year Record

All but one of the senior high schools had their best attendance for the month in five years. Beall High School again was on top with 97.1 per cent. Others with their best February attendance in five years were Flintstone, Valley, Mt. Savage, Fort Hill, Allegany and Bruce High School, of Westernport. Oldtown just missed.

Elementary schools in the county were not so successful last month as children's diseases and virus infections kept many of the children out of school. The elementary school average attendance of 93.8 per cent was the third highest over the five years. Leaders were Ellerslie, among the small schools, with 97.3 per cent, and Eckhart among the larger institutions, with 96.7 per cent. Five other schools besides those two had their highest February attendance in five years. They are Cresaptown, Hammond Street in Westernport, LaVale, Central Elementary in Lonaconing and Beall Elementary, Frostburg.

Carver High

Carver School on all three levels recorded its best attendance over five years. The averages were 98.2 per cent, elementary; 97.6 per cent, junior high school, and 96.8 per cent, senior high school. Lincoln Elementary School in Frostburg, with 94.7 per cent, had its third best attendance for February in five years.

Higgins especially observed that Flintstone's record on both junior and senior high school levels was probably its best for the month in the history of the school. Averages were 95 for junior high school and 93.1 for senior high.

Miss Dorothy Shires, state supervisor of pupil personnel, who was here several days this week, informed Higgins that Allegany County consistently has one of the highest attendance averages in the entire state. School officials in general were especially pleased with the cooperation of parents in seeing that their children attended school regularly.

Portable Pumps Used To Supply Local Reservoir

A second line fire truck and an auxiliary pump furnished by a local bottling company were pressed into action last night after a temporary pumping station installation failed at the Fort Hill reservoir.

William J. Edwards, commissioner of water and electric light, reported late last night that the portable pump was being installed by Cola Cola Bottling Company workers, and that he believed the unit would provide adequate pumping service until a permanent installation is completed.

The Water Department recently moved its gasoline powered pump from the Fort Hill Reservoir to Lake Gordon, where it will be used to tap a 50-day supply of water not available by gravity, after a temporary electric pump was installed to pump water into the Fort Hill standpipe.

When the temporary pump failed yesterday, Water Department officials asked the Fire Department to provide help in filling the tank by using its second-line pumper stationed at South End Fire Station.

Commissioner Edwards said George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company, delivered a speech on the water system yesterday before the Kiwanis Club and in the course of the talk described the progress on the Fort Hill reservoir installation.

He said that following the meeting, Roy C. Lottig, manager of the Cola Cola plant, offered the use of an emergency portable pump kept at the plant.

Several hours later the offer was accepted, and early last night Lottig and plant mechanics were at the reservoir helping to make the emergency installation.
